By MRS. BILL HOLLINGSWORTH
(Mountaineer Correspondent)

Lower Crabtree and Francis Cove broke even Friday night in their Community Development Program basketball games.

The Lower Crabtree girls defeated the Francis Cove girls, but the Cove boys evened the score by turning back the Crabtree quintet. The Cove team also came through with a victory over the Hazelwood eagles.

Most of the players, however, will come from the Canton-Waynesville-Hazelwood area.

The committeemen from all three posts will submit their reports at the March 22 regular session of the Waynesville Legion.

At this week's joint meeting, Commander Ernest Edwards, Bobby Platt, Committee Chairman Lonnie Bishop, and Bill Lindau represented the Waynesville post; Committee Chairman Bill Milner, the Hazelwood post; and Dewese, Lucius Hall, and Carroll Towe, the

The Legionnaires are seeking to raise the necessary expenses in two general ways — through outright donations from the county's business and industrial firms and private citizens; and from all or a substantial part of box office receipts from Legion-sponsored entertainment.

Milner is scheduled to explain the plans for the team to the members of the Hazelwood Boosters Club at their regular monthly meeting tonight.

The Crabtrees Break Even In Neighborly Tests

By BARBARA BEST
(Mountaineer Correspondent)

The Upper Crabtree boys and Lower Crabtree girls were the victors Thursday night in an inter-community basketball doubleheader.

The Lower Crabtree girls came from behind a five-point disadvantage to defeat the Upper Crabtree sextet, 42-31.

Miss Sanford of the losers, however, took high scoring honors with 21 points, while Dot James of Lower Crabtree connected for 18 points and runnerup honors. Dot's teammate, Miss Smith, was a close third with 17.

The Upper Crabtree boys, however, had less trouble gaining their victory.

Spreading their offensive punch pretty evenly through their entire lineup, they won a 47-28 decision. B. Best of Upper Crabtree hit the basket for 15 points in taking individual honors.

West led the losers with an even dozen.

Baseball Creeps Into Sports Picture As Mountaineers Start Limbering Drills

Baseball is creeping into the sports spotlight at Waynesville High as basketball enters its final act.

The Mountaineers' prospective pitchers and catchers started limbering up last week in the gym with their new head coach, Marshall Teague, calling the signals.

After the meeting Tuesday, Coach Teague admitted, considering early indications, that he had a "pretty fair" assortment of Freshman and Junior batteries.

Not all of the duets, however, turned out, since the basketball season is still in its final stage.

Fair weather and the extent to which the cagers advance in the final tournaments will determine how much time will be left for the starting squad to practice as a unit before the season opens.

At the moment, the Mountaineer ball players are scheduled to launch their season April 19 in a Blue Ridge Conference contest with Brevard at Brevard.

However, Teague reported he is trying to negotiate with Christ School for an opening date which will be earlier.

Taking part in the warm-up drills in the gym for the past few days have been Bill Sutton, 190-pound righthander; Southpaws Jimmy Kuykendall and Jimmy Swift, and Righthander Harold Mills.

The catchers include James (Perk) Fugate, Bobby Kuykendall, and Eobby Setzer.

All of these are juniors except Bobby Kuykendall, Jimmy's brother, who is a freshman.

The outfielders and infielders are scheduled to join them when the weather allows outdoor practice to start.

ed for their relative lack of height by polishing their ball-handling and passing, developing a very close guarding game and some rather fantastic hook shots, and deceptive scoring plays.

That long-distance shooting business, for instance, is one of those things that could drive a man mad, particularly a basketball player.

In the second Waynesville game, for instance, Betty Jo Russell, who's about 5-foot-7 at the most, had the ball but couldn't go anywhere with it, since she had to stretch her neck to see her opposing guard's shoulders.

She solved the problem simply by lowering the ball in one hand around the back of her shoes and tossing it in a high loop over her head.

It was good for two points.

"That was plain luck," snorted one fan.

But then she made him feel a little silly.

She did it again.

This interesting group developed a degree of rather high proficiency as long ago as the 1949-50 season. Just about the entire top 12 made up the Fines Creek squad that won the 1949 Haywood County Junior 4-H Club girls' championship.

Like the Waynesville girls and the county's other teams, they aren't just basketball players. They're all active in 4-H community work and church activities, some are even county's finest.

Take Cenie, for instance, who's up the February 23 Mountaineer for details. Of course, doesn't do any But then the technical ment of the science is sufficiently advanced to where it can portray complete accuracy, and beauty, which is an essential beauty.

In short, that's what the Creek girls are made of.

F—R. Ferguson (14)
