Material Interest

White pique afternoon dress.

By VERA WINSTON

FABRIC COMBINATIONS add interest, originality and charm to this season's fashions. For example, here we have an afternoon dress of white pique that would be just a pretty dress for a summer afternoon, were it not for the touch of black velvet that makes it an outstanding selection. The ribbon, which is run-through the scooped out neckline and hemline, terminates in bows for an extra accent.

The Fred Martins Entertain At Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin entertained with a reception at their home on Love Lane Tuesday evening, in honor of their son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. Lowell Burke Genebach, whose marriage took place at West Point Chapel in May, and Mrs. L. B. Genebach, Sr., of Battle Creek, Michigan, mother of Lt. Genebach.

Arrangements of mixed flowers were used in decoration of the entrance hall and living rooms while in the dining room the bridal motif prevailed.

The honor guests received with Mr. and Mrs. Martin in the living room.

During the first hour Mrs. James M. Long greeted the guests and Mrs. J. Harden Howell made the introductions to the receiving line. Mrs. Bonner Ray received at the entrance to the dining room and Mrs. Harry Lee Limer said goodbyes.

The second hour Mrs. N. M. Medford received at the front door and Mrs. Robert Breece made the introductions. Mrs. Fred Calhoun was at the entrance to the dining room and goodbyes were spoken by Mr. Charles Burgin.

Miss Ruth McCoy of Franklin and Miss Bebe Medford presided in the dining room. The dining table covered with a lace cloth, held the punch bowl flanked with rows of lighted white tapers in low silver holders. The tapers were tied with white satin ribbon bows and interspersed with white gladioli.

Serving the first hour were Mrs. Calvin McDaniel, Mrs. Bruce Jaynes, Miss Kathleen Calhoun, Miss Louella Hall, and Miss Barbara Ann Boyd.

During the second hour Mrs. William Dover, Miss Ruth McCoy, Miss Ann Osborne, Mrs. William Medford and Miss Theresa Alley served.

Mrs. Boyce Wyatt was in charge of the guest book and others assisting in receiving were Mrs. Hilliard Matney, Mrs. Bronson Matney and Mrs. Franklin Fricks of Sylva.

More than four hundred guests were invited to call during the hours from eight to ten o'clock.

Mrs. Marshall Is Hostess Of Dinner Party

Mrs. Harry C. Marshall was hostess of a dinner at her home in East Waynesville Tuesday evening honoring Miss Dorothy Richeson and James King Stringfield, whose marriage will take place August 27.

The dining table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white cosmos, white phlox and clematis flanked by white tapers in silver holders. All appointments were in the bridal motif.

The guest list included Miss Richeson, Mr. Stringfield, Mrs. L. M. Richeson, Mrs. W. B. Evans, Miss Ethel Evans, Mrs. S. L. Stringfield, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Stringfield, Miss Martha Stringfield, Miss Margaret Hahn, and Bill Richeson.
