

At The Strand

The shadow of suspicion falls on a young married couple when police lieutenant Ricardo Montalban questions Sally Forrest and Marshall Thompson regarding their part in an ingenious murder in "Mystery Street," coming to the Strand Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Religious Conference Is In Session At Cullowhee

CULLOWHEE — (Special) — "A Faith for Our Time" is the theme of the second annual Campus Conference on Religion at WCTC to be held October 22 through 26. F. A. Hodges, general chairman, announced this week.

Three prominent religious and educational leaders will be the main speakers: Dr. Claude U. Broach of Charlotte, Mrs. Heywood Jordan of Lynchburg, Virginia, and Reverend Frederick B. Eutsler of Raleigh.

Co-chairmen of the campus committee, the main planning group, are Annie Ruth Watts and Davis Whitesides. 12 sub-chairmen head committees of 6 members each, which are responsible for different phases of the program. Working with Mr. Hodges in making arrangements is Walter Culp, corresponding secretary of the conference.

The general purpose of the conference is to convey to the students the realization of the importance of Christianity in all phases of life. To achieve this aim, the sponsors chose as speakers for the week outstanding persons who have had special experience in student work.

Dr. Claude U. Broach has been pastor of St. John's Baptist church in Charlotte since 1944. After his graduation from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in 1936, he held pastorates in Kentucky and Virginia. He was Student Work Secretary for the Southern Baptist Convention for three years. His present church, St. John's, has a membership of about 1400. Dr. Broach, who is 38, has served on several University Christian Mission teams and has led Religious Emphasis Weeks on several college campuses—Furman, Mercer, Mer-

Little Theatre At WCTC To Give Plays

CULLOWHEE — (Special) — "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players," wrote Shakespeare in his play, As You Like It. Directed and sponsored by Mrs. J. U. Crum and E. V. Deans, Jr., of the English department, Mrs. Gerald Eller, and Mr. W. J. Bost, college engineer, the Little Theatre is on the comeback trail, and will open the season during the winter quarter with Good Housekeeping, by William McCleery. Mrs. Eller will be in charge of make-up and costumes. Mr. W. J. Bost, with the help of the maintenance crew, will handle special effects and lighting. Mrs. Crum will be director, and Mr. Deans the stage designer. This will be the 12th year that the Little Theatre has been organized.

Mrs. C. D. Killian was in charge of the first dramatics club, followed by Mrs. Crum in 1939. Mr. Deans took charge in 1948 and changed the name from the Western Carolina players to the Little Theatre of Cullowhee. Ever since the beginning, the club has been very successful. It has produced such hits as Dear Ruth, Death Takes A Holiday, All My Sons, Arsenic and Old Lace, Our Town, and numerous other highly successful plays.

Mrs. Crum and Mr. Deans will combine their respective talents to put on Good Housekeeping. Mr. Deans will also act as stage designer.

Mr. Bost will be in charge of lighting and props. He has had considerable experience in this type of work and will help the production considerably. He has had experience in Coker College, Hartsville, South Carolina.

Mrs. Eller is in charge of costumes and make-up. She has also had experience in several plays, for she has been in charge of this department for some time.

The play itself is taken from an everyday American family. The mother, armed with a big psychology book, sets out to make everybody happy. She is delighted therefore, when her dignified husband, president of the university, becomes involved in a fight with the state political boss and a campaign for the governorship. It is a grave and pathetic problem that slowly turns into laughter and full-hearted humor.

Formerly Dean of Women at Lynchburg College, where her husband is Dean of Men, she now serves as chaplain at Lynchburg State College. Other work has been as director of teen-age activities of Y.W.C.A., and instructor of courses on courtship and marriage for young people's conferences, family and P.T.A. groups. Mrs. Jordan is an ordained minister in the Disciples (Christian) Church.

Frederick B. Eutsler is minister of the United Church (Congregational-Christian, Friends) in Raleigh. A graduate of Union Theological Seminary, Eutsler was pastor in Haverhill, New Jersey from 1937 to 1943. He then became a chaplain in the U. S. Army and served two and a half years. Awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service, he served in the European Theater. While working as pastor in Raleigh, Eutsler has worked among students at State College and spoken at meetings on the other campuses of Raleigh—Meredith, Saint Mary's, Shaw, and Saint Augustine's.

