explained, "and I'm going to open a school of square dancing with them as teachers as soon as I get back from showing my collection in Rome at the end of November." The designer said he admires the New York and Dallas fashion industries, and doesn't intend to "make competition for anybody." He claimed credit for having been the first to introduce the new short hairstyles for women in Paris. "After a trip to America two years ago I had all my mannequins cut their hair—but even shorter than the American cut," he declared. Madame Schiaparelli, tiny behind her big desk and playing with a miniature bottle of perfume as she talked, was wearing a little black suit, black jersey blouse with a multiple rope of pearls, and a one-sided black velvet cap. The young, blond Mr. Fath, interviewed in the corridor outside his fitting rooms, was tastefully dressed in a blue, blue suit and a darker blue tie with a small white figure. Both couturiers said they were far too busy with business arrangements to notice any new trends or changes in American fashion.

Oldest Ship Shows Scots Built Well

HONG KONG (UP)—A tribute to the skill of Scottish shipbuilders is the 481-ton ship Hsin Tai, which still is plying North China waters although more than 109 years old. She is said to be in reasonably good condition and looks as though she might last another 20 years.

The oldest ship in Lloyd's Register, the 168-foot craft was built in 1840 by Scottish engineers at the Nevsky Drydocks in St. Petersburg as a yacht for one of the Russian grand dukes.

Little is known of her early history except that at one time she was named Tungus. After the Russian revolution she was sold to a Valdivostok firm and in the early 1920's passed into Chinese hands, assuming her present name. She was seized by the Japanese in 1937 and operated throughout the war. After the war the Hsin Tai passed into the hands of Chinese Communists and shuffled back and forth between Chefoo and Dairen in September, 1947, she returned to Tientsin, where she became the property of the Tung Shun Steamship Co.

Star Denies Actors Must 'Live' Their Roles

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Many an actor who was a contemporary of silent star Crane Wilbur in the old days has faded from the scene, but Wilbur still is on top as a movie writer and director.

Wilbur, who left movie acting while he still had some energy left, has been writing and directing for 16 years. His current film, Universal-International's "Outside the Wall," is his 10th with a prison background.

"I've been lucky in never being out of work," he said. "I figure I'm at the peak of my career now."

Wilbur was a movie star from 1912 to 1924. Many of the others who were stars with him weren't so lucky. Some are dead, some have retired, some have dropped into tragic obscurity.

Frank X. Bushman is a radio actor. He says he's working on his third career, Jack Mulhall, who went through two fortunes as a movie star, has been in the cast of a movie, Murray's Blackouts, and finally got back on Broadway with that show. Reinald Denny built model aircraft.

Some Others. Gloria Swanson has a New York television program and recently worked in a movie, "Sunset Boulevard." Macy Pickett and Harold Lloyd are virtually retired to clipping coupons. The Gish sisters, Lillian and Dorothy, still make occasional movies.

Director Keaton is a gag writer and occasionally act. He's planning to produce two comedies. Wilbur's work is a hard drive.

BAKING SODA IS HANDY IN EMERGENCIES

AP Newfeatures. Baking soda is a handy item to have around in emergencies. Though it is particularly useful in the kitchen, here are some additional ways to use it.

As a mouthwash, mix about one tea spoon of soda to a glass of water. It can be dusted over feet before donning shoes and stockings.

As a first-aid treatment for sunburn, and superficial scalds and burns it can be made into a paste with water. (Consider medical care, first.)

It is a remedy for insect bites, hives and rashes when applied in paste form. A solution of soda and lukewarm water (about three table- spoons of soda to one quart of water) will loosen dirt on brushes, and help deodorize it.

It can be used as a water softener, using a ratio according to the condition of the water.

For all movies, Charles Farrell, who gave up pictures long ago, is running vacation resorts at Palm Springs and Catalina Island. But Wilbur says he'd rather be cooking than counting his money. He says "Outside the Wall" is his largest and best picture yet.

"I produce some of them," he added, "but I think writing and directing the one I'm doing now will do it for me. I'm too old to try to be a triple-threat actor."

FACE VALUE

Here are some rules to observe if you are a neophyte with the makeup palette:

1. It's always better to use too little, rather than take the risk of using too much.
2. Use a good light when you makeup. A yellow light might tone down your makeup, which will look garish when you hit bright lights.
3. An eyelash curler will give your lashes that upward tilt. But leave mascara to practiced hands.
4. Use the lighter shades of nail makeup.
5. Remember that pink in makeup always is a good choice for young skins and nails. Only bleached skins must steer clear of pink-toned powders.
6. Choose light floral scents for personal fragrance. Sachets are preferable for young girls.
