Mecklenburg Group Visits Haywood

On Tuesday and Wednesday about 45 civic and farm leaders from Mecklenburg county toured Haywood county. The group took in two community picnics. The picture was taken while the group was visiting Upper Crabtree. From left to right are Zeb C. Strawn, chairman of the agricultural affairs committee of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce and president of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company of that city; J. Brack James, county agent Wayne Corpening; Mrs. Hugh Ratcliffe, Chairman of the Ratcliff Cove CDP, visitors for the tour and picnic; and Floyd F. Kay, executive vice president of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce. (Mountaineer photo).

Project Is Underway At South Main

Construction began this week on a "modern shopping center" at the corner of Main and Academy streets—across from the First Baptist church, and adjoining the new Telephone Building, now under construction.

Sol Schulman, president of the S.L.S. Real Estate Company, told The Mountaineer this morning that the contract calls for completion of the project by December first. Included is a 5,000-square foot super market for the A & P Tea Company, in addition to 5 to 7 shops, suitable for dress shops and clothing stores, Mr. Schulman said.

"The reason we are indefinite as to the exact number of shops right now is that we might combine some of the shops and make one in order to meet requirements of a lessee," Mr. Schulman pointed out.

The A & P Tea super market will be 50 feet wide, and 100 feet deep. The other shops will be 80 feet deep, in order to allow for a 20-foot alley from Academy Street to the A & P building. The super market will be built on the line next to the Oak Park Motor Court.

Mr. Schulman said that a 40-foot paved parking space would be in front of all the buildings.

The buildings will be of semi-colonial design, Mr. Schulman said, and of brick and tile construction. Automatic heat will be included in each building.

"The entire project will be beautiful, and we are making it a 'show place' for the community. We are sparing no expense in making the area an asset to the community," Mr. Schulman continued.

The contract for construction has been awarded to the W. B. Dillard Construction Company of Sylva.

Several officials of the A & P Tea Company have been here during the past few days, including Mr. Smith, the president, who pointed out that "the Waynesville store will not be the largest super market in our group, but there will not be any more beautiful, or more modern."

No estimate was made as to the total cost of the project, pending the final decision on the finish of one or two of the shops. "Most of the shops have already been leased," the owner said.

Mr. Schulman owns and operates the Schulman Department Store in Sylva, and is an extensive property holder in a number of towns in Western North Carolina.

Cherokee Drama Averaging 2240 At Each Showing

Through last night, the Cherokee drama "Unto These Hills," had played to more than 93,000 people in 41 performances. This is an average of more than 2,240 persons per performance, according to John Parris, in charge of public relations of the nation's largest outdoor drama.

The Mountaineer Theatre seats 2,900 people, and the drama is given nightly at 8:15 except Mondays.

Three weeks ago the average attendance was 2,100 for the first 21 performances.

Lambuth Inn To Get 40 New Rooms

Plans to expand the Lake Junaluska Assembly, summer program headquarters of the Methodist Church in nine southeastern states, were announced here following a meeting of the executive committee of the assembly's board of trustees.

Edwin L. Jones of Charlotte, chairman, said construction work will start this winter on a 40-room wing to Lambuth Hall, and a $75,000 apartment building which will have a minimum of 12 housekeeping units.

At the same time it was announced by the Rev. Carl H. King, Salisbury, that work will also begin this winter on a $60,000 children's building. The new building is an enterprise of Methodist church schools throughout the South who have already raised $40,000. Dr. King said. He is treasurer of the fund campaign and also a member of the Lake Junaluska board of trustees.

All three building projects are scheduled for completion by next summer.

The new wing will give Lambuth Hall a total of 100 rooms. The hotel also is being equipped with new furniture, and installation of a central heating system and a sprinkler system is already under way. The improvements are designed to make the building available for year-round use in the future, Jones said.

The new apartment building, to be located opposite the Junaluska Apartments, will increase the capacity of the assembly's motel accommodations to 92 bunks. Each of the efficiency apartments accommodates four to six persons.

Improvements also will continue at the assembly's other hotel, the 126-room Terrace, Jones said, and residence quarters are to be built for employees of both hotels.

The new children's building, Dr. King said, will be used for social, religious and educational activities of children from one to 12 years old. It will also serve as a laboratory school every summer for parents. (See Lake—Page 6)

Dixie Home Sets Open House For Friday Evening

The newly renovated Dixie Home Store on Main Street, is holding a three-hour open house Friday night, with refreshments, and 20 door prizes, according to Donald Caldwell, manager.

The store was recently completely renovated; a new tile floor, new lighting throughout, mirrors in the market department, and back of the dairy and packaged meat cases, together with the addition of wall decorations. Another department was added, in cosmetics and packaged household supplies and patent medicines. Several thousand dollars were spent in making the improvements.

The open house hours will begin at 5:30 and continue until 8:30, Mr. Caldwell said. All during that time, refreshments will be served. A number of executives of the Dixie Home Store firm are expected to be here for the event Friday evening.

J. D. Kelly is manager of the meat department, and Donald Rogers is in charge of groceries, and Boyd Holland in charge of produce. Miss Peggy Mann is cashier. Others with the firm include: J. C. Seraggs, Vivian Greene, Joe Boyd, John Calhoun, Sam Sisk and Joe Rickman.

Medford Sells Large Tract On Jonathan Creek

Sixteen acres of farm land, which had been cut into small tracts, brought $18,600 at public auction Wednesday when several buyers purchased the land from Bryan D. Medford, of Jonathan Creek.

The sale was handled through the auction firm of West and Gossett of Weaverville and Canton.