An assembly will be held Monday at which Mr. Eutsler will speak Thursday Dr. Broach will speak at a second chapel program. In addition to these meetings classroom discussions, personal conferences, small nightly meetings and bull sessions will attempt to carry the ideas and messages of the program to each individual student.

Prior to last year the name Religious Emphasis Week was applied to this annual conference. The sponsors felt that the new title is more appropriate to the type of meetings held. Last year the University Christian Mission sent a team of speakers—Dr. T. Z. Koo, Mrs. Mayes Behrman, Dr. Clarence Jordan, and Reverend Raymond Womeldorff. Western Carolina was the only place in North Carolina to which such a group was sent last year. This year the mission group will visit only the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

French-Toasted Sandwiches
Meat, cheese, and peanut butter sandwiches are tasty French-toasted. Dip but don't soak sandwiches in an egg-milk mixture—one egg beaten with two tablespoons of milk is enough for four sandwiches. Brown slowly on both sides in a little hot fat.

Mrs. Gosta Wollin

Mrs. Wollin is the former Miss Janet Abel, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Brown Abel and Albert Abel of Waynesville. She was married in Palisades, N. Y., on Saturday, October 21.

Miss Janet Abel Is Bride Of Gosta Wollin

Miss Janet Abel, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Brown Abel and Albert Abel of Waynesville, was married to Gosta Wollin of Stockholm, Sweden and Palisades, N. Y., in a ceremony at Palisades last Saturday morning.

Immediately after the wedding a breakfast was held in the home of Miss Amy Richards Colton in Palisades.

The bride attended the Waynesville schools and the Conover School of Modeling in New York City. Following her study at the latter she was cover girl for Collier's magazine. During the past two years she has been employed as an interviewer for Charles A. Meyer and Company, Translations, Nyack, N. Y., and is at present engaged as laboratory assistant in the Department of Geology at Columbia University in New York City.

Mr. Wollin, a Swedish author and journalist, enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1943, while engaged as a foreign correspondent in this country. He served as master sergeant in the Intelligence Service and participated as a paratrooper with the 82nd Airborne Division in the Invasion of Normandy, the campaign of Holland and the Battle of the Bulge. He is currently associated with Columbia University.

The couple will reside in Palisades following a wedding trip in the Catskill Mountains.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Mabel Brown Abel, mother of the bride, and Miss Ruth Richards of Camden, S. C., and New York City.

"His Majesty"
The royal title, "His Majesty" was first given to Henry VIII because of his magnificent silk wardrobe. Yet with all his finery, Henry so treasured his single pair of silk hosiery, he modestly reserved them for great state occasions. Incidentally, the first woman to own a pair of silk stockings was his daughter, Queen Elizabeth.

J. R. Morgan Is Speaker For Woman's Club

J. R. Morgan, Waynesville attorney, addressed the Woman's Club at the October meeting, Thursday afternoon, in the Recreation Room of the First Presbyterian Church.

He traced the growth of Waynesville through civic organizations and stressed the importance of every citizen taking part in the government of town and country by exercising his right to vote.

During the business session, with Miss Louise Ballard presiding, reports were heard from departmental chairmen and a report of the district meeting held in Robbinsville was given by Mrs. J. R. McCracken and Miss Anne Albright. Tentative plans were also made for a benefit bridge party to be held in November.

Mrs. E. J. Stannmyre was in charge of the music.

New members welcomed at the meeting were Mrs. W. Sherrod McCall, Mrs. S. E. Tutor, Mrs. R. R. Jeter, Mrs. L. J. Ballard, Miss Pearl Leslie Johnson, Mrs. W. C. Boutwell, Miss Anne Albright, Miss Margaret Elder, and Miss Ethel McCoy.

Mrs. Raymond Lane, international relations chairman, announced that she would hold discussion groups for those interested in international problems, for thirty minutes before each regular club meeting.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. F. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. R. B. Barker, Miss Robina Miller, and Mrs. Dan Cross. Mrs. Broadus E. Wall was a special guest.

Joe Morrow New Organist At Chapel Hill Church

Joe Morrow of Waynesville, a senior at the University of North Carolina, recently was appointed organist at the Chapel of The Cross, the Episcopal church in Chapel Hill.

The student, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Morrow of Waynesville, has been spending his summer vacations between University terms serving as organist for the First Baptist Church here.

Before enrolling in the University to major in music, he studied at St. John's School.

For three years, he studied organ under David Brandt and is now studying under Jan Phillip Schinhan, who serves as conductor of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra.
