FANCY PANTS TOO MUCH

HILLSBORO, Ill. — Employees of the Eagle-Picher company plant demanded as part of their new contract that they be provided with clean underwear on every shift. The demand was withdrawn, however, when the management agreed to it and began making arrangements to buy a supply of yellow and chartreuse underwear at a sale.

MINERS GET COLOR

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Coal miners are dressing up their drab dark pits with colorful paint, according to a report submitted to the Coal Mining Institute at its annual meeting. The scientific use of color has reduced absenteeism, increased worker efficiency, decreased accidents and brought about better employer-employee relations, the report said.

Heat Waving

WORKING on location in the record 85-degree California heat wave, film actress Peggie Castle uses a light scarf at Santa Monica, Calif. to find out which way the breeze blows—if any. (International)
