TODAY'S SMILE
"How do you like going to school, Roger?" kindly old lady asked the little boy.
"Oh, I like going all right, and I like coming back, too. It's having to stay there I don't like."

3 Rural Phone Projects To Cost $70,000

It Is Apple Blossom Time In Haywood

These two young ladies have more reason than one for being happy over the apple blossom season—besides the beauty of the flowers, the sign of apple blossoms means an income for their families—both live on farms with large orchards. Miss Velda Arrington, left, is the daughter of Mrs. W. R. Arrington, and have about 600 trees in their orchard. On the right is Miss Mary Evelyn Plimmans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Plimmans, who have an orchard of over 100 trees. Both young ladies are from Saunook section, are seniors in high school, and lend a helping hand during harvest time in gathering the fruit. (Staff Photo)

Funeral For Dr. Harry M. Sullivan Set For Friday

Dr. Harry Moseley Sullivan, 36, well-known Waynesville pharmacist, died at his home on the Auburn Road here at 12:05 a.m. today, following an illness of several months.

Dr. Sullivan was the son of W. H. and Mrs. Nunie Moseley Sullivan of Anderson, S. C. He was a native of Williamston, S. C., and a graduate of the School of Pharmacy of the Medical College of South Carolina at Charleston.

He came to Waynesville in 1938 and was associated with Smith's Drug Store until the fall of 1950. More recently he has been with Curtis Drug Store. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and of the Baucum Bible Class of the church. He was also a member of the Waynesville Lions Club and was active in the National Retail Druggists Association and the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the First Baptist Church with the pastor the Rev. B. E. Wall, officiating.

Active pallbearers will be Carl Mundy, Ben Phillips, Henry Davis, Earl Messer of Asheville, Lee Davis, Dr. Robert Turner, Euel Taylor, and W. E. Pursley of Charlotte.

Honorary pallbearers will be members of the Lions Club and the Baucum Bible Class and Zeb Curtis, Dr. Ralph Keenan, Dr. N. F. Lancaster, Dr. R. H. Stretcher, Dr. Boyd Owen, Dr. J. E. Fender, Dr. R. S. Roberson, Dr. Thomas Stringfield, and Dr. H. O. Champion.

Interment will be in Green Hill Cemetery. The body will be taken to the home today and will remain until (See Sullivan—Page 8)

Fishing Is Easy, If You Know How

Wade Moody believes in going after the big ones when you fish for trout. Wade pulled this 23-inch brown trout out of Little East Fork. He fished in a 4-foot pool, right in front of his home. He used crawfish for bait, and a cane pole for equipment. This fourth grader hooked the big fish, and then called his father, Lenor Moody, who was working nearby. Mr. Moody watched his only son bring the big fish safely to shore. Mr. Moody predicts that Wade will get a bear this fall. He has been bear hunting before, and this is his year to shoot one, the father of the budding sportsman explained. Wade comes by his fishing naturally, because his father has a reputation for pulling in the big ones. (Staff Photo)

Fines Creek To Receive Service In Next 90 Days

Work is scheduled to begin within a few days on the rural telephone lines into Fines Creek township. This will be the third rural project currently underway in the county, representing an expenditure of about $70,000, according to J. Lovell Smith, district manager of Southern Bell.

Mr. Smith sounded another encouraging note for the residents of Fines Creek, when he predicted they would have service within 90 days. He hinted that he saw a possibility of even earlier, but set the maximum at 90 days.

In the meantime, several crews are pushing lines into the Balsam, Saunook, and Hyatt Creek areas, and in Francis Cove.

The poles for Fines Creek are on the ground, he said, and under the terms of the contract, the citizens of Fines Creek have agreed to clear the right-of-way for the lines. About 75 telephones will be installed in the area.

Mr. Smith said the longest line in this section would be the one from here to Maple Springs, a distance of about 25 miles. The cost of the Fines Creek project has been set at $33,600.

The Balsam-Hyatt Creek project is costing $28,400, and will add about 100 telephones to the present office.

There are about 20 telephones to be added from the Francis Cove line, which is costing in excess of $6,000, according to Mr. Smith.

