Do You Know About
? Or The Lost Cove?

Two unusually interesting feature articles will be found in today's issue of The Mountaineer.
On page one of section two, is a story and pictures of Park bears that slip out and kill cattle in nearby pastures. The bears are too busy right now eating nuts, grapes and acorns to bother with the cattle, but next spring when they wake up will mean another story.
In the meantime, pending a trial
over a bear being killed in the Park highlights interest in the matter.
On page one of section three, is a story of the Lost Cove, with pictures. This is the story as gathered by a member of our staff in a visit to that area.
Both articles will provide you with lots of interesting reading.

Record Vote Seen In County Next Tuesday

Vote Of 13,000 Is Predicted For Tuesday

Haywood County voters are expected to go to the polls Tuesday in record-breaking numbers to vote in what many of them are calling the most important election this country has ever held.

Barring bad weather some observers are predicting that upwards of 13,000 people will have their votes recorded.

General feeling is that a combination of three factors is responsible for the expected large turnout—the intense interest being shown by the people of the county in the Presidential election—the efforts of hundreds who were responsible for the "Get Out the Vote" campaign—and the heavy new registration.

Approximately 2,500 people have been registered during the past three weeks and everyone of them is expected to vote.

In 1948 a vote of 10,200 was recorded in the county. If that number should reach 13,000 this year, it would be the largest number ever to participate in an election in Haywood.

The various rallies that have been conducted by both parties has, in a large degree, added to the interest of members of the respective parties. The politically independents of Haywood have, as in most of the county, been wooed by both parties. They are expected to go to the polls in record numbers also.

Say what you may, there aren't many people who are failing to show some sort of interest. Almost every corner of the county has been invaded with posters, buttons, automobile stickers, and speakers, each proclaiming the attributes of a favored candidate or slate of candidates.

Workers in the "Get Out the Vote" campaign said they would continue their efforts to help turn out a large vote right up to election day.

Official sample ballots are published in full on another page in the paper.

Blank ballots have been printed for Township Constable, no party affiliation, for precincts in Pigeon, Clyde, and Waynesville townships. This action was taken when a number of people signified their interest in running for the post. Spaces are provided on the ballots for a write-in vote for the particular candidates.

It was announced today that the Board of Elections will meet with registrars and judges Friday morning at 11 o'clock to give them final instructions and all materials for the election.

Democratic Rally: Judge Alley To Speak At Demo Meet

Haywood Democrats will hold the last in a series of "old-fashioned" political rallies tonight (Thursday) when Judge Felix E. Alley speaks at the Court House at 8 o'clock.

Judge Alley's address will climax two weeks of intense activity by the Democratic organization, headed by Charles McCrary. During the past two weeks speakers have appeared in most of the communities of the county on behalf of the Democratic Party.

Last week Judge Sam Cathey, Felix E. Alley, Jr., and W. G. Byers spoke at rallies.

All Democrats in the county are urged to hear Judge Alley tonight. Mr. McCrary said he expected a large crowd to gather at the Court House.

Police Chief Issues Warning About Halloween

Halloween, which will be celebrated tomorrow (Friday) night, isn't like it was in bygone days and property owners and police are busy about the changes.

Franksters who insist on destroying property aren't tolerated any more. They're considered as they should be—vandals—and treated as such.

Earlier this week Police Chief O. L. Noland issued a statement in which he reminded Halloween fun goes that having a good time and destroying property aren't the same thing. "We want everyone to have a good time," he said, "but remind those who are bent on damaging property will be prosecuted."

Plans have been completed to assign extra patrolmen to duty Friday night in the unlikely event that some people go beyond the bounds of clean fun.

Republicans Of Canton Hear Mrs. Taubman Tuesday

Mrs. George Taubman of Long Beach, Calif., who was sent out from national Republican Headquarters some weeks ago in the interest of the current campaign, spoke to a large crowd at the GOP headquarters in Canton Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Taubman, a native North Carolinian, is completing a speaking tour throughout this section, where she had been well received. Accompanying Mrs. Taubman last night was Mrs. Millard Teague of Brevard, promotion chairman in the 12th district, who introduced her at the meeting. Members of the Republican Women's Club, organized in Canton last week, welcomed the visitors.

Mrs. Taubman gave an interesting and instructive talk on "Communism, Corruption and Waste", which was enthusiastically received by those attending.