Buyers included D. J. Caldwell and Clarence Caldwell, Mrs. Nora West, Sam Queen, Sam Sutton, Thurman Evans, Mrs. Odell, and Miss Edna Boyd.

In another land sale the same day, Clifford Harrell and Euel Taylor purchased a section with a 90-foot frontage on Depot Street from T. L. Bramlett, Jr., for $6,750. This sale was also handled through West and Gossett.

Group From Mecklenburg Guests This Week At CDP Programs In The County

A group of bankers, Chamber of Commerce officials, and civic leaders from Charlotte and Mecklenburg county, made a two-day tour of Haywood county, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The group was here to observe the Community Development programs as they are carried on in the different communities. There were around 40 members in the visiting group.

Tuesday they were the guests on the field day program when Ratcliff Cove visited Upper Crabtree.

Wednesday, they were guests of the Thickety community, when residents of West Pigeon were entertained on the annual farm and home field day trip, and the recreational activities on the Beaverdam school grounds.

At Thickety the visitors were met at the Cross Roads, and directed over the community, visiting (See Mecklenburg—Page 6)

Burley Expert To Speak Saturday

J. E. Thigpen, Chief of the Tobacco Branch, United States Dept. of Agriculture, will be the principal speaker at the Haywood County Farmers Federation Picnic, Saturday, August 16, it has been announced by James G. K. McClure, president.

Mr. Thigpen is in charge of the government support program for burley tobacco. The Farmers Federation is fortunate to have this man present at the picnic. All burley tobacco growers and people interested in tobacco are given a special invitation to attend the all day affair which will be held at the East Waynesville School. The program will begin at 10:00 a.m.

Mr. McClure will serve as Master (See Burley—Page 6)

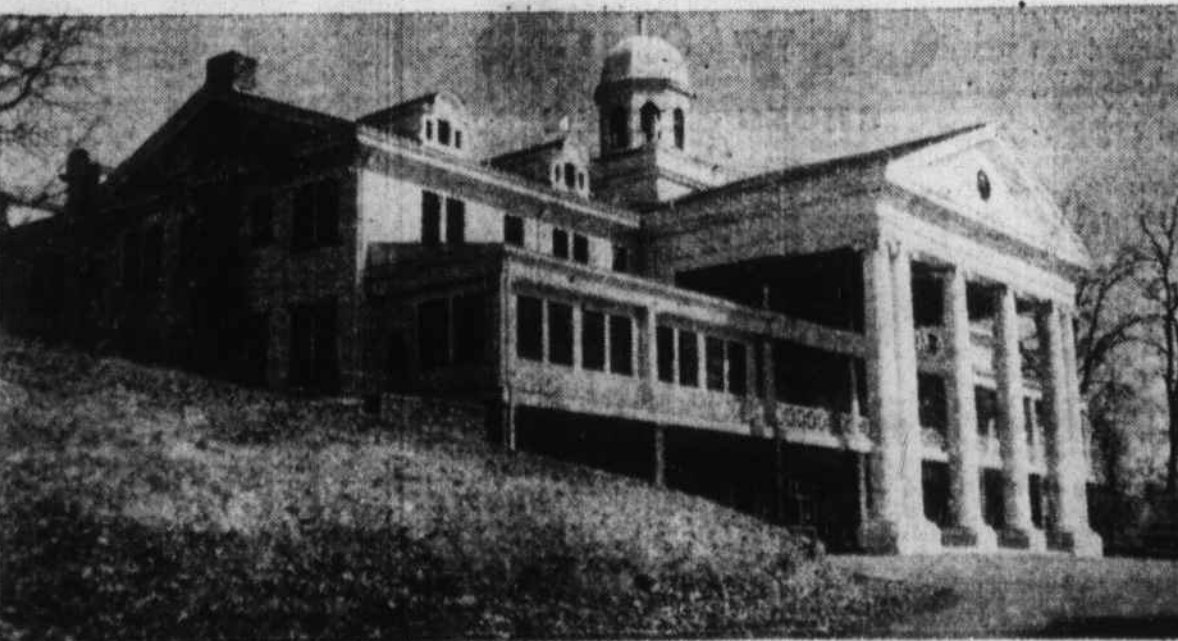

Mrs. Bottoms, Canton, Wins Flower Show Sweepstakes

Mrs. A. W. Bottoms of Canton was winner of the sweepstakes at the fourth annual Flower Show held by the Richland Garden Club, with the assistance of the Mountain View Garden Club, Tuesday in the Waynesville Armory. Miss Louise Ballard of Lake Junaluska was runner-up for top place.

To be eligible for the sweepstakes exhibitors were required to enter all classifications of flowers. The tri-color, highest award for a single exhibit, was given to Walter Taliaferro and Mrs. Irving Leatherwood. Taliaferro, a student at Western Carolina Teachers College, won with an arrangement of yellow gladioli and fruit copied from a picture in the book "Flower Arrangements For All Occasions."

The arrangement also won the $5.00 cash prize, presented by Mrs. T. Lenoir Gwyn, for the most beautiful entry in the show. Mrs. Leatherwood won the tri-color with a collection of herbs. The show as a whole was acclaimed the most beautiful ever held in Waynesville and won high praise from visitors as well as residents of the community. The armory was converted into a formal garden as a setting for the flowers. Brick walks extended the entire length and breadth of the floor and were bordered with tuberous begonias and box woods. The stage was set with wrought iron furniture against a background of ivy and greenery and was centered (See Flower Show—Page 5)

Lambuth Inn To Get 40 Additional Rooms

Work is scheduled to begin this fall in adding 40 additional rooms to Lambuth Inn, making the hotel a 100-room building, and to remain open all year. This is one of several projects to get underway at the Lake this fall. (Mountaineer photo).
