Sunday School Lesson

Jesus Declares His Authority

ORDER IS OBEYED WITHOUT QUESTION

Scripture—Mark 11:1-11, 15-18; Luke 19:29-48

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE HAVE all witnessed or taken part in a welcome to our city of a famous person. It may have been the president of the United States, a distinguished foreign visitor, a war hero who has won our love and admiration for his part in the victory, or an adventurer home after performing a great feat—such as Charles A. Lindbergh after his solo flight across the Atlantic.

People come from every section of the city to applaud. We clap our hands, scatter ticker-tape or confetti on the car in which he is riding, wave flags to show our admiration.

Today's lesson tells of Jesus' great day, when He made His triumphal entry into Jerusalem to the Hosannas of the populace who hailed Him as the Messiah.

Jesus had spent the night at the home of His close friends, Mary, Martha and Lazarus, where He was always sure of a welcome and understanding. He arrived Friday evening from Jericho, spent Saturday, the Sabbath, there, and started for Jerusalem on Sunday.

"And when they draw him unto Jerusalem, unto Bethphage and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, He sendeth two of his disciples, and saith unto them, Go your way into the village that is over against you; and straightway as you enter into it, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon no man ever yet sat; loose him, and bring him."

Without question or hesitation, the two entered the village, found the colt so tied, and took him. To some who questioned their act they simply answered, as they had been told, "The Lord hath need of him."

When they returned with the colt, they laid their robes upon him, Jesus mounted, and they proceeded on their way with one vast throng of people following or surrounding Him, and another one, from the city, meeting them.

"Many spread their garments in the way; and others cut down branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way." And all the people cried, "Hosanna: Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord."

MEMORY VERSE

"Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord!"—Mark 11:9.

and if a person offered two half-shekels he had to pay double, and there were many ways in which the money-changers could enrich themselves—and the temple officials—at the expense of the people.

Filled with righteous anger, Jesus threw them all out and overthrew their tables, and later, teaching, He said:

"Is it not written, My house shall be called of all nations the house of prayer? but ye have made it a den of thieves."

In a few days, after Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem, He was to give His great Olivet Discourse, to institute the Lord's Supper, experience five trials, be put to death on the Cross, rise and appear five times before His friends. For—

"The chief priests and scribes heard of His action in throwing the money-changers from the temple and His after-remarks while He taught therein, and they 'sought how they might destroy Him: for they feared Him, for all the multitude was astonished at His teaching.'"

During the month of May the following churches will broadcast the Sunday morning church services in this order:

Seminary President Says Family, Sunday School Fundamentally Linked

Roland Q. Leavell, president of the New Orleans, La., Baptist Theological Seminary, made this statement recently in urging Sunday School attendance on the part of American families:

The family and the Sunday school have a heaven-born affinity. They are vital parts of the two most fundamental of all institutions, namely the home and the church. God established the home in the Garden of Eden, the first institution. God puts first things first, Christ founded only one institution, the church. Love ties the home together, the church together, and the two each to the other. The whole family should go to Sunday school.

The family and the Sunday school should be bound in holy union, a holy wedlock. If so, both will live happily ever after. The Sunday school helps take the Bible, the family altar and every Christian virtue into the family relations. The family takes loyalty, co-operation and numbers into the Sunday school. The whole family will be blessed by going to Sunday school.

A heavenly union of family and Sunday school will produce heavenly offspring. This union will bring unity of spirit, godliness of life and spiritual service into the family. Such a union will go far to cure the divorce evil and will virtually wipe out juvenile delinquency. The family and the Sunday school working together make soul-winning easy. It will build a Christian social order. Why not take your family to Sunday school?
