GAINS 10 POUNDS

Little Miss Janie Mae Lynch, 124 Hunter Ave., Knoxville, Tenn., writes (and her letter is signed by her mother): "I suffered from bad spells of stomach misery. When I ate it didn't seem to do me any good for I still seemed to have a hungry pain in my stomach. I seemed undernourished and felt weak, tired and nervous."
My mother had been helped so much by Scalf's Indian River Medicine that she gave it to me and sure enough I soon began to eat heartily and enjoy my meals and I felt fine, for the nagging, painful, hungry feeling left me. The good food Scalf's helped me to enjoy has helped me to put on ten pounds of needed weight. My daddy and sister have joined mother and me in taking Scalf's, so we call Scalf's our family medicine." Scalf's Indian River Medicine is on sale at all drug stores. The first bottle must satisfy or your money back.

Jehovah Calls Amos to Prophecy

Amos, a herdsman and dresser of sycamore trees, was called from his flocks and trees by Jehovah, to prophesy to his people, Israel.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Amos.

By Alfred J. Buescher

"Hear ye this word which I take up against you, O house of Israel. . . . Thus saith the Lord, Seek Me, and ye shall live."

Amaziah, priest of Bethel, sent word to the king saying Amos hath conspired against thee in the midst of the house of Israel.

Amaziah warned Amos to "see thee away into the land of Judah, and there eat bread and prophesy there."
MEMORY VERSE—Amos 5:6.

MAGGIE CHURCH

SHADY GROVE CHURCH
Sunday School at 10 a.m. Glen Boyd Supt.
Preaching at 7:30 p.m. by the pastor. His subject "The Prayer That Prevailed."
A well-rounded prayer has three elements in it, Communion, Petition and Intercession.
Communion is prayer with your face toward God and God alone. David said, "Come, and let us kneel before the Lord." A praying man is not always beseeching God; he spends time in adoring God, loving God and praising God.
Petition is prayer with our face toward self in the more limited sense. Petition has its place in our prayers, but it does not have first place.
Intercession is prayer with our face toward others and is, objective rather than subjective in its effects. Intercession is the highest form of service, and also the hardest form of service. The greatest outlet of power is through intercessory prayer.

Jehovah Calls Amos to Prophecy

HERDSMAN LEAVES FLOCKS TO WARN ISRAEL

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
YEARS of prosperity in a country are not always times of high moral standards, sad to say. In fact, when people have plenty of money they are often inclined to pay more attention to worldly matters—taking trips to far places, buying luxuries, etc.—than to think of God and what He wishes us to do.
In Amos' time the Northern Kingdom was prosperous. The prosperity did not work for Israel's spiritual good, however. The older system of small proprietors had gone.
Large estates worked by serf or slave labor, prevailed, and the result was bad. The needs of the mass of the people were disregarded, and immorality and judicial corruption were prevalent.
The people had forgotten Jehovah who had led them from captivity into the Promised Land.
To Amos, a man who was a herdsman and tender of sycamore trees, who was close to nature, but also a nomad—a traveler to other lands, acquainted with many men can understand, is to live according to our best knowledge. Children are not happy and contented when they know they have done something wrong—when they are disagreeable, cruel to their playmates—at cross purposes with parents, brothers and sisters, and others. They too can turn to God, the Father, and ask Him to help them to be what He would wish, and thus be joyful again, just as can their elders.
Now, Amaziah, priest of Bethel, sent a message to Jeroboam, the king, to tell him that Amos had conspired against him (which was a lie) "in the midst of the house of Israel; the land is not able to bear his words, for thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall surely be led away captive out of their own land."
Apparently, King Jeroboam paid no attention to Amaziah's message (possibly he liked this prophet of disaster), so Amaziah spoke to Amos himself—and not too gently: "O, thou seer, go, see thee away unto the land of Judah, peoples, the situation was ripe for disaster.

Clearly Amos heard the voice of Jehovah calling him away from his flocks and trees, from his solitary life of meditation, to go to Bethel and warn his people of their danger. This was about the year 760 B. C.
Amos had no social reforms to offer. His job, as he saw it, was to call men back to the faith of their fathers. Men could find their only safety in moral and spiritual reforms.
God was essentially law, he declared: "For, lo, He that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought; that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, Jehovah, the God of Hosts, is His name."
Again: "For thus saith Jehovah unto the house of Israel, Seek ye Me, and ye shall live."
"Seek good and not evil, that ye may live: and so the Lord, the God of Hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken."
To live happily, even little children can understand, is to live according to our best knowledge. Children are not happy and contented when they know they have done something wrong—when they are disagreeable, cruel to their playmates—at cross purposes with parents, brothers and sisters, and others. They too can turn to God, the Father, and ask Him to help them to be what He would wish, and thus be joyful again, just as can their elders.
Now, Amaziah, priest of Bethel, sent a message to Jeroboam, the king, to tell him that Amos had conspired against him (which was a lie) "in the midst of the house of Israel; the land is not able to bear his words, for thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall surely be led away captive out of their own land."
