Successor Named To Alexander's Vacated State Job

MORE ABOUT Alexander

The Associated Press reported that Governor Scott appointed Dr. Locke Robinson of Mars Hill Monday night to Tom Alexander's vacated post on the State Board of Conservation and Development.

Mr. Alexander, owner of the Cataloochee Ranch, said earlier that day he had filed his resignation with the governor the previous week-end.

He had been named by Scott to the board only a few weeks previously.

The Associated Press story from Raleigh gave the dispute between the governor and the board over the state advertising program as the reason for the Haywood man's resignation.

The wire service quoted Mr. Alexander as saying he resigned because he thought an "effort is going to be made to award" the state contract on a "political basis."

Dr. Robinson, 46-year-old native of Madison County, is serving in his first public office in filling the state board position. He is a member of the American Medical Association, the American Heart Association, and the Mars Hill Civitan Club.

The physician has been practicing in Mars Hill for about 20 years.

letter received from him by Director George Ross of the Department of Conservation and Development indicates he is ready to forget the battle and go ahead with the program.

REDWINE.— Alexander's resignation was very commonly talked about in the state capital, but Governor Scott yesterday stated he would not accept it.

Scott yesterday said in a talk with Redwine that he would not accept the resignation of Alexander, "except that I have told him that if he gets the contract it will be satisfactory with me."

Redwine does not get the contract, Scott said it will be for him to satisfy the Board of Purchase and Contract and the State Board of Award that he is the best man to handle it.

The reason for moving matters, the contract from the Department of Conservation and Development to the Division of Purchase and Contract, Scott pointed out, is to free it from possible "political applications" and not to "open up" the fact that he, Scott, as governor of the budget is interested. Scott added, it doesn't mean, he emphasized, that he will use his own
