Rotarians Hear Dr. Clark In Address

The community development program recently undertaken in Hazelwood was praised by Dr. C. N. Clark, district superintendent of the Methodist church, as he addressed the Rotary Club here last Friday.

Dr. Clark termed the movement as "significant to the economic welfare of Hazelwood county."

He discussed the importance of such a program, and building a better county and community, concluding, "It is what is on the inside, that makes us responsible for our actions."

H. S. Ward, president, presided at the meeting.

Plaid Wool Street Dress

Flattering plaid outfit.

By VERA WINSTON

EVERY IMPORTANT collection shows its own interpretation of the street dress, so that women who enjoy wearing a trim, comfortable dress while on their busy daytime rounds, should find a wide choice. A typically smart version is this design fashioned of light weight wool in shadow plaid, gray plaid in brown with brown bone buttons at the square yoke. The slit neckline takes a surprise curve that seems to terminate in the one curved slit pocket at the hip line which is a nice piece of figure flattery. The dress is slit at one side, and buttons down one side, as do so many of the smartest clothes for spring.

TIME SAVERS

These "married women" must think we are mind readers! If they can't remember how they are registered, I wonder how they expect us to remember thousands who may sign Mrs. J. H. Smith one day, Mary Smith the next day and still later Alice M. Smith.

Every person has a registration card, which give name, mailing address, telephone number, if one, and occupation.

The time saved on looking up names for overdue cards would go a long way on getting new books ready for the shelves.

Another time saver is for you to take all cards out of your books, leave books open and stacked, and sign your cards, while you are waiting for us to come to the desk. We'll be there soon as possible. Other people besides you like to be helped too.

When you renew books, please tell us the date the book is due, the author, and title. Books may be renewed by telephone, post card, in person, or by leaving names on piece of paper in the box at door. There is really no excuse for having to pay fines—we would much rather you develop the "renewing habit."

Tearing out a Date Slip doesn't keep us from finding out who has a certain book out. It does delay action and requires more time, but a fine will still be written up and waiting for you.
