

MORE ABOUT County Program

June 4 — Community Development Music Festival, at 10 a.m. at the Waynesville Township High School auditorium.

Summer recreation events will include, as well as the comprehensive softball program, special events for women and children, with Home Demonstration Agent Mary Cornwell directing the women's events.

These will include a handicrafts exhibit.

The program includes many of the old events and some new ones for the recreation phase of the inter-community field days held last summer: men's tug-of-war, horseshoe pitching for men and women over 30 years of age; men's egg throw, family relays, women's blind-fold race, singing by groups, quartets, and smaller units; and the man-monkey-crab relay for small boys.

Assistant County Agent Turner Cathey explained the proposals drawn up by the recreation commission at its Saturday meeting and discussed these specific proposals regarding the softball program:

To be eligible for competition, players must live within the boundaries of the community they represent and must have played in at least half their community's games to be eligible to compete in the finals.

Before adjournment was called, the next county-wide officers' meeting was set for 7 p.m., May 15 at the 4-H Club Camp.

Presiding at the meeting was the Rev. Mrs. C. O. Newell, of Crabtree, chairman of the County Program.

Shortly after the session opened, Mrs. Newell told the large audience at the Court House: "This is your meeting. Speak up and say what you want done in your committee."

The Rev. Nando Stephens of Saunook then offered the prayer.

Responding to the roll call by County Secretary Mrs. Marvin Leatherwood of Jonathan Creek were: Mrs. Newell, County Treasurer Jerry Robinson of Center Pigeon, County Reporter Mrs. George Boring of White Oak; Advisory Board members William Osborne of South Clyde, Mrs. Paul Hyatt, Mrs. Levi Morgan of Clyde, Mrs. M. G. Stamey, and Miss Bernice Harrell;

Community Chairmen George E. Stamey of Center Pigeon, Charles Ross of Upper Crabtree, Mr. Osborne, Weaver Parkins of Panther Creek, James Boyd of Jonathan Creek, R. C. Francis of Ratcliffe Cove, Van C. Wells of East Pigeon, K. O. Carswell of Thickety, Ed Justice of West Pigeon, the Rev. Stephens, Noel Fisher of Morning Star, the Rev. Allen, who's chairman of Allens Creek; J. R. Caldwell of Iron Duff, Lester Stockton of Cruso, Maz Massey of Lake Junaluska, and the Rev. V. N. Allen of Stamey Cove.

Named to the committee in charge of the Livestock Field Day were Mr. Francis, Mr. Carswell, and Mr. Allen.

