Shells To Tell Story Of Rancher's Life

ALVA ORLA (UPI)—Sank Anderson, 66-year-old Alva rancher, is writing an autobiography in shell. Anderson collected shells and buttons for years before he decided to use them to tell the story of his life. Now, all since Christmas, he is making a series of buttons, each telling some experience in his life through shell patterns and figurine decorations. "I wanted to do something for my kids and this is what I could do best now," Anderson said.

Many Improvements Recorded In W. Pigeon

By MRS. CLYDE COLLINS, Mountaineer Correspondent.

Turner Cathie, the new assistant county agent, advised residents of West Pigeon Tuesday night at their Community Development Program meeting to work toward improving their attendance, but not let themselves be defeated by apparent lack of interest.

He addressed an audience at Bethel High School. In other business at the meeting, over which Chairman Jack Stogone presided, the Rev. Clyde Collins, recreation committee chairman, reported that the baseball project had been "rattled out" temporarily, but that he felt a new foundation had been laid for the program.

The residents adopted a motion to keep a scrapbook illustrating the accomplishments made in the community under the program. In the book photographs would be kept showing conditions before and after the improvements were made.

A motion also was adopted that a camera be used to take slide pictures of improvements. Hugh K. Terrell, Jr., and Bobby Fone were appointed as new members to the scrapbook committee.

In other action taken, the time of the regular meetings was changed to 8 p.m. After an interesting movie on modern farming methods, delicious refreshments were served.

The community improvements were described. In the field of recreation of which the Rev. Clyde Collins is committee chairman, a baseball team has been organized which plays Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The players hope to compete with teams from other sections of the county.

A movement is underway by the Church and School Ground Committee of which Mr. R. E. Sentelle is chairman to keep the baseball field and school grounds in shape, to cooperate with the Civic Club in mopping, smoothing, and seeding the cemetery behind the Bethel Methodist Church.

The Presbyterian Church is already being repaired and the Baptist Church is going ahead with plans for their new building. Some improvements have been made in the Methodist Church Parsonage.

Farm, Home Cleanup Planned In East Pigeon

By MRS. WILL KUYKENDALL, Mountaineer Correspondent.

East Pigeon residents have decided to have a general cleanup of their community and to have the names of home owners placed on mail boxes outside their residences.

These projects were adopted at the June 13 Community Development Program meeting at the home of Will Kuykendall, with Chairman Van Wells presiding.

The 21 people present approved the suggestion that in the grounds around individual farms and homes be cleaned up.

They also made final plans for the radio broadcast by East Pigeon leaders in the series being held by Station WHCC on the Community Development Program.

The speakers for this community were originally scheduled to appear on the program last Thursday but the road conditions caused by the flood forced postponement.

Members of the refreshment committee served cake and soft drink to the guests.

The next meeting was set for Monday night at the home of Raymond Duckett.

May Sutton Bundy Still Plays Tennis

SANTA MONICA, Cal. (UPI)—May Sutton Bundy, Wimbledon singles champion in 1905 and 1907, still bounds around like a school-girl, gives tennis lessons and supervises a large family.

It has been 50 years since she won the Southern California women's singles championships and went on in later years to capture tennis' highest honors as a member of a four-player team of "tennis-playing Suttons."

From 1900 to 1917, either May Sutton or one of her sisters, Ethel, Violet or Florence, took the Southern California singles championships.

Today May, daughter of a British sea captain who settled here in 1898, teaches regular tennis classes at a girls' school and occasionally gives private tutoring at local tennis clubs.

"You have to teach the game to play it and know it well," she said. "There's so much difference."

UNBEATEN SETMEN

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Cornell's Eastern Intercollegiate tennis championship team included two players who were unbeaten this spring. Leonard Steiner won all his singles matches while Steiner and Richard Savitt were unbeaten in doubles.

The national clay court championships are scheduled this year for July 11-17 at River Forest, Ill.
