

Francis Cove People Start Drive For Phones

By Mrs. William Hollingsworth
Mountaineer Correspondent
Residents of Francis Cove will work to get a telephone line set up in their community.

This was decided at a Community Development Program meeting Wednesday night at the Church. They agreed that everyone would work with the community committee to get this service for Francis Cove.

Another project for community improvement also was set up the previous Saturday at a committee meeting at the home of Mrs. Leonard Sherfield, the chairman. Members of the Church and Grounds Committee drew plans to get water to the church, clean up the grounds, and repaint the church roof.

Meanwhile, Chairman Vinson McElroy, of the Dairying Committee, revealed that he planned to build a new dairy barn. His committee met at Mrs. Truman McCracken's home last week.

Other community committees also were active last week, discussing particular projects. The forest committee members met at Robert McCracken's home, and the vegetables committee held a session at the home of Walter Hollingsworth.

Beautification Discussed At Cove Creek Meet

By VERA REEVES
Mountaineer Correspondent

Home beautification took the spotlight in the discussion at the Cove Creek Community Development Program meeting Friday night in the Cove Creek Baptist church.

Assistant County Agent Wayne Farnkin illustrated his talk with slides of home beautification.

In other business at the meeting, it was announced that the program committee will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. D. C. Davis.

The members will draw up the program for the community meeting scheduled for 7:30 p. m. June 3.

DP Family To Settle In Clyde

The Stumbris family from Latvia has a home and a job for the father waiting in Clyde.

The three Stumbris—husband, wife, and adopted daughter—are expected to arrive in Clyde some time this summer. They are now at a Displaced Persons camp in Germany.

The Rev. D. D. Gross, pastor of the Clyde Baptist Church, announced this week that the church has completed plans for settling the family in the community.

To familiarize Clyde residents with the work of the Displaced

Enthusiasm High Hominy Program Showing Good Results

By PORTER A. BROYLES
Mountaineer Correspondent
For years, several farmers in the Hominy Creek section had planned to re-seed their pastures. But they just didn't get around to it.

Then this winter, the Community Development program was organized for this community.

Today, many of these farmers have re-seeded those pastures, the way they had been planning to do for years.

This is just one good result of the Community Development program in this section—the stimulation of widespread interest in the improvement of pastures and the cultivation of better crops of hay. This awakening has spread to many other phases of life in this community.

Interest in the meetings has become so great that they have become too large to be held in private homes. Even the rain has failed to keep the people away from these program gatherings.

The citizens now are talking about a centrally-located Community Center—and planning to build one.

For the last several years, the people of Hominy Creek have realized that, as a community, they should have some sort of organization for improvement of conditions.

We talked about it, thought about it—but did nothing.

We continued on our own separate ways, not paying too much attention to our neighbors.

Then last year, several members of our community went on the annual farm tour.

They travelled through Tennessee, and saw the results of community organization.

Fired with enthusiasm, they started talking about one of their own as soon as they returned from the tour.

But still there was no concrete action.

Then last March, County Agent Wayne Corpening and Assistant County Agent Wayne Franklin, called a meeting of the Hominy Creek farmers and outlined just such a plan.

The enthusiasm immediately spread throughout the community, and the work of organization started.

As a result, we now have a growing program, which we sincerely believe will make a much better place to live.

Many people have already re-

Box Supper Adds $125 To Iron Duff Project

By MRS. ROY MEDFORD
Mountaineer Correspondent

A box supper Friday night at the Crabtree-Iron Duff High School added $125 to the building fund for the proposed Iron Duff Community House.

The boxes, auctioned by Medford Leatherwood, brought $5 each from the bidders who attended the supper sponsored by the recreation committee of the Iron Duff Community Development Program.

O. L. Yates heads this committee as chairman. Serving with him were Jim Davis Ray Milner, Guyline Caldwell, Helen Bradshaw, J. R. Caldwell, Helen Ferguson, and Mrs. Raymond Caldwell.

Good Dessert
A good dessert combines mellow gingerbread with spicy applesauce. Split squares of gingerbread and fill with applesauce. Serve plain or top with a lemon sauce or with a generous dab of whipped cream. Beat a few nuts into the cream if you like.

Speakers Ask Fines Creek People To Vote For Road, School Bonds

By MRS. FURMAN NOLAND
Mountaineer Correspondent

Fines Creek residents Friday night were urged to support the proposed road and school bond issue in the June 4 elections.

Jack Messer, Haywood County schools superintendent, and Reeves Noland, former district highway commissioner, addressed their pleas to approximately 75 persons who met for a Fines Creek Development meeting at the Fines Creek school.

The school official told the audience the county needs new school buildings badly and "we cannot get them without money."

sioner said this election presents the best opportunity the county would have to get better roads and better schools.

County Agent Wayne Corpening made the introductions at the meeting, with Community Chairman Charles H. Duckett presiding.

During the session also, Prof. F. L. Safford, retiring Fines Creek school principal, showed a movie, "The Rainbow," illustrating farm development.

Before the chairman called adjournment, the next meeting was set for 8 p. m. June 17 at the school.

The Cornell
SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU

THE CORNELL has a plan which calls for a combination living-dining room. This room combination separates the service area of the house from the bedroom wing. A third bedroom to the left of the entrance vestibule can be used as a den, office, workroom or rented out, if desired. This room is equipped with a large closet, and is accessible from both the front and side entrances. The Cornell's modern kitchen is compactly arranged. There is ample space for a breakfast table under the high storage cabinets at the end of the room. The rear entrance hall leads to the bedroom, lavatory, kitchen and basement. It has a shallow cabinet for storage.

The Cornell's bedroom wing has two bedrooms, each provided with a wardrobe. The bathroom has a towel closet and there is a linen closet in the hall. The exterior of The Cornell is finished with siding on frame construction. It has low roof lines and wide overhanging eaves. The garage is optional. The Cornell's plan has an area of 1,106 square feet and contains a volume of 21,235 cubic feet, excluding the garage. For further information about THE CORNELL, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.
