Another Cash Crop

Another "cash crop" looms in the future Phone 700 for Haywood farmers. This time in the form of special hatchery eggs. THE WAYNESVILLE PRINTING CO.

For the past year, Haywood has been increasingly interested in poultry, has been jointed out in this column time and time abain.

Now here comes a proposition to produce hatchery eggs at a premium market price. Of course the production of hatchery eggs calls for a little more care, special attention to the flocks, and more careful handling, but the overall cost is not much more, if any, above that of the average table eggs.

We are assured of one thing, and that is, when Haywood farmers go into the project. they will go all the way, and the eggs coming from here will be tops, and we bar none.

Now A Machine That Lays Bricks

Someone has said, that when man gets to where he has nothing else to do, he sits down and invents a machine which will do work taster, better, easier and cheaper than man u waman.

So when we read of two veterans down in Alabama building a machine that can lay brick four times faster than any brick mason. we did not flick an evebrow.

The owners have found they can save 36 cents per square foot in fall construction costs, which they feel will bring brick building definitely within the low-price field.

Someone has calculated that the machine witherner of relies. will effect a saving of some $100,000,000 a year, and give more masons work, because it will mean more people wanting brick build- society mus

Missing Mighty Good Business

According to the traffic over the past week-end and the heavy business at local eating places, it appears that many people were out to see the beauties of the mountains in their new fall coats of colorful foliage.

Until we fully realize just what we have, here in the fall, we are going to continue to let many, many a potential tourist doilar slip through our fingers.

The mild weather of fall, and the lack of the heavy summer business, makes it an ideal time to promote business. It would be just that much extra, if we would only decide it was needed and wanted. We might us wellhave to go after it in a big way.

stitution for maintaining moral stability. Many, however, elve little thought to this subject. To them the series of adverticements should be especially helpful and thought-provoking.

Good Use Of Burnt Cork

Tonight climaxes the fourth performance for the Lions Club minstrel. This event was staged by all local talent, utilizinfi cood clean fun for the benefit of the 4-H Club Camp here.

Those taking part enjoyed the show, as much as the audience.

There is something about putting on burnt cork that brings out the acting qualities of a man, and especially if he has some good backing, and an appreciative audience.

The cause was a worthy one, and the entertainment above the average.

THROWAWAYS - Postmasters broughout the State are bitterly complaining about two of North Carolina's official publications: Health Bulletin and Agricultural Review, Indications are that thousands of comies of these free bulletins are thrown into the waste basket each month.

Trouble seems to be that no general revision of the mailing lists bas been made in several years, resuits being that they are being sent to dead people, folks who have long since moved to another town or another State. Governor Scott could probably save the State as much as $300 per month if he would insist on a general overhauling of the mailing lists.

Note to postmasters: You could assist the Agriculture and Health Departments by sending to them

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

Should you marry someone with neurotic symptoms?

Answer: That's like asking whether you should marry "a sick person"-it depends on how sick he is and on what's the matter with him, as well as on whether he is doing anything to get himself cured. Do not marry a neurotic with the idea that he can "snap out of" his condition, or that your love will be all he needs to make him got well. If anyone's symptoms are severe enough to prevent his living normally (and making a living) do not marry him except a spsychiatrist's advice and with the understanding that he's being treated.

Answer: Yes. A person with a eick mind - especially what is called a "paranolac" - can be driven to kill even harmless strangers by the morbid workings of his conscience, though of course, he does not know what mysterious "hard luck."
