An Apple A Day For A Good Many Days

Annual Girl Scout Drive Will Begin Tomorrow

The third annual drive for funds for the Girl Scouting program will be started tomorrow, according to Dick Barber, finance chairman of the Hazelwood-Waynesville Girl Scout Council.

The drive has been planned for this week as a part of the national observance of Girl Scout Week, and will continue through Saturday. Funds will be solicited by members of the council and troop leaders.

The drive is carried on each year at this time to finance a full Girl Scouting program for the eleven troops in the community. A large percentage of the money is used during the summer to provide an approved Girl Scout camp. The yearly goal is $1,000.

Mrs. Howard Hyatt is president of the Council and other members are: Mrs. Jonathan Woody, Mrs. Boyd Owen, Mrs. L. K. Barber, Mrs. Dan Watkins, Miss Alice Fincher, Mrs. William Ray, Mrs. Richard Barber, and Mrs. Ben Sloan.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Aaron Prevost, Mrs. William Ray, Mrs. Harry Bourne, Mrs. Sam Lane, Mrs. R. M. Wise, Mrs. Walter Wyatt, Mrs. James Hall, Mrs. Rankin Ferguson, Mrs. Neason Smith, Miss Kathleen Calhoun, Mrs. Pritchard Smith, Mrs. James Harden Howell, Jr., Mrs. J. C. Crouser, Mrs. Dwight Williams, Mrs. T. W. Camlin, and Mrs. Larry Burnett.

Mark Rogers New ROTC Drum Major At N. C. State

Mark Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers of Dellwood Road, was made drum major of the large ROTC corps at N. C. State College recently, according to an announcement just received.

Mark is the first freshman ever made drum major at State. There are 2400 in the ROTC, but Mark has had previous experience with crowds. He was drum major for four years at Waynesville High School from which he graduated last spring.

His father, Frank Rogers is principal of East Waynesville Elementary School.

Senator Medford Fears World Faces Third War

William Medford, state senator, told fellow-rotarians here Friday in a United Nations address, that "the world is standing on the brink of a third world-war."

Stressing this point, Mr. Medford emphasized the importance of strengthening the United Nations, pointing out that "there seems to be a general feeling of disappointment regarding the United Nations in anticipated accomplishments. Probably the United Nations is far from the organization that it will eventually be in order to sufficiently prevent world wars — and all wars today and world-wide in scope."

The senator again made reference to the fact that "I am afraid that the third world war is inevitable, but in spite of this, the common peoples of the world do not want war. In the event of another global war, democracy would be at stake. For us here in America, another war would mean far more federal controls, and fewer privileges for the individual."

Apple Week Opens With 'Prettiest Exhibit Yet' At First National Bank

Crabtree Supper Nets Over $630 For Band Uniforms

The Crabtree-Iron Duff band will be over $630 richer as a result of the box supper Thursday night sponsored by the school's Parent-Teacher Association. Contributions are still coming in from people unable to attend.

About 65 boxes were sold to the crowd, with Charlie Woodard and Joe Davis doing the auctioneering. The 23-member band, under the supervision of Mrs. Philip Chase and Joe Morrow, played during the evening. The proceeds of the supper will go toward the purchase of new uniforms for band members.

The Ways and Means committee, other members of the Parent-Teacher Association, and everyone else interested in the local band express their gratitude to the many people living outside the school district who helped to make the affair a success. Among those who gave of their time, boxes or money were Jonathan Woody, Fred Campbell, J. B. Siler, Jule Noland, Wayne Corpening, Charles Isley, Sebe Bryson, Mr. and Mrs. James Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Phillips.

Going To Greenville— Catch The Bus

Another bus is being chartered this week to take local fans to the Waynesville-Greenville, Tenn., football game next Friday night, according to David Underwood.

The last bus that was chartered was for the Anderson game, and reports coming from the passengers was that they had not had so much fun in many years, and decided to do it again.

Tickets will be on sale at the Town Hall (Mrs. Gentry) for $2.75 for the round trip. Mrs. Gentry stated that the first to buy will be the ones that go. The tickets will be on sale Wednesday morning.

The time for the bus to leave will be 4 o'clock Friday afternoon from the local bus station.

