Elmer, The Swan, With New Mate

Elmer, the swan, left, takes a gander at his new mate in Sharon Memorial park at Charlotte, and herein hangs a story contrary to the usual way of swan. Elmer's first mate was killed by a dog the other day. Expect to see a swan swimmer takes a second mate in a life time. But Elmer, different. He even chiseled in on another male swan to win the affection of his new mate. (AP Wirephoto)

Haywood Men To Study Hatching Egg Business

Haywood County farmers will make a poultry tour of Clay County next Thursday to see what can be done about raising laying and producing eggs for hatching.

The trip is being sponsored by the Community Development Program's Poultry Commission, headed by Commission Chairman Van Wells of Pigeon.

The group will leave by private car at 8 a.m. at the Haywood County Court House. Mr. Wells advised that those who plan to make the trip must provide their own transportation.

The farmers will return to Waynesville at 6 p.m. that day.

County Agent Wayne Corpenning said there is a market for all the hatching eggs that can be produced in this county.

"One dealer alone said he would take 500 cases (15,000 dozen) such eggs a week," the county agent added.

He pointed out that in the last 12 months, the price paid for hatching eggs averaged 85 cents

His young wife, Mollie, who is 15, had been admitted last Sunday. From that time on, Ralph said, he didn't sleep a wink.

Then, at 11:45 p.m., a nurse told him "It's a girl."

It certainly was worth waiting for, he and Mollie admitted later.

Visitors to Colorado Like to Come Back

DENVER (UP)—Better than one out of three out-of-state visitors to Colorado make return trips to the Mile High State.

The Colorado Resources Development Council, Inc., questioned a cross-section of tourists in Colorado during 1948. Comprising 87.8 per cent of the total number queried were those who visited the state before and came back for another look.

Those who came on the recommendation of others made up 22.3 per cent. Tourists who were spurred to travel in Colorado by magazine and newspaper advertisements made up 18.2 per cent; 14.9 per cent came because they have relatives or friends living here, and 6.2 per cent for reasons of health.

Early Spanish settlers brought with them many of the domesticated animals common throughout the United States today. Among others, they transplanted horses, cattle, sheep, goats, pigs, burros, and cats into the southwest.

Mountaineer. He explained the proposed expansion of the Haywood county Hospital, the needs for more facilities and the small costs of the expansion to Haywood taxpayers.

Much interest was shown in the approaching election, and a show of hands indicated that almost 100 per cent of the group present planned to vote for the expansion program. After the talk by Mr. Russ, the group was told by Mr. Wells: "I favor the expansion program. I am a booster of that hospital, and if it had not been for that hospital, I would have died 20 years ago—I am going to do all I can for the bond election, because we really need a larger hospital."

After the meeting, the choir spent some time in practicing for the field day contests.

Expressing confidence that the proposed expansion program will be carried, Mr. Russ said that he believes the citizens of Haywood will not put the dollar mark above protection of the lives of themselves, their families, and friends.

The community development group has been working on the cemetery this summer as one of its chief projects. Lunch will be served to the workers on that day and the regular meeting will be held in the afternoon at the cemetery grounds.

Edward Justice and Kyle Lindsay were authorized, by vote of the group, to make name signs for the caskets of the organization's members. Mr. Osborne is to be responsible for posts for the boxes.
