Garden Club
Plans Contest
For Christmas

A Christmas Decoration Contest will be sponsored in Waynesville and Hazelwood, by the Richland Garden Club, according to an announcement by Mrs. Whitener Prevost, chairman of the project committee of the club.

Prizes of $5.00 each will be awarded in three classifications—the best commercial window, the best home window decoration, and the best outdoor home decoration.

The decorations will be judged during the week before Christmas.

The club will also sponsor a sale of Christmas decorations in the R. E. A. Building on Saturday, December 17.

The decorations, to be made by the members, will include arrangements for mantels, tables, and doors. Advance orders are being taken and special requests are being filled.

Proceeds from the sale will go to the club's charitable projects.

Workshop To Be Held In Little
Court Room

A Handicraft Workshop will be held in the Little Court Room at the Haywood County Court House beginning next Monday at 9:30 a. m.

The workshop, a project of the Community Development Program, will be under the direction of Miss Amy Woodruff of the craft education program in Asheville.

Classes will be held twice daily, from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., each day through Friday.

The work will be entirely in copper and the cost of the course will be only for materials used.

The workshop is planned especially for craft leaders in each Community Development program, but others who are interested in crafts are invited to attend.

Further information may be obtained from either the Farm Agent's Office or the Home Demonstration office in the Court House.

Miss Betsy Lane Quinlan left yesterday for a visit to friends in Daytona Beach, Florida. She stopped en route in Jacksonville, Fla. to spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCollum left Wednesday for Lakeland, Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Snake River Canyon
Oregon's Grand Canyon of the Snake river, forming the boundary between Idaho and Oregon, is 1000 feet deeper than the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in the center of a great wilderness, accessible only by trail from the Oregon side and by boat from Lewiston on the Idaho side. A lodge near the canyon mouth is at the end of the longest river mail route in the nation.

Small Cars from Abroad
Little four-cylinder cars, popular in Europe, are being shipped to United States in increasing volume to take advantage of the continued shortage of domestic automobiles. Generally higher priced than U. S. models, they are not expected to be able to compete seriously with American cars after the current shortage is relieved even though their operating costs generally are low.

First Tin Can Patent
An English inventor patented the first tin can in 1810. This "canned" was cut out and soldered in the top. After it was filled, the tin plate disc, an expert could produce five or six cans per hour. Since that time, continued improvements in can making have advanced the number to 29,000 per hour.