Called by many "the prettiest exhibit we've had yet," the apple exhibit set up Saturday morning at the First National Bank marked the opening of Apple Week in Haywood County. The display will remain until the end of the week.

Eleven varieties of locally grown apples are banked against one wall, their colors echoing the foliage out-of-doors. Tones range from the yellow of the Golden Delicious to the deep purplish red of the Hoover.

Judging the exhibits were M. R. Whisenand and Dr. Luther Shaw. They awarded three blue ribbons each to Bolling Hall and R. H. Boone, two to Henry Francis and one each to H. H. Evenson, R. N. Barber and Hugh Massie.

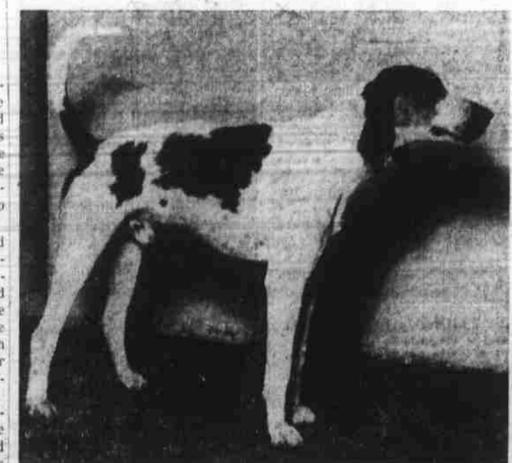

The complete list of varieties and winners of blue, red and white ribbons is as follows: Golden Delicious—Bolling Hall, H. H. Evenson, Bolling Hall, Red Delicious—R. H. Boone, Bolling Hall, Z. L. Massey, Rome Beauty—R. H. Boone, L. A. Cogburn, Ira Cogburn, Red Rome—Henry Francis, R. H. Boone, Bolling Hall, Stayman—H. H. Evenson, Henry Francis, R. N. Barber, Winesap—R. N. Barber, R. H. Boone, Bolling Hall, Red Stayman—Bolling Hall, Ira Cogburn, Turley Winesap—Bolling Hall, Hoover—Hugh Massie, Bonham—Henry Francis, Blush Rome—R. H. Boone, Hugh Massie.

The booth committee which arranged the display is composed of Joe Boone, chairman; and Z. L. Massey, Charles Edwards and Pink Francis.

Canton Getting A Large Parking Lot

Workmen are pushing the completion of the municipal parking lot at Canton. The former Park Street baseball field is being scraped of the grass, and being converted into a giant sized parking lot. The lot is being provided for free parking through the co-operation of Champion Paper and Fibre Company and the Town of Canton. The lot will be graveled, and designated parking areas shown, it was pointed out.

National Goodman Bench Champion

Loch Mon, 21-month old hound belonging to Tom Davis, brought a national championship to Haywood County as he took top honors at the recent National Goodman Championship Contest in Coatsville, Mo. In addition he won first in First Derby Males, first in Natural Carriage, and first in the Sweepstakes. His sire won top as Best Opposite Sex in 1949 in the same contest.

New Technicality Holds Up Setting School Election Date

Confusion Arises Over Canton Title

Setting of a date for Haywood County's $2,000,000 school bond election today was delayed by a technicality over the correct name of the Canton school district.

The delay arose when bonding attorneys in New York City disagreed over the proper name for the Canton school area. The main point in contention is whether the school district bears the name of Canton or Beaverdam Township.

County commissioners, who met today to set a date for the school bond vote, were forced to call a recess and await word from the state board of education on the correct title of the Canton school district.

The confusion in names was caused by a state assembly act in 1933 which abolished separate school districts for tax-levying purposes, but continued them as administrative units.

Garden Clubs Have District Meeting Today

A meeting of District One of the Garden Club of North Carolina was held today in the Battery Park Hotel, Asheville. Representing the Richland Garden Club of Waynesville were: Mrs. T. Lenoir Gwyn, president; Mrs. J. H. Way, Miss Louise Ballard, Miss Louise MacFadyen, and Mrs. Bonner Ray.

Mrs. Gwyn gave the response to the address of welcome which was made by Mrs. Edward Ward, president of the hostess club.

