Wellco's 10th Birthday

Sixteen pages of this edition are being devoted to the observance of the 10th anniversary of Wellco Shoe Corporation. This progressive, and fast growing firm, started here in a meager way back in 1941. Today the products are sold in all 48 states and several of the territories of the United States, and the demand is ever increasing for the popular shoes manufactured here.

The company is constantly expanding, and based on past records, the firm is destined to continue to grow, and give many others in this county steady employment.

When the firm began in a small way just 10 years ago, very few would have consented to have been quoted as predicting a million dollar payroll in ten years. Yet that is what has been accomplished.

The past history of Wellco Shoe has been one of constant growth; the future is just as encouraging as the past has been successful.

House Cleaning

Judge Dan Moore, superior court judge of this district, is getting much favorable press comment for his action in the Rockingham county court, as he set out to clear the civil docket of many moss-covered cases which have continued to clutter the docket for years.

The Raleigh News and Observer said editorially:

If nothing like it has ever happened before in its history, Judge Dan K. Moore is making the right kind of history in announcing that he is going to clean off the calendar of the Richmond County Superior Court cases on which have aged on it without settlement.

The report from Rockingham is that during the July term, Judge Moore discovered that some 150 civil cases have been on the calendar term after term during the past ten years. The number has reached such a volume that much time is taken up at each term calling up these old cases only to find the litigants or the attorneys are not ready for trial. Some of them never will be.

Other counties must have similar accumulations. And good judicial housekeeping should long ago have suggested the course Judge Moore is following now.

Funny Things Can Happen When People Close Their Eyes To Public Affairs

What happens in Winston-Salem is important, in this instance, to Chatham County only because it serves to illustrate a point we're about to make: that public indifference to the affairs of government can create situations by which politicians take powers unto themselves that were not intended to be left in their hands.

Several years ago the people of Winston-Salem voted in favor of the city manager form of government and, after a lengthy search, a man by the name of C. E. Perkins was hired to fill the job.

In the intervening years Perkins did an amazingly competent job as even his worst enemies would readily admit. But the politicians in the City Hall didn't like him because he couldn't be "run". He did his job without regard to political implications involved and in the course of so doing he trod upon the toes of sensitive politicians.

More than a year ago these politicians set out to "get" Perkins. They tried all the old tricks—they accused him of appropriating city materials to his personal use. They passed around sly innuendoes about his personal affairs. They said he had a bad temper. They accused him of side-tracking Winston-Salem firms to do business with outsiders. This is an old, old formula. It is the "smear" which has grown in favor among politicians because they can use it without too much fear of being called to account.

Perkins went about his business despite the fact that he was a controversial figure—intensity of the controversy growing each day as public apathy continued to encourage the politicians.

On a Friday night several weeks ago the politicians acted. They passed a resolution over the protest of Winston-Salem's city attorney and "fired" Mr. Perkins. He knew it was coming—and it was common knowledge around the Twin City that even the Perkins successor had been chosen and was almost signed, sealed and ready to be delivered before the "firing" took place.

Of course the indignation of the people popped up after the summary action of the politicians. But it was too late. A fine servant had been sacrificed on the altar of cheap politics and the people deprived of the services of a man against whom his enemies could find little of criticism leave—only that he had a temper and that the board had the right to fire a city manager at its discretion.

The Perkins successor has been hired. He is John D. Gold, former police chief of Winston-Salem and more recently director of North Carolina State Prison. Gold is a capable man. He has had no previous experience as a city manager and Winston-Salem's municipal business is big business.

We wonder if Mr. Gold realizes that the same forces which brought to an end the worthwhile services rendered by Mr. Perkins could well be used to throw him out on his ear in the event that a change in the nature of the politicians in the City Hall were to be brought about.

And we wonder, too, if the "Perkins incident" won't serve to revive public interest in Winston-Salem's government so that a recurrence of demagogic practices won't become standard operating procedure.

It all adds up: public apathy can create some darned peculiar situations.

RALEIGH Round-up
by JAMES H. ROU BAILEY

INVENTION—Ben McDonald of Wilmington, North Carolina's most listened to commentator, had this to say on Wilmington's WMFD and a chain of five other stations, the other day.

"There's a big, big feature story for the newspaper boys at Lake Waccamaw, Columbus County, and it concerns Harry Smith, the operator of the famous Anchorage. Mr. Smith has had a big-time invention patented, and if the shortage of materials doesn't stop its immediate manufacture, Harry Smith has earned what any man would consider a fortune.

