A good kitchen plan is designed to make the operation of the three main work centers of the kitchen as simple and easy on the housewife as possible. Between these three centers of kitchen operation there should be durable, ample work surfaces, plus storage space.

aged and canned foods, staples and aged and canned foods, staples and condiments and the sum is an almost staggering number of articles.

When you're selecting cabinets it is worth your while to inspect them Liven Up closely. Look at the construction to see if at feels flimsy; try the doors and drawers to see if they open and close easily and stay in the posttion in which you place them. Find out how many cabinet accessories are available. Scrutinize the finish for a fine gloss without any flaws check with the dealer to see if the cabinet is bonderized, for this process assures a longer life in the wear of the finish).

Also keep in mind that in the future you may be needing more. cabinets and will want them to fit in with those you're now purchasing. So, inquire if the manufacturer has a complete line of cabinets. Then, when that day arrives, you will have no trouble in finding exartly the sizes and style to match the rest of the kitchen.

One of the best ways to set up your storage space is to divide the kitchen into three parts, the preparation center, the clean-up center and the cooking center. Then plan your cabinet placement accordingly.

> For instance in baking a cake most of the work is done at the preparation center. D is slarted and fifthed in the same spot. Therefore, you will want your flour and mar but, flavoring and prees, mixer, measuring cuts and spoons, cake pair, and cake plate all in the ame area

Sliding Shelves A cake and bread bin fitted into a drawer should be in this center. and there should probably be an other cuttery drawer

The cabinets will be more convenient to use if they are equipped with sliding shelves. Thus a housewife can draw the shelf forward to reach a required article stored in the back of the calanct.

Another useful cabinet accessory is a condiment rack. Expanding condiment shelves can be adjusted to hold as many condiments as the housewife has, making them note accessible.

You will also want a cabinet for your small electrical appliances, near the spot of use. The toaster, coffee maker, grill and waffle from can be kept next to the breakfast nook where they will be available first thing in the morning. There are probably many there items that you also want in your kitchen that will need storage space. Why not plan for a good utility closet, a place for the vacuum cleaner, brooms, mops, brushes etc?

Waxes, polishes and dusters can be hung on metal racks attached to the inner side of the door, and a few hooks above them might be included to hold the children's play coats. A small bin will keep their rubbers, and galoshes from getting Phone 1-J lost
