Visitors Should Get Books From Library On Own

Local people are requested not to lend summer visitors to the library to get books out on their own, or under their names. Miss Margaret Johnston said today. The library welcomes visitors and they have the same privileges as local people after a small deposit, which is refunded in full.

It is confusing to the library staff often embarrassing to the borrower, for many times the local person who sends them isn't even considered. Also the responsibility for paying for the damages or loss of a book would be up to the local person and not the visitor.

Dr. Poteat Hits Modern 'Sons of Cain'

The Rev. Dr. E. McNeill Poteat, minister of Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, Raleigh, N. C., launched a series of platform addresses Sunday morning on the general subject of the origin of the Christian movement.

He will speak under the auspices of the Lake Junaluska Assembly at 8 p.m. today and 11:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Speaking Sunday morning on the topic, "The Sons of Cain," Dr. Poteat said, "The dilemma that faced Cain, in the famous story of the world's first pair of brothers was what to do with one who while very like oneself was also very different from him?"

This is the paradox of fraternity, everybody is like everybody else, everybody is different from everybody else.

"Cain solved his problem by killing his brother because he regarded him as a rival and therefore an enemy.

"As a result, he heard the world of nature he had outraged cut a him from the ground, the society he had outraged ostracized him, his own inner self doom him to perpetual fear, and God, whom he had affronted, banish him to vagabondage.

"Today we are plagued with the unresolved paradox of our sense of kinship and our sense of alienation from our human brothers.

"We can either regard our brothers as rivals, competitors, enemies—in economic, social practices and political systems, and destroy them, or we can see in the differences that separate us the variety that can enrich us and, finding kinship in a higher synthesis, unmake the mistake of Cain.

There was no real reason for Cain's angry act. Those who build ghettos, segregate races, destroy competitors are the modern sons of Cain.

Those who find in Christ the new principle of integration have learned that in Him there can be no Jew nor Greek, no slave nor free, no barbarian nor Scythian, no communist nor capitalist.

"They are the grandsons of Adam; not the sons of Cain."

Had Picture Made 2,500,000 Times

A familiar person to visitors going to Cherokee is Carl Standingdeer, 44 years old who has made a career of "chiefing" on the Reservation for a souvenir shop. "Chiefing" is the job of looking like an Indian chief to low-down tourists. Wearing a headdress of eagle feathers, (The Cherokees never use such gear in their native dress), Carl attracts plenty of attention to the shop, especially when he shows his skill as an archer.

Carl is a graduate of the old Cherokee Indian School, and figures that he posed for tourist cameras on the average of 200 times a day during the forty years of "chiefing." That means about 2,500,000 snapshots, which would make him the most photographed man in America. His tips on posing have totaled $50 a day.

During the Mexican border trouble he served not as a scout, but as a mercenary in the mounted band.

He has entertained large groups in Waynesville on several occasions, and his accuracy in archery, as well as the blow gun are all most amazing. He can hit the bull's eye at will.

Parkway In Pisgah Is Still Open

The 4 1/2-mile section of the Blue Ridge Parkway at Wagon Road Gap on No. 276 is open to the public and affords some of the best scenic views in this entire area.

The article appearing on this page Thursday said the Parkway at this point was not open. The editors knew better, but somehow the error got by everyone.

The section is open, and although not paved, it is a good road, with a number of lookout points of wide parking along the route.

Methodist Movement Raises $16,500,000

Dr. E. Harold Mohr, of Chicago, executive secretary of the Methodist-wide Advance for Christ and His Church movement, declared Thursday night that "Methodism stands at the Crossroads of the world."

Dr. Mohr spoke at a south-wide Laymen's Conference at Lake Junaluska Methodist Assembly.

He continued, "In this hour of the world's greatest material progress, mankind is dangerously near to its greatest moral failure.

"For the first time in human history man has become frightened at the products of his own inventions and at the prospects of his intelligence.

"What makes this crossroads of our human history so perilous are two factors in modern life, namely, that the prevailing mood is fatalism and the dominant philosophy of life is secularism."

Facing the question as to what Methodism is doing about the Advance, Dr. Mohr reported that at the end of the first year, with only seven months intensive effort, the three financial phases had outstripped all the guessers.

In World Service, he said, there was an increase of nearly 30 per cent, reaching the figure of $7,672,359.

Alongside of this, the Woman's Society of Christian Service received $5,580,373. During the Week of Dedication, he reported that nearly sixty per cent of the Methodist Churches in America experienced a renewed spiritual dedication and made a freewill offering of more than $900,000, not counting $400,000 raised by the Woman's Society of Christian Service in their Week of Prayer offering.

Added to all of this, he said, Advance Specials have reached more than $1,500,000 in new money.

In total figures, as reported by Dr. Mohr, the Methodist Church in its missionary offering for the Advance for Christ movement, still in the first year of its 1948-52 program of Advance has given more than $16,500,000.

He urged the more than 500 laymen from southern states to keep step with the movement now sweeping Methodism in a four-year, four-goal program.

Many People Visit Masonic Marker At Edge Of The Park

A dirt road from Waynesville leads up to the top of the Smokestack at Black Camp Gap, and here the visitor will find a stone marker, erected by the Masonic order. The cryptic rhyme and marker contain stone from almost every country in the world, from a mine 2500 ft. below sea level in Australia, and from every state in the union. In a vault nearby is a sealed copper box containing mementoes from 30 grand lodges in this country and Canada. It will be opened in 1972, 100th anniversary of the founding of the N. C. Grand Council.

In the marker are stories from Sierra Island, Arabia, where King Solomon is said to have conferred with the Queen of Sheba, a portion of a stone gateway from the castle of Robert the Bruce of Scotland, and part of a foundation stone from the Masonic Temple at Copenhagen.
