Hazelwood Man Gives 7 Pints Of Blood To Red Cross

For seven consecutive trips, George V. Smith has met the Bloodmobile as it came here, and each time has given a pint of blood. He is pictured here with Mrs. Ben Colkitt, registrar; Col. F. S. Wright, physician, and Miss Lucy Davis, nurse. Mr. Smith works in the finishing department of the A. C. Lawrence Leather Company, where he has been for nine years. He never feels any ill effects from giving the blood, and in all seriousness offered an extra pint on Tuesday: "Since I started donating blood I have gained weight," explained the 202-pound man. The first time the bloodmobile came here Smith got to the steps, and turned back. For the past seven times he has been right on the spot, cheerfully donating a pint each time. (Staff Photo.)
