Daniel Boone Lake Getting New Dam For Boy Scouts

Heavy dirt moving machinery working like beavers were moving tons and tons of earth for the new dam at Daniel Boone Boy Scout Camp on Pigeon River. The dam was damaged by floods several years ago, and last spring a campaign was inaugurated to raise money for a new dam. This staff picture was made from the diving stand, looking towards the lake-side of the dam. The stream can be seen at the bottom of the picture. Several shovels, and a fleet of trucks and bulldozers are engaged on the project. (Staff Photo)

'Modified Plan' For School Improvements Sought By 2 Boards

Lake Junaluska Set For Outstanding 1951 Program

The 1951 season at Lake Junaluska, the Methodist Church's summer assembly headquarters for nine southeastern states, will open June 3 and continue through Labor Day, September 3.

Dr. H. G. Allen, formerly Methodist district superintendent for six years at Winston-Salem, is starting his first season as superintendent of the Junaluska Assembly. He was elected last fall to succeed Dr. F. S. Love, who transferred to another administrative post as district superintendent at Elizabeth City.

"Record attendance is anticipated this season for a full three months of spiritual fellowship and educational service unmatched in our church," Dr. Allen said.

The traditional Haywood County opening day June 3 will be followed by two southeastern youth meetings — a leadership training conference for college students June 5-12, and a Caravan training center June 13-23. Both sessions will be sponsored by the church's General Board of Education.

Annual meeting of the Western North Carolina Woman's Society of Christian Service will be held at the Lake June 20-22. Mrs. J. W. Payne, Cherryville, is president. Annual conference of another women's group, the Wesleyan Service Guild, is scheduled for June 22-24.

Bishop Coston J. Harrell, Charlotte, will conduct a series of Bible lectures June 24-July 8.

A new feature will be the Candler Camp Meeting, named for the late Bishop Warren A. Candler of Georgia, to be held June 29-July 8. Keynoting the evangelistic mission will be Bishop Arthur J. Moore of Atlanta, Ga., newly-elected president of Methodism's Council of Bishops; Dr. Clovis G. Chappell, retired, a former pastor at Charlotte; Dr. Harry Harris of Nashville, Tenn., head of the Methodist Board of Evangelism; Song leader will be Homer Rodeheaver, Winona Lake, Ind., who teamed with Billy Sunday years ago.

Dr. Allen said that several regional workshops and conferences are scheduled in July and August. Two widely-known churchmen will serve as platform speakers after the camp meeting—Dr. Murdo Ewen MacDonald of Edinburgh, Scotland on July 9-10-11, and Evangelist Billy Graham on July 20.

Ex-Senator Frank P. Graham is tentatively scheduled as the June 25 Peace Day speaker. However, he has indicated that he may be abroad at that time.

Lions Make About $600 On Minstrel

Three women were the "hones" of the evening at the Lions Club meeting Thursday night. Mrs. C. O. Sewell was guest speaker. Her topic was "World Peace." Other guests were Mrs. Fred Campbell and Mrs. George Craig, invited in special appreciation of their work with the recent Minstrel Show of the club.

It was reported that some eight hundred adults and children had attended the show, benefiting the Lions' various projects to the extent of about $600.

Announcement was made of the State convention to be held at Winston-Salem May 20 through May 22. Among the Waynesville Lions planning to attend are Dr. Boyd Owen, new president; Charles Reed, secretary; Lawrence Leatherwood, retiring president; Claude Woodard and James Harden Howell, Jr.

MRS. GENEBACH ARRIVING FROM GERMANY

Mrs. L. B. Genebach, Jr. and small son, Dennis, will arrive in New York tomorrow from Karlsruhe, Germany and will come to Waynesville later in the week for a visit to the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin. Mrs. Genebach, the former Miss Eloise Martin, has been in Germany with her husband for the past two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin left Sunday to meet their daughter and grandson in New York.

State Plans Expensive, Boards Point Out

It became evident today that there is little chance of Haywood voters being called upon to vote for three million dollars in bonds for expanding Haywood schools.

Although no definite action has been taken in regards to the proposed program as outlined by the State Board for Haywood, it now looks like "a modified plan" of the state program will be proposed and presented the citizens for action.

The county commissioners, together with the board of education, spent an entire day discussing Haywood's school plant needs, and a solution to the problems. The joint session ended with both groups to study further the plans, and meet again at an early date.

In the meantime, the petitions signed by 1970 citizens, asking for an election, are being held up before formal presentation.

The state board of education has proposed a building program costing approximately three millions.

The local officials have had numerous citizens tell them that such a bond issue could not carry, and suggested a "modified program" which would cost considerably less than three millions.

It was at this point that the two boards held their joint session. The Mountaineer learned that Lindsey M. Guider, architect, has been called in to re-draft some proposed buildings, and additions to others and make an estimate of costs.

Some officials favor naming a "citizens committee" with each community represented, to work out a general county-wide program of meeting the needs of each area.

At best, an election on school bonds, would not now be called until sometime next fall—provided the officials can work out a satisfactory program costing less than three millions.

Drunken Driver Almost Crashed Funeral Cars

A Hazelwood man will face three charges Saturday, resulting from speeding into a funeral procession Sunday afternoon between Shady Grove church and Crawford Memorial Park, on Highway No. 284.

