Old Noel Rules Modern Christmas Cards This Year

Types of designs most popular on Christmas cards, according to the printing card manufacturers.

IS MAXINE BROWN... AP News-features Writer

Traditional Christmas cards are just as popular as ever. While flowers, cherubs, and scenes of the old Noel symbols remain best sellers...

The most popular of all, says the National Association of Greening Card Manufacturers, is the floral design. Nearly 200,000,000 Yuletide greetings...

Second place goes to outdoor scenes—the country landscape, the wind-swept arbutus Christmas tree, the sleighing party...

Religious cards portraying the Nativity, the Shepherds, and the Wise Men are in third popularity, reaching the 130,000,000 mark. There seems to be a trend in religious cards from scenes of present day church and classrooms...

Cards picturing whimsical cherubs cavorting through a celestial holiday are in fourth place. These gay and impudent little angels surged into popularity during the war...

About 100,000,000 Christmas cards this year will show youngsters cavorting in the Christmas tree, peering anxiously in the chimney, strolling in the snow...

There are a greater variety of "special title" cards for relatives, friends, and loved ones, card publishers report. More than half of the Christmas cards sold in the last 10 years are "special title" greetings with the "mother" title leading.
