

DEATHS

JOHN H. DYER

John H. Dyer, 79, retired farmer, died suddenly at 6:30 Thursday morning at the home of a son, Hascue Dyer, in Ratcliffe Cove, Mr. Dyer was a native of Haywood County, the son of the late John and Katie Chambers Dyer. Most of his life was spent in Haywood County until 1937, when he moved to Buffalo, S. C. He returned to Waynesville a few months prior to his death.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ethel Brown Dyer; two daughters, Mrs. O. M. Mason of Canton and Mrs. Milas M. Haney of Buffalo; four sons, Hascue Dyer of Route 1, Waynesville; Joe Dyer of Del Rio, Tenn.; James Dyer of Union, S. C.; and Joseph Dyer of Buffalo. One sister, Mrs. Mary Huffman of Hazelwood, and a number of grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from the Ratcliffe Cove Baptist Church. Officiating will be the Rev. Oder Burnett. Interment will be in the Ratcliffe Cove Cemetery. Mr. Dyer's body will remain at the home of Hascue Dyer in Ratcliffe Cove until time for the services.

Garrett Funeral Home is in charge.

JAMES H. NANNEY

James Henderson Nanney, 63, employee of the Champion Paper and Fibre Company, died Tuesday at his home on Dix Creek following a brief illness.

He was a native of Rutherford County but had resided in Haywood County for the past 24 years.

Surviving are the widow and one son, Floyd, of the home.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 3 p. m. in Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Dix Creek. The Rev. Thomas Erwin and the Rev. P. C. Hicks officiated. Burial was in Henderson Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jim Clark, Henry Hyde, Dewey Deaver, Guy Singleton, Will Kuykendall and Dock Burress. Members of the Women's Missionary Society of Mt. Zion Church were flowerbearers.

Wells Funeral Home was in charge.

Can't Change Fish

Man can never control ocean conditions sufficiently to change seriously the sea's balance of life. This conclusion was advanced by scientists at a recent meeting of California's marine research committee, representing the division of fish and game, Scripps Institute of Oceanography, U. S. fish and wildlife service, California Academy of Sciences, and members of the same industry. The committee was created in 1947 by the legislature and was making its report to the public on information obtained from the coordinated study.

Beaverdam Community
Warmly Appreciative Of
Ratcliffe Cove HospitalityMRS. GEORGE F. WORLEY
Mountaineer Reporter

The people of Beaverdam Community are going on record with sincere thanks to the people of Ratcliffe Cove for their hospitality during Saturday's field day. Comment was that the farmers of that section could not help but be good ones—they had such good cooks to keep them well fed!

Among the places of particular interest and help to the visitors were the Frank Leopard and Lem Leopard poultry houses, the flowers of Bramlett Stone and Theodore Raby, beef cattle at Jarvis Allison's and at Jack Felmer's, C. C. Francis' dairy 4-H heifers, the ladino clover, orchard grass and tobacco at the home of R. C. Francis, and the Reeves Noland dairy farm. Building jobs that gave ideas were the remodeled home and barn of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Howell, the new, modern home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Ratcliffe, and the remodeled Methodist church.

Beaverdam Community also wishes to thank Patrolman Wooten for his kindness in escorting the group from the Beaverdam school to Ratcliffe Cove.

There will be an all-day get-together Sunday, September 30, at the Old Bear Willow where the church and school used to be, on the head of Beaverdam near the Haywood and Buncombe line. Everyone is invited to be there, and all who go to spend the day are urged to take lunch. Speaking, singing and preaching are planned during the day. If it happens to be rainy or otherwise bad weather, the group will meet at Long's Branch Church.

The revival has closed at the Long's Branch Church, Mr. Wise, the pastor, wishes to thank the REA power line folks for their work in putting in electric lights to this mountain church, thus enabling members to carry on their services better.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Beaverdam Methodist Church met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Mary Liner.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Bill Boone, Mary Evelyn Robinson read the Scripture, and prayer was led by Mrs. Mabel Harris.

Mrs. Harris had charge of the program. Others helping were Mrs. Mae Robinson, Mrs. Brunell Worley, Mrs. Charlotte Boone, Mrs. Liner and Mrs. Winnie Worley.