Patrolman Joe Murrill has charged the driver with driving drunk, hit and run, and improper brakes. The defendant is out on $300 bond.

The driver struck one car which had stopped for the funeral procession to pass, almost hit the carrying pallbearers, and sped on. Patrolman Murrill, who was leading the procession, radioed Cpl. Smith coming from an opposite direction, and the two officers cornered the driver and made the arrest.

Rotarians Hear High School Chorus

The high school chorus, under the direction of Charles Isley, gave a program for the Rotary Club here Friday. The group gave a series of religious and spiritual numbers.

County Health Board Holding Dental Clinic

A dental clinic is in progress in Haywood county, conducted by Dr. D. W. Dudley of the Dental Division of the State Board of Health.

This week he will be at the Fines Creek School Monday through Friday. The following week Dr. Dudley will be at the North Canton School; and for the two weeks beginning June 4, he will be at the Hazelwood School to take care of children referred from Hazelwood, Saunook, Allens Creek, East Waynesville and Central Elementary.

During this check-up period, the children are carefully screened. Most of those who need treatment are referred to their family dentist.

Dr. Dudley worked at the Lake Junaluska School and at the Bethel School the early part of this month.

High Schools Completing Commencement Plans

As the Senior classes of county high schools start their final week of classes and exams, plans for baccalaureate and commencement activities loom ever larger. Latest schools to announce programs are Crabtree-Iron Duff and Waynesville High schools.

Both schools have set Sunday, May 27, for their baccalaureates, which will be held in their respective auditoriums. Dr. Henry G. Allen will deliver the sermon at Crabtree at 2:30 p. m. Included on the program will be two numbers by the school glee club. Sixteen students are graduating.

Two ministers will join at the Waynesville baccalaureate services. Delivering the sermon will be the Rev. Broadus E. Wall, pastor of the First Baptist church. The Rev. J. E. Yountz will give the invocation and the benediction. The exercises will be held in the evening at 8:15 o'clock. Two anthems by the chorus and a hymn by the congregation will be on the program.

Crabtree-Iron Duff commencement exercises will take place on Tuesday evening. Principal speaker will be Dr. Clyde Erwin, superintendent of North Carolina Public Schools. Diplomas will be awarded by Mrs. Lucy Jones, Haywood County Superintendent. Three honor students will speak. Lois McCracken delivering the welcome address, Barbara Best speaking on "Our Future," and Bobbie Smith delivering the farewell address.

Graduation at Waynesville High will be held on Wednesday evening. Following established custom, the seniors will deliver the principal addresses. Margaret Reese is salutatorian and Betty Franklin is salutatorian. Other speakers include Anne Bischoff, Mary Chase Hall and Malcolm Williamson, Jr. The invocation and benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Malcolm R. Williamson, pastor of the Waynesville Presbyterian church. M. H. Bowles will present the diplomas.

Included in the exercises will be the presentation of the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Awards and the Beta Sigma Phi Scholarship Award. Several musical selections will complete the program.

J. Boone Sentelle Dies At Home On Pigeon Road

J. Boone Sentelle, 74, well-known Haywood County cattle raiser and fox hunter, died Saturday morning at his home on the Pigeon Road after an extended illness.

He was a native and lifelong resident of the county and was the son of the late R. A. and Rebecca Blalock Sentelle.

Funeral services will be held in Bethel Baptist Church Tuesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Thomas Erwin officiating. Interment will be in Green Hill Cemetery here.

Active pallbearers will be Richard McElroy, Harris, Harry, Jack, Horace, and Gwyn Sentelle, nephews.

Honorary pallbearers will be J. L. Stringfield, Dr. Tom Stringfield, Sr., Frank Guy, Hugh Leatherwood, Sebe Bryson, Henry Gaddy, David Underwood, Hugh Rogers, S. J. Reece, Sam Medford, Robert McCracken, Walter Franklin, Bill Frazier, Carl Edwards, Gordon Francis, Wiley Franklin, Robert Boone, Rue Riddle, R. C. Love, Tom Morgan, Rufus Russell, John Hardin, and T. Mrs. Glenn Noland, Mrs. Fred L. Safford, and Mrs. Albert Ferguson, chapter mothers, were recognized.

Following the program a social hour was held with members of the Crabtree-Iron Duff F.H.A. and the chapter mothers serving as hostesses.

Strolling Cow In Path Of Truck Caused Damage

A strolling cow walking along Highway No. 19 at Dellwood caused $150 damage to a new truck Sunday. The cow walked into the path of the truck. The animal was knocked down, bruised, but walked away from the scene rather unconcerned about the incident.

Cpl. Pritchard Smith said that had the vehicle been a passenger car instead of a truck, that the wreck would have perhaps been more serious.

Boy Scout Troops Slate Scout-o-Ral

All Boy Scout troops in Haywood County have been invited to take part in the Pigeon River District Scout-o-Ral at Champion Park, Canton, on June 2.

A number of contests in various Scouting activities will be held, beginning at 1 o'clock. Winner's store will give a trophy to the winning troop.

Meetings are scheduled Monday night at the Court House in Waynesville, at Bethel School, and at Ratcliffe Cove for members of the Home Demonstration club. Tuesday's meeting will be at Waynesville High; and Wednesday's at Clyde. Meetings later in the week will be held at Crabtree and Fines Creek High Schools. All meetings are at 7:30 p. m.
