Anna Lee Smith Is Bride Of James Dorsett

Miss Anna Lee Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Smith, Sr., of Raleigh, was married to James Kye Dorsett, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Dorsett of Salisbury, Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Hayes Barton Methodist Church in Raleigh.

The Rev. Howard P. Powell, pastor of Edenton Street Methodist Church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Charles Lynn Brown, pastor of White Memorial Presbyterian Church.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. William D. Miller of Raleigh, organist. The altar was decorated with palms, wood-wardia fern, and floor vases of white chrysanthemums. White tapers were used in cathedral candelabra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding dress of antique ivory satin and net, trimmed in rosepoint lace and pearls and designed with ivory satin court train. Her illusion veil was attached to an ivory lace cap and she carried a cascade bouquet of ivory colored hybrid orchids, valley lilies, Fleur D'Amour, and bride's roses, tied with ivory satin ribbon.

Mrs. Willis Smith, Jr., of Raleigh, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Heilig Harney of Edenton, cousin of the bride, Miss Mary Joanne Bradley of St. Louis, Mo., Miss Roland Collins of Kinston, and Mrs. James H. Truitt of Greensboro.

They wore identical ballerina dresses of copper nylon net over taffeta with short jackets of the same material, matching mitts, and cloche bonnets of copper velvet. The matron of honor carried a cascade bouquet of yellow spider chrysanthemums and tallisars rosied with gold net lace and narrow charruseau satin ribbons. The bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of charruseau spider chrysanthemums and golden rapture roses.

Terrill Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Boyle of Charlotte, was flower girl and wore an ankle length frock of organdy and lace made with hoop skirt caught up with nosegays of flowers. She carried a miniature bouquet of yellow and gold pom pom chrysanthemums and roses, tied with gold satin ribbons.

Bryson Irvin Boyle of Charlotte was best man and ushers and groomsmen were James H. Pou Bailey, Godfrey Cheshire, Jr., Robert C. Howison, Jr., Willis Smith, Jr., Alton Battle Smith and Lee Creech Smith, all of Raleigh.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to New York and Canada.
