

Alaska Seal

Elegant and youthful.

By VERA WINSTON

HANDSOME, glossy, durable Alaska sealskin is getting younger and more elegant all the time to keep step with its ever-increasing popularity. Definitely out of grandma's dolman class, here is a coat styled along trim, youthful lines. A narrow rolled collar and sloping shoulder and full sleeves caught by buttoned-down bands at the wrists are some of the new style accents which also include a moderately flared hem with rounded corners and slit pockets.

Francis Cove Home Club Holds Meeting

The Francis Cove Home Demonstration Club held its September meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Home Demonstration Kitchen with Miss Marion Boggs presiding. The opening devotional program was led by Mrs. C. H. Chamberlain and the demonstration on "Ways to Prepare Apples," was given by Miss Elise DeLozier, assistant home agent.

Mrs. Henry Francis reported on Foods and Nutrition. Mrs. Joe Boone reported on Home Management, and Mrs. Troy Wyche reported on Clothing.

Plans were made for the next meeting of the group to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Francis when a demonstration on Silk Screening will be given.

Feeder Calf Sale To Be Held At Asheville Soon

The Haywood County Community Development Program's Beef Cattle Commission headed by Chairman M. O. Galloway, is assisting in sponsoring a Western North Carolina Feeder Calf Sale scheduled for Sept. 28 at the Asheville livestock yards.

Mr. Galloway announced today that this event is for Western North Carolina cattlemen.

He said the sale will be for this year's calves sired by good beef bulls.

Owners of prospective entrants were advised to deliver their calves to the Asheville yards by 11 a.m. September 28.

There the animals will be graded and sold in lots, starting at 1 p.m. County Agent Wayne Corpening said this is a good chance for local cattle men with good calves to get premium prices for their animals.

"It is hoped that many of the beef breeders will hold their calves for sale at this event, for if they will get premium prices for their animals."

Cop Visits Beauty Shop, Entering Head First

TROY, Ala. (UPI)—Patrons of a beauty salon here were startled at the unorthodox way City Patrolman Jack Swindall, a policeman, entered the shop. He came in head first.

Swindall explained that he wasn't a customer but a victim of circumstance.

He was cruising on his motorcycle when he lost control and was hurled through the beauty parlor door.

Swindall's face was not noticeably improved after his tip.