The principal speaker was Mrs. Roy M. Homewood, president of the Garden Club of North Carolina. Lunch was served on the roof garden of the hotel.

'Nickels For Know-How' Voting Places Announced

Voting places have been selected for the "Nickels For Know-How" referendum November 3. The polls will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. The program calls for a contribution of five cents per ton on feed and fertilizer, to be applied to expansion of agricultural research and education in North Carolina. Any person who purchases feed or fertilizer, or the wife or husband of such a person, is eligible to vote. This includes 4-H and FFA members.

There will be one or more voting places in each community, with a committee of three persons to count and certify the votes in each. Registration is not required for the voting; however, James Kirkpatrick, chairman of the "Nickels" campaign in the county, announces that a list of those voting at each polling place will be essential, and each community will furnish a person to make such a list.

Polling places are as follows:

Poultrymen Discuss Bright Future For Haywood

Beer - Wine Petitions Are Checked

Frank Ferguson, Chairman of the Board of Elections, announced today that petitions for a beer and wine election are now being checked.

The petitions, sponsored by the Ministerial Association, call for an election to determine whether or not to make the sale of beer and wine illegal in Haywood County. According to a spokesman for the Association, there are more than enough signatures on the petitions to require the election.

Hatcheries Win Praise For Quality Of Eggs; Bright Future Forecast

An optimistic outlook for Haywood poultrymen highlighted the second annual dinner for them at the Crabtree-Iron Duff school Friday night. The event was sponsored by the Haywood County Farmers Co-Operative for the poultrymen producing hatching eggs.

H. M. Dulin told the 125 attending the dinner that $2,000 was now being paid poultrymen, with the prospects being $5,000 by this time next year.

"When one considers that a year ago we were shipping two cases of hatching eggs a week for $50, and that now we are handling $2,000 worth a week, the facts remain that the growth of the hatching egg business in Haywood is definitely on the move.

"By this time next year we believe there will be 60,000 laying hens in Haywood flocks, producing $5,000 worth of hatching eggs weekly," the general manager of the co-operative said.

Adding to the optimism of Mr. Dulin were a number of hatchery owners who are buying the Haywood eggs. They praised the present quality of eggs, and pointed out that "as long as we continue to get such eggs, we will always buy them." The combined hatcheries used 1,500,000 eggs weekly.

All the speakers stressed the fact that with such a demand, there would never be such a thing as over production of quality hatching eggs.

The flock owners are paid a premium for hatching eggs — 90 cents a dozen, which has been figured at 50 to 75 cents per dozen over feed costs.

Arthur Gray, a hatcheryman, and buyer of many of Haywood's eggs pointed out there will never be too many good hatching eggs. "The quality of a hatching egg is the most important factor, and we have found from experience that this county is one of the best places in the world to produce good eggs — the climate, and attitude of the people made it ideal."

Norton Justice, representative of Allied Mills, and one who has worked with local poultrymen, predicted the $5,000 weekly income be next year.

Joe Tankersley, manager of Twin Oaks Hatchery, in Gainesville, told the group "you are producing the kind of eggs we want—they have quality, and are clean. Dirty eggs will not hatch—so produce clean eggs in clean nests, keep in a cool moist place, and never wash an egg—clean it with sandpaper or steel wool," he continued.

N. L. Biggs, Allied Mills Representative, was master of ceremonies, and presented a number of those from out of the county who attended the dinner. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Moore of the Oak Grove Poultry Farm and Hatchery, a supplier of most of the day-old chicks; Louis F. Brumfield, Whitmoyer Laboratories, and J. C. Price, district sales manager for Allied Mills.

The main talk was by Jonathan Woody, president of the First National Bank, another who predicted continued growth in the poultry industry.

"There is no reason to worry about an over supply as long as we stick to quality," he began. "And a flock will grow faster, and call for less investment than beef cattle or dairying," he said. The banker suggested that poultrymen begin on a small scale and add to their flocks from time to time. "Learn how, and then expand," he advised.

"The fine thing about the poultry industry is that it will not interfere with other present farm activity. Poultry will not require acreage now devoted to tobacco, nor land being used for dairying or beef cattle—you can raise chickens on a steep hillside, as long as you
