TODAY'S SMILE
At 20 you blush when a man praises you; at 30 you think him a clever fellow; at 40 you wonder what he wants.

Famed Evangelist Shown Beauties Of Junaluska

Dr. Elmer T. Clark, left, is shown pointing towards Lambuth Inn from the Cross hill at Lake Junaluska, as Dr. H. G. Allen, superintendent, center, looks on, and Evangelist Billy Graham, right, enjoys the view from the spot. In the background is the large cross, and the 250-acre lake below. Southern Bell Planning Dial System, New Building Here

Several Rural Projects In Haywood Now Nearing Early Completion.

Telephone workmen are pushing to completion two major rural projects in Haywood—one in the Balsam-Hyatt Creek area, and the other in Fines Creek.

Within a few weeks, more than 100 telephones will be put into service from the Balsam-Hyatt Creek section. J. Lovell Smith, district manager, announced today. This project is costing about $28,000, and workmen are now connecting instruments on the newly strung lines.

Other crews are busy pushing the lines into the Fines Creek area, which will be the longest span in the rural areas in this section of the state. The Fines Creek project is fifty per cent completed, Mr. Smith said, and 79 telephones should be in service by September 30, he explained.

The crews of workmen have the wires strung on poles down into the Fines Creek area. The most distant phone will be about 25 miles from Waynesville.

The Fines Creek project is costing about $34,000, Mr. Smith said, as he paid special tribute to the citizens of the area, who cleared the right-of-ways for the poles. "I have never seen people more cooperative, and better to work with," he continued, as he told of how they cleared the right-of-ways of all growth so workmen could get in and erect the poles for the cable and wires.

Not long ago the 28 telephones of the Francis Cove area were connected at a cost of $14,000, Mr. Smith said.

As to the proposed Jonathan Creek lines, Mr. Smith said the local office was crowded to the maximum, and he expected the Jonathan Creek project would have to come when the new building was completed, and more equipment available to handle the service from that area.

Putting Up Rural Phone Lines

Workmen are shown pulling telephone wires on the poles for the new line into Fines Creek. The lines are now up to Fines Creek. This picture was made as workmen strung the lines on the pole at Joe Palmer's fish pond in Crabtree, not far from the Fines Creek township line. Service is due to begin September 30. (Staff Photo).

Academy Street Property Bought For Site Of Modern Telephone Building

Waynesville is scheduled to get a dial telephone system, and a new, modern telephone building—when possible.

This was the statement of J. Lovell Smith, district manager, to The Mountaineer today.

Mr. Smith said the company now owns a lot—100 by 180 feet—on Academy Street, which will be the site for a modern building for the dial system and local offices.

Building restrictions, and shortage of materials essential to converting over to dial makes it impossible to set a definite date for starting either project, Mr. Smith said.

"We want to get the project underway just as soon as practical," he said. "We want to get the system in Waynesville enlarged in order to take care of the many people on the waiting list for telephone service," he continued.

The Waynesville office now has 2750 telephones, and a number on the waiting list.

The lot on which the telephone building will be erected was part of the Oak Park property, and faces the Baptist church. No amounts were announced as to the price paid for the lot.

Mr. Smith would not give a hint as to when he thought work would get underway. It is understood the dial system will not be installed until the building is erected to take care of the equipment.

B. Graham Attracts A Record Audience

One of the largest audiences ever to assemble in Haywood county packed the auditorium at Lake Junaluska Friday night to hear Evangelist Billy Graham. Many of the 2,000 seats in the auditorium were taken three hours before time for the services. Hundreds stood around the walls of the auditorium, while scores filled benches on the lawn around the auditorium. Conservative estimates were that between 3500 and 4000 attended the services.

A song service under the direction of Dr. Cyrus Daniel, director of music, began 35 minutes earlier than the scheduled 8 o'clock services.

Parking space was at a premium, with a half dozen officers packing vehicles into every nook and corner on the lots about the auditorium.

Within ten minutes after the services were over, the auditorium was emptied, and steady streams of cars poured from the lots.

Dr. H. G. Allen, superintendent of the Lake, recognized the Evangelist's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graham, of Charlotte. Rev. John Brascomb, of Orlando, Fla. (See Graham—Page 4)

Hearing Postponed

The water-sewer hearing scheduled for Saturday before Judge Dan K. Moore has been indefinitely postponed by mutual consent of all parties.

The hearing was the outgrowth of an injunction over the water-sewer controversy between Waynesville and Hazelwood.

