PLEASE-MR. FARMER-

During the month of March alone, service in rural areas was interrupted thirteen times because of trees being felled into power lines. Those interruptions meant that 5,437 customers were deprived of electric service for periods ranging from fifteen minutes to almost three hours.

These interruptions not only result in serious inconvenience to customers, but they represent a needless expense to the company and to those responsible for damage to lines,

When you cut trees near a power line, please be sure that they are thrown in the opposite direction.
