College President

Dr. Charlton C. Jernigan will assume the duties of president of Queens College in August. James J. Harris, member of the Queens Board of Trustees and chairman of the committee to select a president, has announced. Dr. Jernigan, a native North Carolinian who received his doctor of philosophy degree from Duke University, is leaving his position as head of the Department of Classics at Florida State University, Tallahassee, to accept the presidency of Queens.

A native of Dunn, Dr. Jernigan served as chairman of the Department of Classics at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, from 1935 to 1949. Since that time he has been at Florida State University. "Not the least of the attractions of the presidency of Queens is the opportunity to return to the educational field in North Carolina," he stated.

Variation On Herrin St.

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif.—(AP)—What this city needs, Councilman William Suppe told his fellow lawmakers at a recent meeting, is someone in the street department who can spell.

He complained that misspelled street signs in many sections of the city are confusing the citizenry. "For instance," he said, "take Herrin St. It is spelled four different ways in a distance of four blocks. It varies from herrin to heron to herin to herring."

U. S. Flag At Camp Junaluska Has Interesting History

The United States Flag, which floats over Camp Junaluska for Girls, has a history that makes it one of the most interesting pieces of national bunting to be found anywhere in America. Its history was retold to the campers at a flag ceremony in the recreational hall of the camp on July Fourth.

The flag was given to Camp Junaluska in 1930 by Col. E. P. Easterbrook and was presented in appropriate ceremonies by his daughter, Mrs. J. Lawton Collins. The flag was used by Col. Easterbrook in the front line areas during World War I. When the armistice was signed and the American army of occupation made ready to march in Germany, Colonel Easterbrook was made chief of chaplains and went to Coblenz where the Americans were stationed. With him went the flag which he had used during the fighting days.

Upon reaching Coblenz, Col. Easterbrook began looking around for a place in which to hold religious services. All the churches of Germany were in use by their own congregations. He finally discovered that the one unused church or chapel in all Germany was the private chapel of the former Kaiser in the royal palace. This was immediately taken over and for two and one-half years was used as a place of worship for the American soldiers and their families. Upon taking over the chapel Col. Easterbrook draped the altar with the flag which he carried into Germany.

The flag went with Col. Easterbrook to Paris when he took part in the ceremony of dedication of the tomb of the unknown soldier and it was used for draping the altar of the chapel when Miss Gladys Easterbrook, daughter of Col. Easterbrook was married to J. Lawton Collins then a captain in the U. S. Army.

When the army of occupation was withdrawn from Germany Col. Easterbrook brought with him back to America the flag about which so many memories cling.

Before his retirement Col. Easterbrook met Miss Ethel McCoy, owner and director of Camp Junaluska and became intensely interested in the work she was doing. In 1930 he joined her corps of camp officials as the official chaplain.

Since the presentation of the flag Gen. and Mrs. Collins and their daughters have been a part of the life at Camp Junaluska.

Home Furnishings Feel Pinch In Building Slowdown

NEW YORK—(AP)—The slowdown in home building under federal restrictions on credit is now expected to have an impact on house furnishings and other retail dealers.

Frederick E. Gibson, president of the Long Island Home Builders Institute, reports that surveys show that new home buyers spend an average of $1,450 for furniture, electrical appliances, hardware, draperies, dishes and other household items.

"A total of 64,000 dwellings were built in the four Long Island counties alone last year," he said. "If 1951 production drops 60 per cent, as now indicated, this will mean an expenditure of about $37,000,000 for such accessories instead of the $92,000,000 spent by buyers of 1950 homes."

Vitamin B-12, a new one just discovered, is found largely in liver, and is important in the treatment of pernicious anemia.

The addition of a controlled amount of soda ash to clay makes stronger bricks.

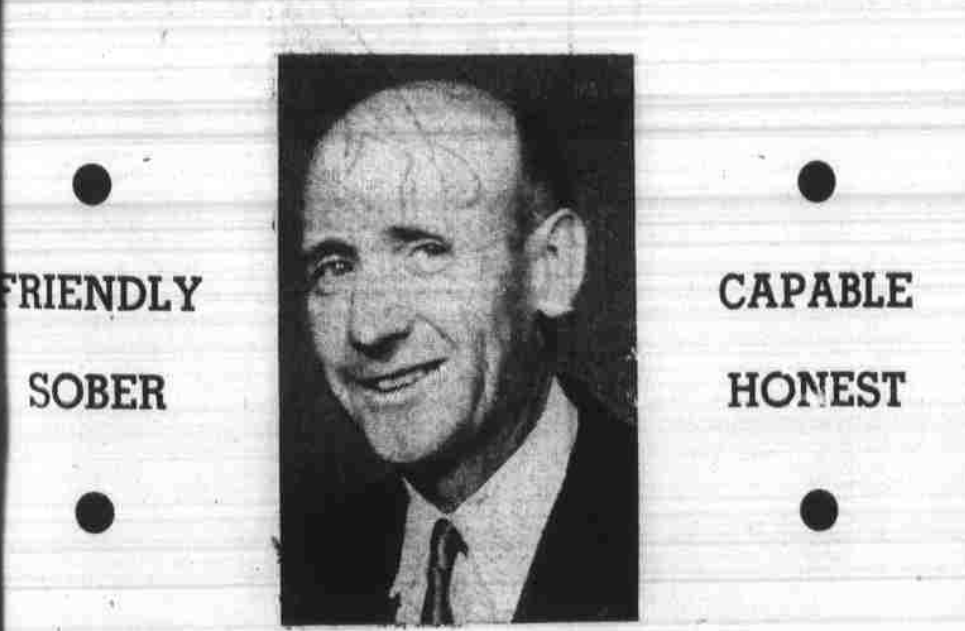

The story of the flag is retold each Fourth of July.