All of the telephones for the three projects will be served by the Waynesville office.

Low Bids Of Nearly Half Million Made On 4-Lane Lake To Canton Highway

Low bids on the four-lane highway from Lake Junaluska to the Canton city limits were received by the State Highway Commission Tuesday for little under half million dollars. This does not include surfacing.

The project is an entirely new line, staying on the south side of the Southern Railway tracks from the Lake to Canton. Except for the two connection ends does the new line touch the present highway. The distance is 6.56 miles, which is some less than the present route.

There are more than a million yards of dirt to be moved in this project, and according to estimates of highway engineers, the work will take the better part of a year.

The lowbid on the general contract was made by Taylor Construction Company, of Asheville for $335,905.

T. F. Houser, also of Asheville, submitted the low bid for structures of $96,474.

Bare Brothers and Sheets of West Jefferson, had the low bid for removing buildings of $59,590.

As soon as the bids are rechecked, the formal awards will be made, and work is scheduled to begin within 20 days from that time.

Gets Service Pin

MISS IDA JEAN BROWN was given a 30-year service pin at a special dinner for telephone employees here Tuesday night. (See other pictures and details on page 5).

Peak Apple Blooms Seen For Haywood This Week

This weekend the mountain tops may be clear, but their sunny slopes will seem covered with a midwinter snow. Some 135,000 apple trees are scheduled to be in full bloom, the petals of their million blossoms reflecting the shimmering haze of the early spring sunlight.

Tones will range from the rich rose of the buds to the off-white of the falling blossoms. The trees in the valley will be a paler shade than their counterparts higher on the hillside. The sun's warmth brought them to maturity sooner, and that same warmth robbed them of their early deep pink tint.

Apple trees are like people—some are in a rush to get ahead, some trail along far behind the procession; and most manage to keep in step and arrive on time.

Prayer Offered By Clyde Pastor Before The House

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Rev. Dawsey D. Gross of Clyde, delivered the opening prayer in the House Monday.

The pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clyde prayed "for success of all just and righteous efforts by leaders of the various nations" and asked God "for the continued favor of grace upon the United Nations, upon the President, Congress, courts and agencies of this Government."

Singing Convention To Be Held Sunday

A singing convention will be held at the new Rocky Branch Baptist Church this Sunday night, April 29, starting at 7:30 o'clock. An invitation is extended to all quartets and other singers to take part.

This is the regular "Fifth Sunday" meeting of the convention. It is scheduled only whenever there is a fifth Sunday in any month.

Harry (Blue) Robinson, district vice president of the Jaycees, attended a meeting of North Carolina Jaycees in Albemarle Wednesday.

'Sunshine' Group Carrying Cheer To Many Shut-Ins

To a person with a big heart, a small purse is no obstacle—or at least not an insuperable one—Mrs. O. W. Shelton, the local point from which the Sunshine Club radiates, is a shining example.

Formed for the benefit of tubercular patients at the Western Carolina Sanitarium at Black Mountain, the Sunshine Club in Haywood County numbers about three hundred members. Under Mrs. Shelton's leadership, they supply books, clothing, stamps, and—most important of all—a friendly interest in the patients. "The doctors and nurses supply every medical need of the patient," Mrs. Shelton explains, "and they don't have any time left for the little personal things."

Mrs. Shelton knows entirely what she is talking about. She spent three years at the sanitarium. "I'm one of them, and they know it," she says of her present contacts with the patients. Very often a patient will talk more readily to Mrs. Shelton than to a professional worker, however kindly. The social worker in one ward came to her for help with one young girl. She was well enough to learn some sort of handicraft; she seemed interested enough in what others were doing—but she flatly refused to take up any such occupation herself. Mrs. Shelton immediately went to see the girl. "As long as they are using their hands, they are not worrying about themselves," she explains.

"The girl's trouble came out in a rush as soon as Mrs. Shelton stopped by to see her. She would love to make toys, but she had no money to pay for her first supplies. (Later supplies are paid for by the sale of previous work.) "Of course I gave her the money right away," Mrs. Shelton says, as if there could be no question about it.

