L. Crabtree Picks Miss Noland For Fete

By Mrs. Millard Ferguson Mountaineer Correspondent

Miss Sue Carolyn Noland was selected this week as Lower Crabtree Community's candidate for 1948 Tobacco Festival queen.

Miss Noland was elected by residents of the section at a Community Development Program meeting Wednesday night at the Crabtree-Iron Duff School.

The audience also voted to enter a community float in the festival. The students organized basketball teams for the fall and winter recreation program, naming Mr. Schuber as men's and boys' team manager and Miss Hilda Fay Massie as manager for the women's and girls' team.

They also voted to give a one-act play soon.

The date will be fixed and the float selected at a meeting called for the night of October 27 at the parsonage.

On the entertainment side, they started a spelling bee which ended in a tie between three opposing teams.

Mrs. C. O. Nowell was in charge of the program and led the devotionals at the start of the meeting.

Mrs. Rev. C. O. Nowell closed the session with a prayer.

Mrs. Ernest Withers has returned to her home after spending three weeks with relatives in Atlanta.

Mrs. Jack Brown of Salem, Mass., is here for a visit with her parents, Major and Mrs. J. H. Way, Jr. Mrs. Brown, who was Miss Hilda Way before her marriage, arrived last Sunday for a two-week stay.

Byrnes Might Get Back In Politics

Jimmy F. Byrnes of South Carolina is seriously considering throwing his hat into the political ring again and running for governor of the Palmetto State next summer.

Mr. Byrnes has been making it easy in his Spartanburg home, since he retired as Secretary of State. He has served as Senator from his state, and then went to the Supreme Court bench, until President Roosevelt asked him to serve as Secretary of State during the closing years of the war.

In some period the year before North Carolina had 200 cases up to that date this year, with Mecklenburg and Guilford counties the hardest hit.

Considering the future, he added, the National Foundation is worried more about the "carryover" cases who will be under treatment from previous years than it is over the anticipated new cases that will develop.

Faced with these prospects, he added, the emergency drive of last month netted only $4,000,000 throughout the nation—$10,500,000 short of the quota.

Mr. Hazzard explained that figures for Haywood County's contributions in this emergency drive are not available since it was conducted by mail. The donations were sent directly to the postmasters of the individual towns, and they, in turn, sent them to the Charlotte postmaster.

The nominations were submitted by a committee and the elections held after the treasurers' reports were read.

Waynesville and Canton civic clubs and women's organizations were represented at the meeting.

Among those who attended were: Felix Stovall, March of Dimes chairman for the Waynesville Rotary Club; Richard Bradley, president of the Canton Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. Noah Swafford, president of the Canton Women's Club; Mrs. James Wells of Canton; Mrs. Richard Scholl of the Canton Woman's Club; Mrs. Paul Hatt, representing the Mary Custie Lee (Canton) Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Frady and Mrs. H. H. Bruden of the Waynesville chapter, Beta Sigma Phi; Edwin Haynes, 1949 March of Dimes chairman for the Canton area; Mrs. A. B. Robinson of Canton, who served as chairman of the nominating committee; and the Rev. L. G. Elliott, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Waynesville, who served in the 1949 March of Dimes drive in this area.

"I further suggest that each family under consideration for free clothing be screened carefully so as not to waste effort where the family is able to take care of its needs.

"The Haywood County Welfare Department is always available for screening families under consideration for aid. We have found that Miss Lelia Hayes, who works in this end of the county, is prompt and efficient in doing this work."

Senator Byrd Warns Too Much Being Spent By U.S., Sees 7 Million Deficit

WASHINGTON — Congress reached the last dollar mark of a heavy-spending session Wednesday amid some last-gasp cries for economy. But its appropriations added up to a possible $5,000,000,000 deficit.

Senator Harry Byrd (D-Va.), captain of the Senate's anti-spending squad, put the red-ink figure even higher — $7,000,000,000 by next June 30, end of this fiscal year. If, he added, no big new appropriations are passed next session.

He called for HARRY F. BYRD new exertions to put Europe on its feet quickly so American taxpayers can stop "carrying the rest of the world on our backs."

But in Philadelphia, economic cooperation administration Paul G. Hoffman predicted this country will have to go on spending $2,000,000,000 a year for foreign aid after the Marshall Plan ends in mid-1952.

That doesn't mean the plan is failing, Hoffman said. ECA can be closed down on schedule, but "special situations throughout the world" will require American support, he said.

The direct appropriations, a tally showed, added up to $37,682,102,989. Indefinite funds such as interest on the national debt, are estimated to boost the total for this fiscal year alone — to something more than $45,000,000,000.

The Congressional estimate of federal income is $40,000,000,000. Net anticipated result: a deficit of around $5,000,000,000.

This does not include additional billions in federal contracting authority. Ferguson added these into his total, but part of them will not show up in actual treasury payments until fiscal 1951 or later.

Congress voted $1,809,939,000 less in direct appropriations than the $39,492,042,930 which the President asked.

On the other hand, Congress ignored Mr. Truman's request for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase to balance the budget. He withdrew that request at midyear, after the business slump developed.

The previous Congress — the second session of the Republican-controlled 80th — voted direct appropriations of $32,699,846,730 plus an estimated $2,300,000,000 in contract authority and indefinite funds.

Senator Byrd gloomily predicted

FOR DELICIOUS WAFFLES

Before using a new waffle maker, season it by preheating the appliance for 8 to 10 minutes with the cover closed before brushing both grids with a small amount of oil. Continue heating for two or three more minutes with the grids closed. Excess grease can be removed with absorbent paper or by haking one or two slices of bread between the grids, electricians advise.
