Mel Ferrer Is Wanted

Man At Last By PATRICIA CLARY

United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UP)-Mel Ferrer, the star of a non-Hollywood bit movie, is one of the most wanted men in town now. Two years ago, he was turned down for a bit in a movietown little theater play. "I was a personal drug on an over-stocked market." Ferrer says now. "I remember one studio excentive told me:

You've got a lot of talent. But who neede talent?"

The actor who couldn't get a job in Hollywood played the starring role in "Lost Boundaries," an independent picture made in New England by Louis de Rochemont, Now he has an acting-directingproducing-etc-etc contract with Howard Hughes.

"Suddenly." he sald wryly, "I am discovered.

It was his third discovery. Ferrer came to Hollywood four years ago as a movie director. Later he cas re-discovered in New York by David O. Selznick and signed to contract as actor-director-producer. He never got any jobs, though

"I appeared in a road show company of "Carano de Bergerac" and was assistant director with John Ford on 'The Fugitive...' he said Then I sat out my Selznick con-