Reports from the various committees were heard. Refreshments were served by the hostess during the social chat.

Ten next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Bill Boone.

Mrs. Gertrude Wise of Asheville spent Monday night with her sister, Mrs. Chester Worley.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee have built a modern new home, Beaverdam folk want to welcome them to the community.

Edith Scott, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Scott, is ill at her home.

Harley Reno of South Carolina, brother of Mrs. Will Sorrells, is much improved at his home.

Perry Harbin, father of Mrs. Frank Robinson, remains ill at his home in Canton.

Mrs. Robert Messer, Miss Gladys Henson and Mrs. John Johnson; Individual Farm Exhibits—Herman J. Rogers, chairman; Henry Garner, L. C. Moody, Mrs. Lou Singleton, C. S. Rollins and Watt Howell;

Flowers—Mrs. Cody, chairman; Mrs. Don Stevenson, Mrs. Jim Queen, Mrs. Kate Terrell, Mrs. Edgar Burnette and Mrs. Alma Cathey; Home Canning and Baking—Mrs. Henry Garner, chairman; Mrs. Martin Rogers, Mrs. Way Mease, Mrs. Coleman Trull, Mrs. Delmar Rogers and Mrs. Will Kuykendall; Junior Booth Department—F. A. Cathey, chairman, with the county agent and the vocational agriculture and home economics teachers as advisers.

There will also be community booths, under the direction of the chairman of each community.

One-Handed
Typist

SPEED CHAMP Marlene Cooley, 18, of Salt Lake City won a typing speed award after six weeks of study—using only her left hand. Marlene was stricken with polio when she was 13, leaving her right arm crippled and useless. She learned to play the piano again with one hand. That gave her the idea to study typing. After six weeks her speed was 33.3 words a minute—with still errors. In two more weeks her average was 39.4 words.

Thelma Ritter Isn't Bit
Sorry Stardom Was Slow

HOLLYWOOD—It took movie stardom a long time to catch up with Thelma Ritter, but she isn't sorry a bit.

"When you're young and in a business you love," says the screen's self-styled American peasant, "that's enough."

The business Thelma loved—and still does—was show business. At eight she was a professional monologist ($20 and expenses per show). Before the movies got her, she acted in New England stock companies for 14 years and in radio for nine.

Movies have been generous to her, Thelma thinks; she's had "all the breaks," and getting in was "an accident."

That opening was, of course, her memorable bit part as a tired shopper consulting a department store Santa Claus, Edmund Gwenn, in "Miracle on 34th Street". Her scene was filmed while the picture was on location in New York, where Thelma was in radio. The director and his wife knew her from their earlier years in the theater.

Studio Boss Darryl Zanuck had her flown here later for an added day's shooting to build up the part. Then Director Joe Mankiewicz wrote her into "A Letter to Three Wives" as Ann Southern's housekeeper and "All about Eve" as Bette Davis' maid.

Fan mail shows Thelma's strongest appeal is to what she calls "solid, older people. I get wonderful reviews in London. Mankiewicz says that to them I'm the American cockney. A gal who's not impressed with anybody, including herself."

Miss Ritter's latest fat roles get her out of an apron at least. In "Kitty and the Marriage Broker", she finds Jeanne Crain a husband; in "With a Song in My Heart", she nurses injured Jane Froman (Susan Hayward) back to health.

Between her three films per year she lives in New York, where her husband, Joe Moran, is an advertising executive. They met in a stock company when Joe was an actor, too. Their children are Tony, 13, and Monica, 11.

Recently Miss Ritter addressed the student body at her old high

Rugged Styles
Look Nice To

A completely new and strictly functional, efficiency yet completely is on hand this Fall for wives and their equally sisters in defense-plants.

Outfits made of slacks and cotton, though with and flounces, are cut in efficient look that's defining.

Alien-one wrap-around with brief cap sleeves is to be buttoned at the neck in front. Mammoth side large enough to stow gear or household help.

Designed for "Rene" as well as the housewife, sturdier outfits of heavy denim jackets in two ton slacks, adjustable pedal pushers or middie.

To youngsters who think would like to act, she self-test for aptitude "rather act than eat" the times when you will.
