

Tenor To Give Popular Concert At Junaluska

Tonight is an important date on the Lake Junaluska Assembly calendar.

Thomas Johnson tenor will give a popular concert in the Assembly auditorium.

Selections from classical and modern composers will comprise the program.

William Zimmerman of New York will be his accompanist.

A native of Asheville, Johnson for the past two years has been a resident of New York City where he is currently engaged as tenor soloist at the Marble Collegiate Reformed Church in Manhattan.

and Temple Beth Elohim. He was twice winner of the State Music Contest for North Carolina and was district winner of the District National Contest held in Palm Beach, Fla., in 1940. In 1941 he was declared Southern District winner in a contest sponsored by the Cincinnati Opera Company. After his release from active duty with the United States Army in 1946, Mr. Johnson resumed his studies in New York and during the current season has been heard in 28 concert and oratorio performances.

For the past two seasons he has been soloist with the Transylvania Symphony Orchestra of Brevard under the direction of James Christian Pfahler.

Divine Discontent Is Only Road To Happiness

The only road to happiness, a Greenville, S. C., minister said Sunday night, is divine discontent. The Rev. J. O. Smith, minister of Greenville's Buncombe Street Methodist Church, explained to a Lake Junaluska Assembly audience that this discontent gives people the ability to improve unhappy situations.

Mr. Smith pointed to the example of Paul whose career was so often marked by adverse circumstances but who made of such difficult situations an opportunity to improve the welfare of others. "If you are in a difficult spot, turn your troubles over to God," the minister advised.

"In their search for happiness," the speaker said, "people travel many roads. There is the 'Do-Nothing' road. Some people think that whenever a time comes in life when they do not have to take orders or accept responsibility they will find happiness; and there are those who fancy the 'Do-Everything' road, and they try to lose themselves in all sorts of pleasures, but like the 'Do-Nothing' path this also is a dead-end street and leads only to confusion and frustration.

"But there is one sure road and it lies along the way of bondage to a principle or a cause. It is one of the paradoxes of life that happiness frequently results out of unhappy situations. Maybe it is the road of happiness and not the road to happiness we should seek, for when we lose ourselves in building character or benefiting others we are on the road to a happy life. I believe church people ought to have faith that Christian principles bring happiness. Living discontentedly in unhappy situations and in the faith that things can be made better is the road to take."

County - Wide Amateur Night To Be Held Tuesday At Canton High

Haywood County's organized communities will send their best performers to Canton to perform Tuesday night in the Haywood County Stunt Night.

The program, first of a series to be held each year, will be a feature of Canton's 43rd annual Labor Day Celebration and Fall Festival.

It will open at 8 p. m. at the Canton High School stadium.

The Stunt Night is sponsored by the county Community Development Program, and the county recreation commission headed by the Rev. C. L. Allen of Allens Creek, the chairman.

County Agent Wayne Corpening last Monday sent letters containing entry blanks to the chairmen of each of the 24 community development organizations.

The deadline for the entries is Monday.

The county agent and Assistant County Agent Turner Cathey, supervisor of the Community Development Program, urged each chairman to have at least one representative of his community entered in the event.

Several communities have already held Amateur Nights to decide their representatives in the county-wide program. These local events were held in connection with the recreation program launched this summer in connection with the Community Development project.

On Wednesday night, the county's finest square dance teams and string bands will compete, with Fred Carpenter of Canton serving as chairman.

The winners in the Amateur Night contests will get prizes.

The annual Labor Day Celebration and Fall Festival will open Saturday for a run through Labor Day, Sept. 5.

C. C. Poindexter of Canton is serving as general chairman of the entire program.

Thickety, Hominy Residents Get Together In Community Field Day

Community Chairman K. O. Carswell and his Thickety neighbors entertained the residents of Hominy in a Field Day and farm and home tour Tuesday. Hominy Chairman Herschel Hipps headed the visitors.

Mr. Carswell's farm was the first stop on the tour to see the improvements made in Thickety under the Community Development Program.

After leaving the Rockwood Church, the visitors saw Mr. Carswell's new Grade A dairy barn and his temporary silo, both models of their types, among the many interesting features on the farm.

They then saw the improvements at the Oak Grove Church before continuing on to Roy Robinson's for an inspection of the pastures, beef cattle and alfalfa that were particularly noteworthy features.

After looking over James Smith's tobacco crop and other examples of good farming practice, they saw James Harris' purebred Short Horns.

Sam Robinson's home was the next objective before the tour continued to the farm of Ernest Jones, who pointed out excellent examples of remodeling.

At Henry and A. J. Trantham's, they saw the improvements that had been made in the pasture, among other points of interest, then went to Jarrett Williamson's to view his home and pasture.