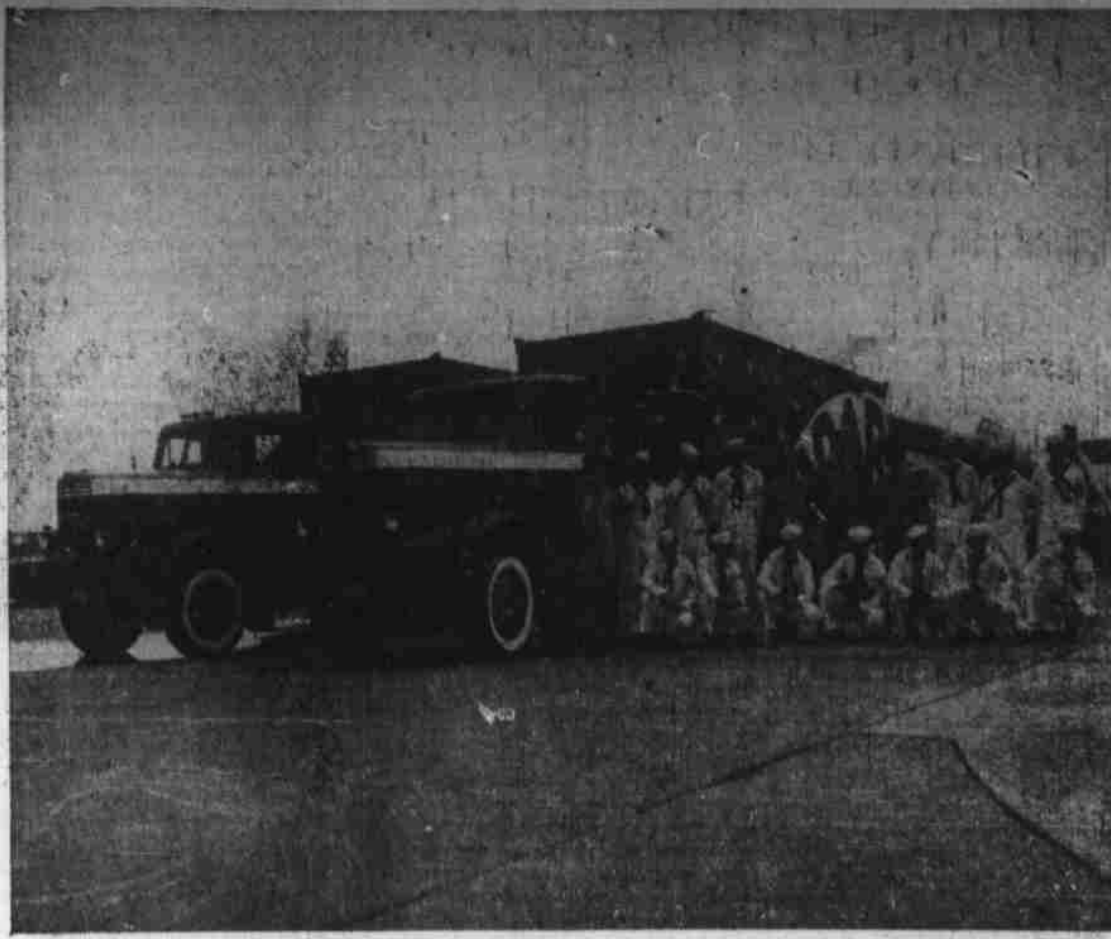

Appointed to the Community Development Day committee were Mr. Allen, Mr. Carswell, and Mr. Robinson.

During the session, County Agent Wayne Corpening urged that provision be made for the continuance of the farm tours in connection with the summer recreation program.

He declared that "we must keep in mind that we are working with people who make their living out of the farm; therefore we must keep in touch with these individual farms, through these inter-community farm tours."

Following the business session,

Navy Exhibit Features Radar

Seventeen of the 33 men attached to the Navy's free Mobile Exhibit pose beside the huge truck housing the operating radar set. The radar has proved to be one of the most outstanding attractions of the 12-truck exhibition which contains everything from a Phantom fighter to a model of a German high-velocity wind tunnel.

MORE ABOUT Milner

Saipan and with the first occupation forces in Japan after V-J day.

His pro-football career with the Chicago Bears got its inception when he was named All-American guard in 1943 while playing for Duke as a student in the Navy V-12 program.

After that season he went into active service as a Marine lieutenant.

About four years later, Milner picked up his honorable discharge, then returned to Duke.

He signed his first pro grid contract just before graduation. Last fall marked his third season with the Bears.

Milner graduated from Waynesville Township High School in 1940, and enrolled at the University of South Carolina the following fall.

He was transferred to Duke in 1943 after he signed up for the Navy schooling.

He and his wife, the former Miss Jerry McKinley, and their 18-months-old daughter, Lynn Catherine, make their home on Georgia Avenue.

Active in other sports, Milner is manager of the Haywood County American Legion Junior baseball team and played one season with the Hazelwood Club of the Western North Carolina Industrial League.

Yale has won the eastern intercollegiate league swimming championship nine times in the last 12 years.

The community chairmen were urged by Rufus Pannell and John Carver of the Waynesville Junior Chamber of Commerce to try to see that the registered voters in their community go to the polls in every election.

The speakers declared that they were definitely not making a political campaign—that the campaign was simply to get every qualified citizen to register for every election, and every registered voter to cast his ballot.

Mr. Allen closed the meeting with a prayer.

