another community within its section to meet in Field Day competition. Boys and girls, and men and women would take part in the contests.

3 That each community stage an amateur show or other form of elimination contest. The winners would compete in their specialties in a Haywood County Community Development Program Stunt Night program at Canton in connection with the Labor Day celebration.

4 The commission meet monthly, alternating between Waynesville and Canton; at these meetings, instruction would be given in the various indoor and outdoor games and other forms of entertainment.

Governing groups were named to handle each of these major events. Selected for the general committee in charge of the Field Day were: Miss Margaret Green, David Underwood, Stanley Livingston, the Rev. Clyde Collins of Bethel, Jack Justice, Champion YMCA physical director, and Marvin Leatherwood, who will serve as chairman.

C. C. Poindexter, athletic director of Canton High School and Canton city recreation director, was named chairman of the committee in charge of the proposed county-wide Stunt Night. Selected as members were O. L. Yates of Iron Duff, Paul Davis of Waynesville, Wayne Stamey, Mrs. Mark Galley, Hershell Higgs, and Mrs. Tom Erwin.

Mr. Poindexter also was picked to take charge of the program for the July 8 meeting and to give demonstrations for the benefit of the individual community recreation committees.

In regard to the specific recreational activities, they made the following suggestions:

That boys' and men's, and girls' and women's softball teams be organized according to age classifications—for those over 17 years of age (senior), and for those under that age (junior).

The winner of each division in each of the six sections would compete in a playoff for the county championship.

Other events suggested included: for women and girls, relay races between teams of eight runners each, horse shoe pitching, soft-ball throw, 30-yard dash for adults, 50 yard dash for juniors, ring pitching, 15-yd hop, threading five needles, and peeling five potatoes.

For men and boys, tug of war between 10-member teams, 50-yard dash, driving five 10-penny nails into a pine four-by-four, horse shoe pitching, softball throw, eight-man relay, marbles for junior boys and "pass-the-man" relay.

During the session, both Mr. Poindexter and Mr. Justice said

As you passed under the arch leading to the main section, a smiling young girl pressed a cup of malted milk on you.

From there on, exhibits lining the wall reminded you of the combined pleasure and nutritional value of milk and its brother derivatives sold for the consumer from infancy to great-grand-parenthood.

The guests ate cottage cheese salad, generously-buttered rolls made with milk, a main course of vegetables and chicken pie milk-fed chicken, of course, and milk. This was topped off with dessert—ice cream and cake made with milk.

When the program ended, the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star, who served the courses, and the representatives of the milk companies passed out ice cream cones and ice cream sandwiches with generous hands.

The Rev. Malcolm Williamson, pastor of the Waynesville Presbyterian church, opened the banquet with an invocation.

During the meal, the Waynesville quartet sang old favorites. When the visitors settled down after dessert, Frank M. Davis of Iron Duff, chairman of the County Dairy Commission, made the welcoming speech.

This, he said, was unnecessary—like a man getting up after dinner and welcoming other members of his family.

Referring to the dairy promotion being carried out as a major enterprise in the County Community Development Program, he said:

"When one man builds a new dairy, everyone benefits, from the dairymen himself to the merchant in the community who receives the business that results."

He added: "Now that we're really beginning to produce milk, we feel that the people ought to be educated to its value."

Mrs. Ruby Bysson, nurse with the District Health Office at Waynesville, pointed to Ohio's milk advertising program, and suggested similar promotion in Western North Carolina.

Discussing the value of milk, she declared, it's one thing we cannot do without.

"Babies," she declared, "won't grow without it."

Comparing milk with other foods, she said, it has several times the value of beans and meat from the standpoint of calories, vitamins, and generally the return for the money spent.

Joe Davis, vice-president of the First National Bank of Waynesville, told the audience:

"There's going to be a demand for milk that you're not looking for."

added, will be greatly increased if milk is produced to the greatest possible extent.

"We could be leaders in the dairy field," he said, "if we work to do it."

Charlie Woodard, owner of Charlie's drive-in restaurant, said he found his sandwich sales as well as his milk sales picked up after he started suggesting milk as a drink to the customers.

"I found that when a man had a soft drink, he ate only one sandwich. But when he took a bottle of milk, he usually drank another bottle, ate two sandwiches, and topped it off with pie and ice cream."

Since he started pushing milk sales, he continued, they are now up to $10 to $15 a day, compared with the $10 a day milk business he did previously.

May L. A. Ballew, of Johnson City, Tenn., manager of Pet Dairy Products Company, and Mr. Aron, were other principal speakers (see separate stories elsewhere in this edition).

County Agent Wayne Corpening introduced the guests, recognizing among them State Rep. and Mrs. Grover C. Davis, C. C. Medford of Canton and distributor for Southern Dairies, J. D. Elrod and Howard Suttles, Southern Dairy representatives, and other civic leaders and agricultural specialists.

Short Hours, Good Pay But String Attached

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—"HELP WANTED" Short hours, good pay, working clothes furnished. Opportunity to travel. Call M-3495. That ad appeared innocently enough in a Tampa Hobby Shop brochure but it started a chain of reaction which at first bewildered the Tampa Marine recruiting sergeant.

The ad, run as a favor to Master Sgt. Eugene Hunt by the owner of the hobby shop, was read by a Tampa newspaper columnist and he mentioned it in his daily column. As a result, the recruiting office was flooded with telephone calls.

That was the part that had Sgt. Hunt confused. Whenever he answered the phone with "Marine Corps recruiting, Sgt. Hunt..." there usually would be a gasp and the party would hang up.

Students Too Brilliant, So No Valedictorian

DOTHAN, Ala. (UP)—The Dothan Junior High School will not have a valedictorian at the school's graduation exercises this year.

Students too dumb? No, too smart.

The principal, Mrs. Minnie T. Heard, said that since five pupils turned up with straight "A" averages, she could not choose among them.

All five will make special speeches.