"I am given to understand that the largest manufacturers in the country are bidding for the rights to produce the new deep fat fryer invented by the capable restaurant operator."

Ben McDonald probably merits another scoop on that one. Matter of fact, Smith has a patent on a type of copper netting which makes it possible for you to cook fish in a deep fat fryer, pull the netting through the grease and then use it as virtually pure grease again for potatoes. Follow this with chicken if you wish; and there is still no potato or fish odor in the grease. So on and so forth. Westinghouse is one of the firms tremendously interested in the device. Others are said to be bidding for it.

It couldn't happen to a nicer guy than Harry Smith, who is known and loved by prominent folks, politicians included, throughout Southeastern North Carolina.

STATE PAYROLLS — Total state government payrolls went up $17,000,000 in the year ending last April 3, according to the Census Bureau. Two states, Maine and Massachusetts, reduced their payrolls during the 12 months' period and about half the states reduced the number of State employees.

The Census Bureau reports that eight states—New York, California, NORTH CAROLINA, Pennsylvania, Texas, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan—accounted for practically one-half of all payrolls and 44 per cent of all employees of the 48 state governments.

LEADER—Meantime, the U. S. Commerce Department reports that North Carolina led the South last year in total income with $3,880,000,000. Total income includes wages and salaries, farm income, Government payments, and all other forms of income to residents of this State.

HIGH COTTON — Looking at either our State payroll or our income, we seem to be walking in pretty high cotton, tobacco, textiles, corn, or what have you.

SIX AND NINE—The Interstate Commerce Commission three weeks ago in action given too little attention in N. C. raised rail freight rates nine percent in the North and East and only six percent in the South.

The ICC is now moving to put all rail freight rates on a uniform basis for the South, East, and North. For 50 years the South has been pleading for this. It is now coming to pass, thanks largely to strong Southern representation in the Congress for the past 20 years.

An end to freight rate discrimination will enable the South to hold in the future the plants which are being planned for this area by a Government needing industry a safe distance from populous (and atomic-attractive) areas.

Voice of the People

- What are you doing on Labor Day?
- Mrs. Glenn Wyatt: "I don't know what I am going to do, but I'll probably go to Cherokee to see my mother."
 - Mrs. William Withers: "I expect to be carrying out the plans we have made for the entertainment of sixteen salesmen who will be Wellco's guests over Labor Day week-end."
 - Mary Dorcas Howell: "I'll be packing my bags to go to school. I hope I leave for Cullowhee a week from Monday."
 - Mrs. Kyle Campbell: "I guess we'll go on the last picnic of the season. We'll go to Canton and Hendersonville to see the parades."
 - Mrs. Ed Hill: "I expect we'll be in Newport News, Va., where we are going to live. My husband gets home Sunday morning from the National Guard encampment, and we'll leave Sunday evening for Virginia."
 - Herb Singletary: "My brother has just arrived for a visit, and if we're not working, we'll be off somewhere together."
 - Moslem Shrine
The principal shrine of the Moslems is the Kaaba, at Mecca, which marks the birthplace of Mohammed. All Arabs face its direction to pray and all believers who can are required to make at least one pilgrimage there during their lifetime.

Rambling 'Round
—Bits Of Human Interest News—
By Frances Gilbert Frazier

Three attractive young ladies took their places alongside of us in the pew as we were attending church last Sunday. After scanning the bulletin, one of the young ladies leaned over and whispered: "Is there another Presbyterian Church in Waynesville?" and before we could reply, she continued: "You see, we have traveled miles out of our way to see Charles Isley, the choir director, and this isn't the church." We directed her to the Baptist Church and as they quietly left, she leaned over and whispered to us: "Right pew but wrong church."

So many times we think we need consolation when what we really need is common sense.

It makes all the difference in the world how people spend their time during six days of the week as to how they regard Sunday. To us who glare at the clock when the alarm pulls us to waking consciousness on six successive mornings, Sunday offers everything; rest, peace, church benediction, mingling with friends, relaxation and preparation for the coming six days, Sunday passes like a dream... all too soon.

to whom the preceding week had been all Sundays, the day and by afternoon boredom down with a heavy hand somehow, we believe us, the weekers get more out of the week than the seven-Sunday people.

Heard in passing... she heard him whistle... saw us just in time.

Three ladies were introduced at a tea reception they began the usual conversation: "Where are you from?" "I am from New York," one of the ladies said. "Where are you from?"
