

BONNY PRINCE CHARLES STEPS OUT

THE LITTLE PRINCE HAS A BIG SMILE FOR HIS PRINCESS MOTHER

TAKING ADVANTAGE of a sunny day, Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, play with little Prince Charles on the lawn of their summer home in Windlesham Moor, England. At top, Princess Elizabeth holds up the eight-months-old tot. At bottom, the proud father poses with his young son. (British Newsreel from International)

DiMaggio To Go Along With His Spikeless Shoe

By FRANK ECK
AP New Features Staff Editor
BROOKLYN, N. Y. Joe DiMaggio continues to amaze everyone. He was elated over his showing in the recent All-Star game in which he double and single drove off three runs to help the American League put on its attack on the National League.

Well, he said, "you can see how that you can see that I am a big player in the All-Star game for the first time without a spike shoe." DiMaggio, who missed the first American League game, hit .350 in his first game back. He made his first home run on July 14, but he did not hit a home run until July 15, yet to come.

The manager of the Yankees, Joe Judge, said that when DiMaggio arrived in New York, he did not have a spike shoe. He said, "I told them to get him a pair of spike shoes without the spikes." However, DiMaggio, who is a big player in the All-Star game, hit .350 in his first game back.

Fight and Kill, Indian Communists Told

NEW DELHI (U.P.)—Government police, reporting from red-infested Hyderabad State, said they intercepted the following instructions from the Hyderabad Communist central committee to its workers: "The people and the cadre should be prepared to fight and destroy the enemy unhesitatingly. In this, they should not be deterred by any idea of morality, right or wrong, in or righteousness. When ordered by the cadres, they should not be late to kill a man's wife."

Not only have his honors been rescinded, the Yankee attack but on one of them Ted Williams of the Sox was so anxious to make a crack in the July 14th twin bill at Yankee Stadium that Ted fractured a rib when he ran into the left field railing.

HOSE OPERAS ENTRANCE

BOSTON (U.P.)—When 9-year-old Harry Romano, who speaks no English, vanished from home a month after he came here from Greece with his family, his parents were frantic. The boy returned seven hours later, however, and explained he went to the movies and saw a picture of a cowboy riding a horse. He saw so much he sat through two complete performances of the picture as a personal triumph for double feature.
