National Farm Safety Week Is Set For June

North Carolina farmers are asked to join thousands of others throughout the nation this year in observance of National Farm Safety Week, July 24-30. The theme of the week, according to H. M. Ellis, in charge of extension agricultural engineering at State College, will be the elimination of unsafe practices.
Recent studies, Mr. Ellis says, reveal that unsafe practices continue to be the leading cause of accidents to farm people. A special survey conducted by the National Safety Council shows that about 72 per cent of the accidents involved one or more unsafe acts on the part of the victims. One of every 17 farm residents in the United States will suffer a disabling injury from accidents in 1949 unless they take extra precautions.
A survey of farm work accidents showed that failure to use proper equipment was the commonest unsafe act for farm accidents.
Unsafe practices in dealing with animals was second in importance.
Among other common unsafe acts were knowingly using defective or unguarded equipment, working on or adjusting dangerous moving equipment, handling too heavy loads, and doing work without sufficient instruction.
Special phases of farm safety will be stressed each day of National Farm Safety Week. Sunday will be observed as church day, with the accent on "Thou Shalt Not Kill." Monday will be safety day, featuring good housekeeping. Tuesday will be livestock safety day, with the accent on handling animals safely.
Wednesday will emphasize safety from falls. Thursday will be high-way safety day. Friday will be machinery safety day. Saturday will be review day, for review of all phases of accident prevention, especially the elimination of unsafe practices.

Farm Questions and Answers

(Compiled by Extension Service at State College)
Question: Please give prevention and treatment measures for coccidiosis.
Answer: A great deal of coccidiosis occurs in poultry flocks during late fall because there is usually much damp weather at that time of year. To prevent this disease, avoid crowding. Clean house often and keep litter dry. Place water and feed containers on wire platforms. Keep your stock on clean range not inhabited by other birds; move shelters and clean area once a month. An early diagnosis and prompt action are essential to a successful control program. Medication should be used only as an aid to sanitary measures and good management.
As for treatment of coccidiosis, Dr. B. F. Cox says there are two sulfa drugs available that have been shown to be effective. They are sulfaguanidine, which is added to the feed, and sulfamethazine, which may be added to the feed or its soluble form added to water. When either drug is used, says Dr. Cox, it should be administered exactly according to the recommendations of the manufacturer.
Coccidiosis is caused by a small animal parasite which is visible only with the aid of a microscope. There are several types of coccidia which affect chickens. One type attacks the blind intestine (ceca) and causes ceceal or bloody coccidiosis. Others attack the small intestine and cause what is commonly known as intestinal coccidiosis.

Princess in Capri

WEARING dark glasses, Princess Margaret of England strolls through the sun in Capri, Italy, while on her Mediterranean holiday. Her expressed desire for privacy seems to have made little impression. According to an English newspaper, she has been "besieged by hordes of shrieking sightseers, obstructed by a crowd of excitable detectives, and pursued by a pack of continental photographers." (International)

EIFFEL TOWER IN PASTRY

(UP)—E. E. Bevel, an Ada baker, in his spare time has built an almost geometrically perfect scale model of the Eiffel tower out of pastry. It is sealed at one end to the real tower's 179 and stands 66 inches tall.

NATURE GIVEN ASSISTANCE

(UP)—Snow used for the maple sugar snow festival here, had been stored in a freezer locker for several weeks. Sponsors had taken the precaution because of an unusually mild winter.

Haywood People Planning Carolina Institute At Woman's

AT A state-conducted sale in Paris of the personal effects of exiled Marshal Petain, who was convicted of collaboration with the Nazis, Lt. Col. Marquis de Belleville, the general's former aide, breaks up the auction by shouting indignat protests. He was joined by Gen. De Serigny, Petain's Chief of Staff at Verdun. Moments later, the crowd upheld the protest, and the auctioneer retired. (International)

BEAUTY COMES FIRST

Big Oil's fight to mislead the farmers of North Carolina was smashed to bits this week. Four of the State's leading farm organizations united in an appeal to vote "FOR" Better Schools and Roads on Saturday, June 4th.

In Appeal to Vote "FOR" Better Schools and Roads

Here is what they say:

"North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation is solidly behind Governor Kerr Scott's School and Road Bond issues.
"Delegates representing 78,000 farm families at our annual meeting went on record unanimously in favor of the road bond issue, and re-affirmed their strong support of better schools.
"Furthermore, we are in favor of the additional one cent per gallon gasoline tax to help pay for the road bonds."
A. C. EDWARDS, President
R. FLAKE SHAW, Executive Vice President
North Carolina Farm Bureau
"June 4th is a red letter day in the history of North Carolina. Let's do our part and give Governor Scott the tools he needs to speed his 'Go Forward Program.'
"Unless those of us who believe in a better standard of living for the farm people and those living in the rural section not only vote but use our influence to get our friends and neighbors to do likewise and vote in favor of the bond issue, those selfish interests who are fighting Better Schools and Roads will win the battle and North Carolina will settle back and start on a downward trend."
M. G. MANN, General Manager
Farmers Cooperative Exchange
"Poor school buildings endanger the health and fare of our children. A poor highway system business men, farmers, the State, and in fact our citizenship, a tremendous sum each year in high transportation costs, in loss of markets, and employment in unnecessary delay.
"The adoption of the bond program will mean definite improvement will be made to the school buildings of the State, that there will be greater opportunities for developing a rural industry program and a higher standard of living and more security all our people."
HARRY B. CALDWELL, Manager
North Carolina State Grange
★★★★
These two Bond Issues offer us in North Carolina a chance to develop our greatest resource—our boys and girls. Roads, combined with school buildings, will be developing probably the best citizenry in the South. Good Roads and Good Schools, available for the people of North Carolina, will mean more to the development of the people of this State than any that can be undertaken.
JAMES G. K. McCLURE, President
Farmers Federation
