

THE DANCER

By MEDFORD School Senior

a dance last Friday was wonderful. I looked beautiful in the most of them.

I believe that Phyllis Summers, Aileen Fullbright, Nancy and Susie Stamey, Edna Callahan, Nancy Frye, Catherine Moody, Elaine Francis and Mary Osborne realized more fully what Christmas really means, when they delivered toys, clothes and food to a needy family on Christmas Eve.

All these girls are members of the Bible Class of Waynesville High, who helped to secure and repair the toys and clothes for the family.

The look on those girls' faces when they received the boys' gifts, any Christmas spirit and make them realize the true meaning of Christmas," exclaimed Mrs. Osborne as she was leaving the house after helping to deliver the toys, clothes and food to the family.

Our boys here in town are really on the ball. You should see the Christmas gifts that they presented to their best girl friends.

George Garrett gave Vivian Watkins a beautiful set of rhinestones. The necklace, bracelet, and earrings all to match. They looked like something that Van Johnson or maybe Dick Haymes

Terrell is confident, she is one of the most pleasant women I had the opportunity to meet. She seems to be a more than most people, she likes having people around to talk with.

Her Letter Was Answered

Three-year-old Dolly Ingram's letter to Santa Claus received a prompt reply the night of December 24. Felipe, Grand Oredil, Natanael, gives her physical and moral support to help her reach the goal to... while her father, Miller Ingram, takes their picture. Dolly said thousands of other letters to Santa flooded the Waynesville Post Office. That's one reason why the Mountaineer didn't receive the photos the night of Dec. 24 for a display paper.

Also Gene Varborough gave a beautiful set of rhinestones to Nancy Floyd. The jewels really look more like diamonds than rhinestones.

Maybe the boys think that they are left out of this column, but they aren't. At the dance Friday night they were in the spotlight just as much as the girls.

We had a few boys at the dance in uniform and did they look sharp!

James Roy Moody and David Price, both freshman college boys, looked as if they had just stepped out of a store window. They looked nice and their ties were just simply beautiful.

Not only did our college boys look nice, but our high school boys, especially Jimmy Swift and

200 Attend White Oak Program Held Christmas Night

Approximately 200 members of the White Oak Community Development Program were entertained Christmas night with plays, skits and the singing of carols. A beautifully decorated tree sparkled with its many lights, beckoning to all a welcome.

The program was opened by everybody singing "Silent Night" and "Joy To The World" after which Lex Ben Fugate led the devotions.

The quartet consisting of Hobart Hoglen, Bob Inman, Talmadge Hoglen and Paul Hoglen sang a number of selections. They were accompanied by Susie Rose at the piano. A play "The First Christmas Pageant" was then presented by the Intermediate and Young Peoples Class of the Liberty Baptist Church. The cast included: Joseph Neal Teague, Mary-Flora Mae McElroy, Angela, Martha Lou Morgan, Helen Kirkpatrick, and Ineva Hoglen, Shepherdus - Bill Kirkpatrick, Frank Randle and Donny Leatherwood. Their shoes were shining almost as much as their eyes, too.

The "younger set" are not the only ones which have a good time and enjoys life. But it seems to me that our elders have just as much or more fun than we do.

At the party Friday night given for The Mountaineer Staff, there were very few young people present, but that didn't keep the party from being a big success, and the people from having a big time.

They laughed and joked just like we do, and I bet they would have danced if they had just had enough room and some music.

So let's not forget that we are not the only ones that have fun. Maybe when a party is dead an older person could help us out and get the party back on its feet.

Together Half A Century

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. York on December 17 observed their Golden Wedding anniversary at their home near Bellet. Only one of the attendants who witnessed their wedding half a century ago could attend the celebration. Mr. York, a Spanish-American War veteran, was born in Buncombe County but has lived in Bellet 70 years in Haywood. Mrs. York is a year younger than her husband. The Yorks have five children and 21 grandchildren, all Buncombe County natives.

Paul Hoglen, Kings-Dot Hoglen Louise Burgess and Susie Rose; Music by Mrs. George Boring and singing by the Baptist choir.

Interesting talks were then given by Lloyd Teague, Rev. Fugate and Mr. Bumgarner of Canton. A skit "The Night Before Christmas" proved very entertaining with Helen Kirkpatrick and Santa Claus taking part.

At the conclusion Santa presented gifts and treats to all present. Mrs. Robert Davis, chairman, was in charge of the evening.

Three C's for Salads

Ingredients for a fruit or vegetable salad should be clean, crisp and cold. Salads should be served with dressings that are not too tart, too salty nor too sweet.

WOODEN EGG TOO MUCH

PORT ST. JOE, Fla. (UP) — A chicken snake ate one egg too many. When the snake was cut open, that peculiar oval swelling half-way down its back was found to be a wooden decoy missing from Carl Armstrong's henhouse for several days.

Twilight lasts about six weeks at the north and south poles.

Two halves make a hold. And the fullback goes through.
