The prize for third place in each division will be the refund of the $2 entry fee.

The ranch owner also said the contestants may get their powder from Parkman's, and there will be enough caps at the ranch to fill the bill.

Speaking of the weather, Mr. Alexander declared the shooting will go on, rain or shine. A tarpaulin shelter will protect the marksmen from the elements if they (the elements) prove troublesome.

The spectators and competitors will find cold drinks, coffee, sandwiches, frankfurters, and ice-cream available to ease the pangs of hunger.

Judging the event will be R. L. Pivost, Sr., of Hazelwood, as chairman; Carl Ray of Silver Springs, Florida; and Horace Woody of Covington, Ky.

Serving jointly as masters of ceremonies will be Jonathan Woody and W. A. Bradley, and the cacophony of the musketry will be softened by the sweet strains of the music of the Cataloochee String Band.

The customary rules also will be in effect: the competitors will have three shots each, at a range of 40 yards standing or 60 yards prone.

The entry fee is $2, and the competitors will make their own targets from charred wood supplied by the Ranch.

The entrants should bring their own rifles, but if they haven't any, they can borrow a piece at the Ranch, Mr. Alexander added.

Goler Green of Purchase Mountain on Lower Jonathan Creek is due back to defend the grand champion title he won last October.

But he's scheduled to face tough competition, particularly from the 1948 grand champion—67-year-old Frank Kern of Maggie.

Judging from the inquiries that have been coming in, this year's field may equal or even surpass the record 100 marksmen who shot in the July 1948 event.

Five hundred spectators saw the shooting that year.

Last October's event, held as a feature of a meeting of the Honorary Tar Heels, drew a relatively small crowd of 50 shooters and about 100 spectators. However, the small crowd of 50 shooters and fact that the match was held after the regular summer season.

Mr. Alexander said the shooting would start at 9:30 a. m.

Lions To Hold Auction For Funds For Charity Work

The Waynesville Art Gallery will hold a special auction August 12 to help the Waynesville Lions Club raise funds for their charity projects.

Members of the club are seeking donations of goods from merchants to offer for bidding at the auction.

The club sponsored a similar auction for the same purpose two years ago, sold everything from country homes to fine antiques for a total of $1,600.

visited Washington county, and were guests of the Iowa youngsters. A busy program for the mid-western visitors was being completed this week. County Agent Wayne Corpening reported.

Besides participating in community and county-wide events, the Iowa youngsters and their leaders also will be escorted on tours of Western North Carolina.

One of the highlights will be their visit to the Cherokee drama, "Unto These Hills," next Thursday night.

On that trip they and the Haywood 4-H'ers will be the guests of the Waynesville Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce.

In the motorcade are Mayors of Clyde, Hazelwood, Canton and Waynesville, the president of each civic organization in the county, and officials of the individual communities of the Community Development Program.

Mr. Corpening is asking the president of each civic club to furnish a car, and a sign, bearing a message of welcome to the Iowa delegation.

During Monday and Tuesday after their arrival the Iowa visitors will be entertained with special programs in the communities where they will live.

On Wednesday, they will be entertained in county-wide events and tours to points outside the county.

At 9 a. m., they will leave here for a tour of the Biltmore Estate and Biltmore mansion as guests of the Waynesville Lions Club, headed by President Lawrence Leatherwood.

From Biltmore, they will be escorted to Mount Pisgah for a picnic lunch.

Then they'll return to the county for a swimming party at the new District 4-H Club Camp at the Mountain Test Farm.

For dinner, starting at 6:30 p. m., they will be guests of Mr. Woody at a barbecue chicken picnic at his home.

The program will be rounded out with games at the 4-H Club Camp that night.

The next day, starting at 9:15 a. m. from the Court House, the Iowans will be taken on a tour of Haywood county's beef cattle farms under the sponsorship of the Haywood County Breeder's Association.

They'll inspect the herds at the farms of Dr. J. L. Reeves in Beaverdam, Roy Haynes at Clyde, Bob Welch near Waynesville, and Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Galloway's Grace-land Farms where they will stop for lunch.

In the afternoon, they'll tour The Champion Paper and Fibre Company plant as guests of the company.

Then they'll return to Waynesville for a swimming party and supper at the 4-H Camp, with the women of the Waynesville chapter, National Secretaries' Association, serving as hostesses.

The day will end with their visit to the Cherokee drama.

Friday and most of Saturday, they'll take part in community activities. On Saturday night they will be guest of honor at a farewell party at the 4-H Camp. This event will start at 8 p. m.

After the party, they will go to the Waynesville Armory to attend a square dance as guests of Sam Queen.

They'll start their return trip to Iowa on Sunday.

North Carolina's top agricultural leaders will come to Waynesville to welcome the visitors.

Dean I. O. Schaub, director of the North Carolina Extension Service, and Dr. J. H. Hilton, director of the North Carolina Experiment Station and dean of the State College School of Agriculture, will be here on Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Hilton will accompany her husband here.

Mr. Corpening also said that arrangements for any of the visitors to speak at local clubs may be made through him.

The Washington county delegation will include 20 boys and 26 girls, who are 4-H members, and Mrs. Melvin Booth, county 4-H leader; Ruth Foster, Washington county home demonstration agent; and Gus Alsip, assistant county agent.

The Washington county boys and girls on the trip: Mary Twinam, Dorothy Schaeffer, Nancy Bales, Donna Cave, Marjorie Gamon, Janey McMullen, Jean Davison, Virginia Griggs, Luella Sojka, Mary Knotek, Lovella Sojka, Isabelle Day, Lola Ruth Farris, Kathryn Leeper, Dorothy Stauffer.
