

er Pigeon Resident d At Farewell Party

BAVER SHEFFIELD
Mountaineer Reporter

Residents are sorrowful to see Mr. and Mrs. Hardin and daughter Doris, who are leaving the community.

The quarterly payment for the community group insurance is due by October 10. This payment can be made to Mrs. Glenn Abel at Abel's Grocery at the intersection of the Henson Cove road and the highway. It is necessary that we keep the entire 75 per cent of the group covered, so be sure that your payment is in on time.

Dale Mease, Josh Welch and Nancy Welch were MYF delegates from Long's Methodist Church to the Greensboro conference. Bucky West was the delegate from Bethel Methodist Church.

Friends of Bill Sheffield of Detroit, Mich., were sorry to learn of his sudden death on Sunday night. His brother Weaver lives in Center Pigeon.

Miss Sarah Shook of Elizabethton, Tenn., spent last week with Mrs. C. B. Evans.

Miss Edna Mae West has started her senior year at Piedmont College.

Shorthorns Are Scarce In Haywood

Shorthorns will be shown Friday and Saturday, although there are only a few herds in the county. David Boyd is superintendent of entries in this class.

Fabrics Show Off On Coats

More than ever, this Fall, the excitement of the fabric lends a focal point of fashion interest to new coats.

For shaggy textured fabrics like poodle cloth, wool with nubby surfaces, fleeces, many with the look of fur, flannel in every shade of grey, long hair blended wools, velvet, Demorest, Ga.

Pvt. James H. West is stationed at Shepherd Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

vely velour-style fabrics and plaids are used for shortie and full length flared coats and even most dramatically, for newly revived fitted fashions.

In fitted fashions, belts often provide an extra nipped-in effect to the waistline. Princess styles in both single and double-breasted versions are back. And on all, the moulding lines of the coat are complemented with tiny high - rising collars or over-size collars that have dashing cape effects and, in many instances, a gently swirling skirt.

Also fresh and new for coats is the careful control of flare. Here, the flare, rather than being concentrated, is re-distributed for a more all-around appearance. Linings often zoom out in bright contrasting colors, sometimes warm plain tones, sometimes gay plaids, that may match the shade of the costume worn beneath the coat.

Also new are the collarless necklines that close for warmth high up on the neckline. And side closed necklines, like, for example, a side buttoned collar, a one-sided attached stole or a closing that's entirely wrappy and asymmetrical.

Rounded sleeves provide a most feminine contrast to new slimmer silhouette coats. And there is a tendency to use dress-up fabrics, such as velours featured in houndstooth and tattersall checks and interesting color combinations such as oxford grey and purple, for more casual fashion coats.

Modern Breeding Methods Pay Off

Three years ago, John Carver was pictured with the first artificially bred heifer calf in the county's breeding program. Now in the herd of E. E. Morgan on the Eagle's Nest Road, she's "milking nicely". The Haywood County Cooperative Breeding Association is offering a cash prize for the best artificially bred calf shown in each dairy breed.

William Burnett Now At Norfolk

William L. Burnett, seaman, U. S. Navy, has been transferred from the carrier USS Palau to the staff of the Atlantic Fleet Air Wing at Norfolk, Va. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C.

Burnett, of Route 1, Waynesville. The Atlantic Fleet Air Wing command directs patrol bombers and airships in all parts of the Atlantic theatre in anti-submarine operations, and is commanded by Rear Adm. Richard F. Whitehead.

Zion National Park in Utah covers an area of about 135 square miles.

Upper Crabtree To Add Another Telephone Line

PEGGY BRADSHAW
Mountaineer Reporter

Still another party line is to be installed on Upper Crabtree. Enough people have asked for telephone service to make this possible. There are already three lines, with eight parties on each. It sure is going to be wonderful when everyone gets telephones!

Upper Crabtree wants to congratulate Boyd Fisher and George Marshall Kirkpatrick for their winning forestry work. Both live in Lower Crabtree, and attend Crabtree school.

PFC Bennett Best, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Best, has returned home with a discharge. He has spent a year in the Army, five months of it in Germany.

Misses Lillie Jane Canford, Edna Best and Barbara Best visited Edna and Jane's sisters in Charlotte last week. Miss Audrey Sanford and Miss Hilda Best returned with them for a week's vacation. They are employed by the Bell Telephone Company. Miss Sanford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Sanford; and Miss Best the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Best.

Choir practice and prayer service is held at the Rock Springs Baptist Church every Thursday night. The Rev. Elmer P. Carter is in charge. A Bible study course begins Monday at 7:30 p. m.; and preaching is held Sunday night at 7:30 p. m.

Bud Justice, who has been working in Detroit, Mich., is at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Justice.
