TODAY'S SMILE
The human brain is a wonderful thing. It starts working at birth. And does not stop until you stand up to make a speech in public.

It's Apple Bobbing Time In Haywood

These young people started off Apple Week in a big way at the Sub-Deb party Tuesday night as they bobbed for apples from the tub of water. Ronnie Haas, of Canton, is trying to get his apple, while Mary Ann Byrd waits her turn. Sally Stovall, center, and Miles Stamey are enjoying their apples, while Doris Ann Ensley gets set to try next. The young people, in costume, had a gala time at the Youth Center. (Staff Photo).

Colorful Program Set For Haywood Apple Festival

The usual pre-election word-swinging will give way to pie-swinging at the Haywood County Court House Saturday.

Cherokee Indians will re-enact William Tell.

And the words of the open-air preachers will give way to the rich, mouth-watering aroma of apple pies in the process of baking.

Fact is, anybody who opens his mouth around the Court House on Saturday morning has a good chance of having an apple pie shoved into it.

That, of course, brings us directly to another big feature of these festivities.

Selected ministers of Haywood County's churches will be given an opportunity to display their skill and capacity at the dinner table.

They will take part in the pie-eating contest.

Pie a la mode eating contest. Each pie will be decorated with three large scoops of ice cream.

The winner will be crowned Haywood County's pie-eating champion.

His prize will be a large, economy-size glass of bicarbonate of soda.

The Indians will compete in an archery contest.

But first they'll warm up by shooting apples off people's heads.

The proceeds from the concert will be applied toward the expansion drive.

Saturday Is Final Day To Register

Crom Cole, chairman of the board of elections, this morning pointed out that persons who did not register in Fines Creek, Allens Creek, and at Waynesville two precincts last spring, must of necessity do so on or before Saturday in order to vote on the 7th.

These precincts were created prior to the primary last spring, and many persons took advantage of the new registration at that time. Those who did not have until Saturday afternoon to register.

The election officials also pointed out that persons formerly voting at the court house, at Bethel and Saunook, must register by Saturday, as new precincts have been created at each of these places.

Registrations have shown a decided increase during the past week, Mr. Cole said.

Those living in what was the North Ward are now in either the new East Waynesville, Center Waynesville, or West Waynesville precincts.

The Pigeon precinct is now divided into Pigeon and Center Pigeon. All those living in the Saunook section also must register again, since this has been set up as a new precinct.

The polling places where persons in those areas can register are:

East Waynesville—East Waynesville School.

Center Waynesville—Haywood County Court House.

West Waynesville—Pressley's Store.

Pigeon—Bethel School.

Center Pigeon—Spring Hill School.

Saunook—Saunook School.

A wage boost of 12½¢ per hour for more than 900 employees of the Dayton Rubber Company at its Waynesville plant was announced last week by Harry A. Bourne, factory manager of the Thorobred division of the company. The increase came as a result of negotiations between the company and the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, C.I.O.

According to Mr. Bourne, the increase was granted to all employees, including those on salary, who are on the company's payroll at Waynesville. All increases were made effective October 16.

Boyd Withdraws From Race For Board Chairman

Glenn A. Boyd of Jonathan Creek, prominent Haywood County Republican leader, announced Tuesday he was withdrawing as Republican candidate for the General Election race for chairman of the Haywood board of county commissioners.

His action leaves Democratic Candidate Charles C. Francis of Ratcliffe Cove unopposed for the post.

In his statement announcing his withdrawal, he declared that it had always been his personal and political ambition to make Haywood County a better place in which to live.

He formerly served as chairman of the County Republican Executive Committee.

He explained that, in his opinion, that the Democrats in the June primary selected a group of men of high character and ability.

Since the people have "taken the step to have clean politics here," he continued, he did not see where it would be an advantage for him to fight politically this type of men.

Mr. Boyd declared that this statement expresses his own personal views, and does not advise other Republicans as to what course they should take.

He added that he will "always stand by the churches and all the elements that go for the betterment of Haywood County," regardless of the outcome of the elections.

He expressed his support for better schools, roads and other improvements, regardless of who is in power.

In his statement, Mr. Boyd declared: (See Boyd—Page 8)

Not Seen As Best Hope For Peace

Foreign Correspondent Parris of Syria declared Tuesday that the United Nations last hope to save the world from the destruction of a third world war.

He addressed his remarks to the Haywood Business and Professional Women's Club.

At a dinner meeting at the Sky-Ten room observed the fifth anniversary of the birth of the United Nations.

"I observe very few," Mr. Parris declared, "that World War II have been prevented had the League of Nations reacted to the United Nations reacted to the Korean crisis."

He said that the UN has found to some extent since it was formed.

It floundered, he explained, because it ran up against problems that had not been anticipated.

The UN has done an excellent job in the area of which it was not set up to do.

He explained Secretary of State Acheson's proposal, now being considered by a UN committee, and would work if it were adopted.

He said the plan is designed to end the veto.

Russia had been present to veto the plan when the UN Security Council approved the action in Korea, this action would have been taken.

He pointed out, however, that the plan would be present if the UN is called upon again to act in case of aggression committed by another Russian satellite.

The former United Press and Associated Press foreign and war correspondent also declared that the existence of a powerful Russian-created East German satellite.

He apparently had no basis in intelligence reports said such a satellite existed only on paper, that it contained less than 60,000 men in combat units.

East German air force doesn't even exist on paper, intelligence reports have reported, and the fleet is a coast guard to coast-guarding.

Furthermore, he added, the Russians do not want an East German satellite. (See John Parris—Page 8)
