Memory Verse

"O give thanks unto Jehovah, call upon His name."
—Psalm 105:1.
Abraham, about 1900 B. C., down to the entrance into the promised land under Joshua, about 1400 B. C.
It recalls the sale of Joseph to the Egyptians, his imprisonment and release; his promotion to lord of the house of his master and "ruler over all his substance."
"Israel also came to Egypt, and Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham."
Psalm 106 is a psalm of penitential confession; the sins of Israel are recounted and then the mighty acts of Jehovah for which they should render obedience and thanksgiving.
The 113th to the 118th psalms included in our lesson—are called the Hallel. This whole book means "praise." The whole book means "praise." This series of psalms, however, is meant to be sung on festival occasions—public praise, "sung in circumstances of joyous solemnity in the temple courts, at the three great feasts—Passover, Pentecost and Tabernacles—when all the men of Israel had to appear before the Lord." This is quoted from David Baron's bibliography.

The psalm allotted to our lesson today are songs to be sung by the Israelites at times of national festivity. They are hymns of thanksgiving and joy for deliverance from some great calamity, for victory in battle, liberation from bondage, etc. The Jews also gave thanksgiving for the Lord's help all through their history as reviewed in psalms 105-107.
Psalm 105 begins, "O give thanks unto Jehovah, call upon His name, make known His deeds among the people."
"Sing unto Him, sing psalms unto Him, talk ye of all His wonderful works, Glory ye in His holy name, let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord."
Then the psalm recounts the "wonderful works that He hath done" from the beginning of Israel as a nation—from the call of