Service Station Owners To Promote This Section

W. M. Burwell Dies At 72 In Asheville

Willis M. Burwell, 72, of Asheville, retired lumberman and salesman, died in an Asheville hospital Tuesday morning. He had been in ill health for several years.

Survivors include the widow, the former Miss Josie Hyatt of Waynesville, one daughter, Mrs. Raymond C. Manshin of Asheville; three sons, Miss Sara E. Burwell of Henderson, Mrs. Gertrude Smith of Charlotte, and Miss Anatha Burwell of Henderson, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon in Trinity Episcopal Church, Asheville with the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Tuton officiating. Interment was in Lewis Memorial Cemetery.

Burwell lived in Henderson and Boone prior to moving to Asheville five years ago. He was a member of Trinity Church.

Service station operators will be "ambassadors of good will" to the visitors in the community, as they carry out plans of giving liberal assistance to the Chamber of Commerce program. The operators at a dinner meeting here Tuesday night, adopted a program of distributing promotional material and information, and using the facilities of the organization.

The meeting with about 30 present was inaugurated by the board of directors, with Clinton C. Walker, a director, in charge. At the meeting, Dave Felton, president, outlined the objectives of the Chamber of Commerce, and the several ways in which service station operators could participate.

A general discussion was held regarding several phases of the program, such as distribution of local map, literature and information relative to the community at large.

Carl Beane, chairman of the advertising committee, explained some of the promotional pieces of literature which will soon be available for distribution.

$316 Paid In Fines To Mayor's Court Here On Monday

The Mayor's Court on Monday did a land office business, handling thirty cases with a total of $396 in costs and $30 more in fines. Six of the men arrested early Sunday morning for gambling paid $40 court costs each, the two owners of the house in which the gambling took place were fined $25 each.

Twenty-two cases of public drunkenness, all occurring on Saturday and Sunday came before the court. Fifteen paid costs of $13.50 each, three more were sentenced to thirty days on the roads; one received thirty-two days in jail; and the other three cases were continued.

Chorus Will Give Concert At Baptist Church

The concert chorus of the Waynesville Township High School, under the direction of Charles Isles will present a program of sacred music at the First Baptist Church, Sunday night at 8 o'clock. This will be a union service of the Presbyterian, Methodist, and Baptist churches and is the third concert of its kind presented by the chorus. The other concerts have been at the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches.

MISS BALLARD RECOVERING FROM FALL

Miss Louise Ballard, who received cuts about the face in a fall at her home at Lake Junaluska the first of the week, is reported getting along fine.

Magazine Writer Tells Of Cataloochee Trip

Cataloochee Ranch is the subject of an article in the March 8 issue of the Christian Science Monitor. Elizabeth Yates, describing her experiences on a park trip, highlights the importance of the Dude Ranch in the resort industry. She points out that Tom Alexander pioneered this type of recreation, for which there is still a great field in the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains.

Poll Books Open At Hazelwood

The registration books of the town of Hazelwood will open Saturday for the merger election set for May 26th.

All persons not properly registered on the town of Hazelwood books will have from April 28th to May 12th to do so. The books are at the Town Hall. May 19th is challenge day.

Detour On No. 19-23 To Come Down About May 15

With favorable weather, the detour signs east of Canton will come down about May 15th for Highway 19-23. It was learned today from engineers in the highway office.

The contractor plans to begin spreading rock on the new highway early next week, and about ten days will be required to complete this phase of the work, it was explained.

The rock for the job will come from near Woodrow, and the completion of the rocking will depend upon favorable weather conditions. Some traffic is being let through now, but is subject to delay, as equipment is working back and forth along the route. In wet weather all traffic is barred from going through.

When the section is opened, traffic will travel over the new road from the foot of the Canton hill to a point near the overpass over the railroad. From there, traffic will follow the old road to the Buncombe county line. The new bridge over the railroad near Turnpike will not be completed until about July or August.

Work on this section of road began about a year ago, and about 200,000 yards of dirt had to be moved. Some heavy fills had to be made, and rock was struck at places.
