

Committees Named For Community Development Center Pigeon Program

The organization of the Center Pigeon Community Development Program was completed Friday night at a meeting at the Spring Hill School, with the appointment of special committees.

The organizational work was launched at a meeting the week before when residents of the community named Gay Chambers, chairman; Turner Cathey, vice chairman; Vaughn Bramlett, secretary; Miss Mabel Clark, treasurer; and Ed McHaffey, reporter.

At last Friday night's session, the officers decided that further program meetings would be held every third Thursday of each month.

The next meeting of Center Pigeon citizens will be held April 21 for a discussion of home and farm beautification.

The officers named these special committees to help carry on the work in the program:

U. S. Charms World Traveler She Settles Down

(AP Newsfeatures)

WINTER PARK, Fla.—Baroness Colette Van Boecop went around the world 14 times, then decided to settle down here and teach French at Rollins College.

For 13 years she lived on a plantation with her husband in the Dutch East Indies. She knew Kemal Ataturk, the man who put Turkey on its feet after World War I. King Alexander of Yugoslavia was her friend. For years she traveled over the world, writing for the Revue des Deux Mondes (Two Worlds Review).

In 1940 when Holland was invaded, she was stranded in the United States. She took a position as a lecturer with Alliances Francaises and eventually came here.

Of the United States, she says "it has taken the place France once held in international circles, and there is no other country I would rather see have that place."

That is one of the reasons, she says, she decided to become an American citizen.

Evans, chairman; Mrs. T. E. Shook, Mrs. Loden West and Mrs. Vance Williamson.

Home Furnishings: Turner Cathey, general chairman; Mrs. Gay Chambers, chairman; Mrs. Jeter Martin, Mrs. Lee Price, Mrs. Robert Kelly and Miss Lillian Evans.

Health & Needy: Miss Gladys Henson, chairman; Mrs. Jack Sigmon, Mrs. Wilson Harkins, Mrs. Fred Hyatt and Mrs. Harley Wells.

"Operation Greaseball" Tested Oils, Tires, For Army Vehicles

ABERDEEN, Md. (U.P.)—An Army convoy of 14 vehicles has completed a 21,500-mile journey during which it tested experimental lubricants and tires under temperate, desert and arctic climatic conditions.

Four officers and 24 enlisted men carried out "Operation Greaseball" in 7 1/2 months.

Aberdeen proving ground officers said the purpose was to test six types of lubricants and three types of tires in an attempt to obtain one type of lubricant and tire that would be efficient in any part of the world. Heating equipment also was tested.

The convoy's first stop was Desert Center, Cal., where Gen. George S. Patton used to test his tanks for desert warfare.

At Desert Center, each truck went through a 3,000-mile experiment in intense desert heat. Five hundred miles were driven over trackless, uncharted desert terrain, using only compass and speedometers.

The convoy then went to Great Falls, Mont., and from there to Fairbanks, Alaska.

The vehicles traveled over the entire Alaskan peninsula as far as terrain permitted, seeking the roughest areas as designated by air force weather stations. Three months were spent in Alaska, each truck driven an average of 8,000 miles in temperatures as low as 65 degrees below zero.

These Swift Couriers Can Be Helpful

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—Shirley Michel, a 23-year-old stenographer, was exasperated after walking through street and icy rain to mail a bundle of letters.

So exasperated, in fact, that she dropped her billfold into the mail box instead of the letters.

The carrier who picked up the mail found this note attached to the box:

"Postman—I mailed my billfold by mistake. Please leave it at the fountain pen counter of S. G. Adams."

The carrier did.

Library Thief-Catcher Too Fancy A Gadget

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—Library officials at Temple University have replaced their ingenious little magazine thief detector with the old-fashioned, but much more effective, student guard at the Sullivan Library doors.

The discarded detector, which operated on the principle of the Geiger counter, was supposed to detect radio-active substance placed in the magazines, and set off an alarm when they were taken from the room.

The device was too sensitive, however. When set too low, it did not detect all the materials leaving the room and when set too high, its oversensitiveness to atmospheric conditions resulted in continuous false alarms.

College Girls Need Some

NORMAN, Okla. (U.P.)—The Oklahoma State University girls' basketball team is making a record. It has won 14 straight games, and is now 14-0. The team is led by a senior, but the coach says it is a team effort. The girls are making a name for themselves in the West. They are expected to win the national championship.
