Choir Members Robbed

Several women members of St. Saviour's church went to choir practice in Raleigh. They left their coats and pocketbooks upstairs near a fire escape. Police reported while they were singing a thief pilfered their bags of about $30. It was another in a series of robberies at Raleigh churches in recent weeks.

Don't We All...

J. A. Best, Wayne superintendent of welfare, says he's heard everything now. A woman called on his department and asked for money with which to pay her State income tax. "You're a bad fix. I am just not prepared to pay this tax," Best quoted the unemployed woman as saying. Best explained that welfare checks were for the indigent and not the "un-prepared."

Farley To Charlotte

Some of America's authorities on the field of salesmanship will be in Charlotte April 22 to lead a one-day Piedmont sales conference. Among these is former Postmaster General James A. Farley, who has accepted an invitation to speak at the conference—the first of its kind ever held in the Piedmont Carolinas.

Production Cut

American Enka Corporation, a rayon plant, plans to curtail production. The firm said in a statement. "On account of the decrease in demand for rayon yarns, and in keeping with our policy not to accumulate any inventory under present conditions of high cost, we are starting immediately a program of curtailment, which contemplates producing only the yarns necessary to meet the requirements of our customers."

Earlier in the week, American Benberg Corp. announced a curtailment of its rayon plant at Elizabethton, Tenn.

Catches Pistol—Is Shot

Deputy Sheriff J. E. Jones, 24, of Asheville, was accidentally shot in the right leg as he clutched at a falling automatic pistol.

The deputy was ending a night's tour of duty and was alighting from a patrol car when his 45 caliber automatic twisted and started to slip from its holster.

Jones stabbed at it and shoved hard into the holster. In some manner the far discharged the weapon and the heavy bullet coursed down the leg just under the pants.

It entered the leg just under the knee and emerged at the ankle.

Map Of ABC, Beer-Wine And All-Dry Counties In N. C.

This map shows the present county system of alcoholic beverage sales in North Carolina. Thirty counties are completely dry. 25 counties have legal ABC stores and beer-and-wine sales, and 44 permit the sale of beer and wine only.

The only other county, Cumberland, has ABC stores but voted out beer-and-wine sales last August. Only one Cumberland county town, Fayetteville, has voted to return beer and wine sales. Two of the beer-and-wine counties contain towns with legal ABC stores. Franklinton and Louisburg in Franklin County permit the sale of liquor and Asheville in Buncombe county, also has ABC stores. Columbus county voted to go all-dry last summer. But in January, the town of Whiteville in Columbus county elected to continue beer and wine sales. Two counties in the west, Mitchell and Yancey, outlawed beer and wine sales in 1937 statutes. Since February, 1948, there have been 27 counties which held elections on whether to permit beer-and-wine sales on a county-wide basis. The dries have won every election. (AP Photo Map.)

Plumpness Back Into Style, Says Paulette Goddard

HOLLYWOOD—"Plumpness is back in fashion," says Paulette Goddard. "All the popular girls have it."

She cited Rita Hayworth and Lana Turner as examples, "and Betty Grable is no skin and bones."

Paulette joyously eats five times a day. Five feet four and a half inches tall, she now weighs 123 pounds. That's 10 pounds heavier than she used to let herself be.

She was playing Lucezia Borgia when the director told her to eat all she wanted because nothing would show but her face. "I feel better and photograph better," Paulette reported.

She has morning bacon, eggs, and milk at home and coffee at the studio. At 11 a.m. she has cottage cheese and fruit. Her lunch, brought from home, includes turkey, ham or baloney, and cheese, hot soup, and a pint of milk. I saw her mid-afternoon snack on her dressing table; a mound of purple grapes and a two-bit chocolate bar.

At dinner she likes a roast with lots of vegetables.

Paulette's now playing "a tart with a heart" in "Anna Lucasta." Spokesmen like to say her dress is three sizes too small, so all her curves will show, but Paulette says it's only two sizes too small. She copied her wild hairdo from a shake-dancer in Mexico City, where, she points out, the girls are all pleasingly plump. Your guide will also disclose that "Paulette wears nothing under her dress except a thin chemise. 'Tain't none of my business, but I think she ought to wear a girdle."

Quickies Lum and Abner have been invited to appear before the American Dialect Society in Palo Alto, Calif. next September to prove their contention that Arkansas, not Oklahoma, is the cradle of American folk speech. The society's vice-president, F. H. Crisswell, arts and sciences dean of the University of Tulsa, telegraphed: "I seen in the local Bugle where you-uns claims the Mayflower landed on Mount Idy with Dan Chaucer on board and all American dialect trussed up in his wall-fet." Lum and Abner say they'll debate the issue only on their Hollywood home ground.

Laraine Day will assemble her clan for a square dance next Dec. 27 to celebrate her folks' golden wedding anniversary. Shh: the "California tan" that Janet Leigh plans to show off in New York is being put on with a sun lamp.

New Chemical Selected To Age White Flour

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Most large flour mills are installing new machinery to aid the aging process of white bread flour.

A new chemical—chlorine dioxide—is used to age the flour. It replaces agene, used the past 25 years. Agene, a gas, occasionally gave dogs and cats running fits, although it apparently never harmed humans.

To be on the safe side, however, the millers and the federal food and drug administration agreed on the use of chlorine dioxide. This chemical, physiologists report, does not tend to make the human nervous, as may be the case with agene.

HOME TOO VULNERABLE

MARIETTA, O. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Love Martin are thinking about moving regardless of the housing shortage. They like their home but it is on a sharp bend in a highway. Twice in the past month cars have missed the curve and crashed into the house, causing $1,200 damage.

Use Of Certified Seed Is Stressed

Only by purchasing certified seed can a farmer make certain that he is getting the best product available, says Dr. R. P. Moore, director in charge of the North Carolina Crop Improvement Association at State College.

Dr. Moore says seed are unique in that their breeding cannot be determined from appearance alone. To determine in advance the type of crop which a particular lot of seed can produce, it is necessary to know the history of the seed and the conditions under which they were grown.

In the production of hybrid corn, the plant breeder probably will know much about the performance of the proposed hybrid before it is actually produced. After it is produced, it is put through a series of tests to determine how its performance compares with that

His sister has an even better record. Leuseba has not missed a day nor been tardy in her eleven years of school.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—Life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisons from the body. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.