New Town Board Takes Oath Of Office Saturday

Officials of the newly elected municipal government of Waynesville took office on Saturday. Mayor J. H. Way was sworn in on Saturday afternoon by Justice of the Peace W. C. Medford. Earlier the three aldermen took the oath from Dixie Campbell, assistant Clerk of the Court. Aldermen are Joe Linder, Henry Miller and Henry Gaddy. The officials were named on the town elections July 17.

Car Undamaged In Freak Mishap At Lake Sunday

No damage of any kind was the fortunate result of an accident Sunday when a Cadillac spun around three times in the middle of the road. The mishap occurred on Highway 19 near the west gate of Lake Junaluska. According to the State Highway Patrol, the road was slippery from rain and one tire of the car was worn. As the driver stepped on the brakes, the car turned around three times, but did not leave the road. No damage was reported.

First Inter-Community Picnic Has Big Crowd

The 1951 season of inter-community Field Days got off to a flying start Saturday as Allens Creek Community played host to West Pigeon. About 230 persons attended the all-day event, which included visits to the homes and farms of the host community, group singing, special music, a horse shoe pitching contest, softball games, tractor driving, and a picnic of "everything you can think of to eat."

The only Field Day scheduled for this week is on Thursday, when South Clyde will visit Jonathan Creek-Cove Creek.

Group singing was led by the Rev. Kay Allen of Allens Creek and the Rev. Clyde L. Collins of West Pigeon. West Pigeon furnished a trio composed of Tommy Owen, Harry Owen and Buddy Mull; Allens Creek girls Betty Farmer and Joyce Caldwell sang a duet; and small Delores Wyatt sang a solo. (See First Picnic—Page 6)

Bishop Moore Tells Crowd World Needs To Practice Christianity Principles

LAKE JUNALUSKA — Bishop Arthur J. Moore issued a plea here Sunday for a return to that indefinable quality of our forefathers considered typical of the Southland that expressed itself in hospitality, graciousness, loyalty and service to God.

Bishop Moore was delivering the Conference Sermon Sunday morning for the Southeastern Methodist Missionary Conference which closes here Tuesday. The auditorium was filled as it is filled for few other speakers. He was one of the three speakers for the Candler Camp Meeting held earlier this season which attracted record crowds to this Southeastern Methodist Assembly. People from miles around came back today to hear one of their favorites, Bishop Moore.

In his characteristically missionary message, Bishop Moore declared, "The ebb and flow of human history does not cancel out the commission of God. His message is not for an age, but for the ages, and it must be carried out in the framework of the current problems of the world. It is in this atmosphere that the church is to preach the gospel to the whole creation. 'Our world stands at the edge of an abyss today not because we have failed economically, or politically,' he continued, 'but because our efforts to practice Christianity have been too shallow and our efforts too few.'"

Church Leaders Impressed With Haywood's Program For Rural Development

Methodist ministers from nine Southeastern states contentedly sampled Haywood county hospitality Saturday as they viewed the results of the three-year old Community Development Program. They went away amazed and inspired.

They also went away convinced—if they needed any convincing—of the effectiveness of "less preaching about fire and brimstone and more preaching about lime and phosphate."

Farm, church and civic leaders of Haywood county joined forces three years ago in a Community Development program that has replaced broomsage and poor farms with rich, green, productive hillsides. Roads have been improved. Schools have been enlarged and remodeled. Churches have been rebuilt and beautified. The people are happier and more economically secure. And you couldn't buy an acre of land in the county for less than $1,000, even if you could find someone who could be talked into selling.

These ministers, attending the Missionary Conference in session at Lake Junaluska, toured the county as part of the Rural Church program directed by the Rev. James W. Sells, Atlanta, Ga. Haywood County Agent Wayne Corpening and Home Demonstration Agent Mary Cornwell conducted the farm, home and community tour.

Before the tour, the group gathered at the beautifully but simply re-decorated Elizabeth Chapel Methodist Church in the Ratcliffe Cove community for a delicious country dinner. They heard talks by the leader of the rural church board of Commissioners. The picture was made at Elizabeth Chapel, where lunch was served. (See Farm Tour—Page 4)

The Subject Is 'Rural Churches and Soil Conservation.'

—a natural subject for these four to discuss on the farm tour staged in Haywood Saturday. On the left is Dr. S. F. Dowis, of Atlanta, head of the rural church program of the Southern Baptist convention; Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation program, Prof. I. S. Ingram, president of West Georgia College, Carrollton, Ga., and Charles C. Francis, chairman of the Haywood board of Commissioners. The picture was made at Elizabeth Chapel, where lunch was served.
