

Morning Star Residents Entertain Thickety Neighbors In Field Day

Thickety residents last Monday saw what the Morning Star people are accomplishing in their Community Development Program.

Then they liked them, 187 to 167 in the recreational event that afternoon.

The result of the singing competition failed to prove which community could make sweeter music. The quartets and choral groups sang to a tie.

During the morning, the Morning Star people, headed by their chairman, Luther Smathers, showed their guests the improvements they are making under their Community Development Program.

After leaving the Morning Star School, the Thickety people inspected Larry Rhodamer's Grade A slabs, then saw the impressive results R. C. Gossett had made in remodeling a house that was more than 40 years old.

At Lester Smathers they inspected a fine example of grazing wood, and then studied the improvements that Turner Smathers had made on his pasture by using lime and phosphate.

After seeing the improvements in the Morning Star Methodist Church, they went to Fred Setzer's corn to examine his fine crops of tobacco, alfalfa and corn, and the Legion and rescue.

Wayne Bramlett showed the visitors the results he had obtained in remodeling, and then the party went to P. N. Higgins, where they expressed admiration for the fine care and the pasture there.

After examining Bobby Smathers' excellent flock of broilers, the guests from Thickety, with the chairman, K. O. Caswell, returned to the school for lunch and the recreation events that followed.

RAY MILLAND

Ray Milland knows both ends of a camera, in front and also from behind. When in front of a camera, he knows how to act, and is one of the top-flight actors in the business today. But even since the day he snapped a picture of his 7-year-old son landing a big fish, he has been a camera fan. His favorite picture is the apple blossom scene shown here. They look good enough to be Haywood blossoms. An AP Photo.

Scottish Pastor Discusses Gospel In Lake Address

Dr. George McPherson Docherty, Presbyterian minister from Scotland, told a Lake Junaluska audience last night that the Christian gospel faces two unique situations. First, he said, the preacher today must preach to a secular world, whereas the ministers of yesterday preached to a pagan world; and second, this secular person of today is a decent fellow and it is difficult to tell by his moral conduct whether he's a Christian or not. A pagan worships but his god is a false god.

Until this generation, the task of the church was to bring a pagan world to Christ but today we need to convince every man that religion is something he needs to add.

Balinese Women

Balinese women have many rights when they are married. They manage households and family finances, own wardrobes, jewelry, and utensils. Some have their own incomes from work outside the home. Men have title to houses, fields, implements and cattle, but prize victorious fighting roosters next to their children.