Mass Meet Of County Training Union Set

A Mass Meeting of the Haywood Baptist Associational Training Union will be held Monday night, April 17, at 7:30, at the West Canton Baptist church. At this meeting the eliminations will be made in the tournaments for Juniors, Intermediates, Adults, and Hymn Festival. Those receiving first place will represent the county in the regional meeting which will be held at Spruce Pine May 5 and 6. It is hoped that every church in the county will be represented and all pastors will attend.

Finding Gospel. The theme of the meeting will be, "Can We Know God's Will For Our Lives?"

Finding God's Will Through—Praise—Song service. Meditation led by Rev. W. C. Weaver, pastor of the Rocky Branch church.

A message in song, Special music, Coming activities.

Intermediate Sword Drill, M. T. Bridges.

Adult Scripture Reading, Miss May Holtzclaw.

Gospel Hymns—Hymn Festival. The theme song for the month, "Open My Eyes, That I May See."

Report of Judges. Benediction.

Particles A-Plenty. There are more than 10 billion phosphor particles inside each two-foot-long fluorescent lamp. Yet this quantity amounts to only an "ant-hill" of powder weighing one and a half grams—half the weight of a penny. The phosphor transforms ultraviolet radiations into light.

Encourage Talk At The Table

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IN THE average family with children over four or five years of age there is no other period of the day so full of possibilities for real education and for building personality and mental health as mealtime, especially when all the family sit about the dinner table together. Just being all together around the family board where each person can face every other person and hear him provides an ideal setting.

During my childhood there were eight of us children. Father, who always said grace, never began till all of us were there and quietly seated. Aside from the spiritual purpose of grace at meals it can have a unifying effect. Besides, there is an apparent reason for all to be there and for each to wait for the others.

Joyous Conversation. While quarrelling and complaining about food were not allowed around that family board, I think now, as I look back, that we children missed something in not having been encouraged to have more fun and joyous conversation. I don't recall much laughter at our meals nor hearing many jokes nor engaging in much interesting conversation. Just some arguments might have enlivened the mealtime a bit. Of course, we had no radio then to cause confusion.

I do remember mealtimes when I listened with great interest to conversation between my parents and adult guests, and we children always were at the dinner table with the guests, when there was room. We younger children sometimes had to wait for the "second table" when many guests were there. Perhaps it was good education for us. Some of us parents and grandparents have always had chicken necks, wings and backs to eat. We got them if were named to the Haywood Board by the State Board.

Since no other names were on the recommended list from the county chairman, W. G. Byers, the State Board decided to rename Ferguson to the post.

On Saturday, when the board was sworn in at noon, Crom E. Cole was named chairman, and Mr. Rogers as secretary.

Chairman Cole said this morning that the entire board would meet Saturday at five, and remain in session until after six o'clock, which is the deadline for filing for the May primary.

Rogers told a reporter he resigned because he "couldn't stay on the board in light of the state attorney-general's ruling."

Attorney - General McMullan's opinion issued recently was to the effect that where an official held two public offices, the one for which he first took the oath was the one he actually held.

The copies of his resignation, submitted to both the County Elections Board and State Elections Chairman Charles M. Britt said: "I herewith tender my resignation as a member of the County Elections Board . . . effective at 6 p.m. April 12 (Wednesday)."

"My duties as a police officer in the town of Waynesville conflict with my duties as a member of the board, and because of this conflict I am tendering this resignation."

He said he hoped to rejoin the local police department "in a few days."

Town Manager Grayden Ferguson and Alderman Felix Stovall explained this morning, in replies to questions, that technically it would be a case of "hiring" Rogers because he had resigned outright.

This matter would have to be acted upon by the town board, of course.

who had planned to donate $175 sum toward the boy's college education.

He died, however, before he could fulfill his plan, and the amount the Lodge voted matched the sum he was going to give.

The boy, an outstanding all-around student, will be aided partly also by a $225 scholarship he has been awarded by Western Carolina Teachers College, which he plans to enter next fall.

Thought for Meditation

If you should call on me today, or I should call on you, for tasks that we could each perform, that we should gladly do, I wonder if excuse we'd give instead of lending aid; I wonder if we'd hesitate for fear we'd not be paid.