New members were added to the Women's organization following the meeting last night.

It's Trick or Treat At Halloween

Parents will find it best to have a tray of cookies, candies, or other sweets on hand Friday night when youngsters make their rounds demanding either a trick or treat—unless they would rather perform a stunt. Mrs. J. E. Taylor finds feeding the kids is much easier as her two sons, Randy and Joe, and Bobby Leinbach help themselves to fruit and cookies. (Mountaineer Photo).

Heavy Registration Gives Indication Of Record Vote In Tuesday Election

C. E. Ray's Sons Purchase Bradley's Super Market

Announcement is being made today of the purchase of Bradley's Super Market, at Five Points in Hazelwood, by C. E. Ray's Sons. The sale is effective Saturday night, when the store will be closed for moving into the building next to the one now occupied by the Super Market. The sale included both stock and fixtures.

The announcement of the sale is signed by W. A. Bradley and Dick Bradley, owners. W. A. Bradley is retiring from the mercantile field, while Dick Bradley will devote his time to Cline Hardware and Feed Company, of which he is a partner with Joe Cline.

The Super Market and the Cline Hardware will exchange buildings immediately. The buildings adjoin each other.

William S. Ray, of C. E. Ray's Sons, said this morning, that no date had been set for opening the store, as they have not had time to check on delivery of some equipment which will be used in the firm.

"Under circumstances, we are unable at this time to set a definite time for re-opening, since the new quarters must be arranged, and prepared for a super market," Mr. Ray said.

Mr. Ray said that no decision had been made as to the name of the super market they will operate in Hazelwood. This will be the third super market for the firm. They operate Ray's on Church Street and the Food Store on Main Street.

Fire Danger On Increase; No Rain Here In 20 Days

Twenty days have passed with no rain in the Waynesville area and there is no immediate forecast for any. The last rain, about one-quarter of an inch, was recorded at the North Carolina State Test Farm October 10.

Republican Rally: H. Montieth To Speak At GOP Meeting

Hugh Monteith, Republican Candidate for congress from the 12th Congressional District, will be the speaker at a Republican rally at Republican headquarters in Canton tonight at 8 o'clock. This will conclude the campaign meetings scheduled by the party leaders for the general election Tuesday.

Mr. Monteith is mayor of Sylva, president of the Daniel Boone Council, Boy Scouts of America, a member of the Sylva Baptist church where he is chairman of the board of deacons, and is past district governor of Lions International, and he is well known throughout this section.

Election Returns To Be Given

Elaborate plans have been completed for giving election returns here in Haywood Tuesday night, and Wednesday morning.

The Mountaineer news staff will compile and tabulate the vote, with members of the Board of Election, and broadcast the returns three minutes before each hour and each half hour over WHCC. The radio staff will devote their time in giving national returns for 27 minutes out of each half hour, with the other three minutes of broadcast coming direct from The Mountaineer newsroom.

The registrars and judges of all precincts are being urged to telephone, or have it done, as soon as any ballot is completely counted. The number which should be called is 764.

Due to the fact that there are five ballots to be counted in each precinct, it is expected that the counting will require many hours.

Election officials have requested that the presidential ballot be counted first.

The first local returns should start coming in about eight o'clock. (See Election—Page 6)

Tax Books Are Almost Perfect, Report Shows

Auditors have completed a check of the Haywood County Tax Collector's office and their report shows the books are 99.999 per cent correct, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. Sebe Bryson, Tax Collector.

The checking firm, Weaver Auditors, said this was the best report of any tax office in North Carolina.

R. H. Winchester Elected New President Of Kiwanis

Robert H. Winchester, advertising manager of The Mountaineer, was elected president of the Waynesville-Kiwanis Club at the last meeting of the group. He succeeds Jimmy Childress.

Winchester, who has been vice-president of the club during the past year, will be installed the first of January along with other new officers and the Board of Directors.

Charles Underwood, owner of Underwood Novelty Company at Lake Junaluska, was elected vice-president.

Newly elected members of the Board of Directors are Hooper Alexander, Roy Callahan, Rufus Carswell, the Rev. James H. Coleman, Charles Edwards, Jack Klopp, Willard Moody, Hye Sheptowitch, Charles Underwood, and Winchester. Outgoing president Jimmy Childress automatically becomes a member of the Board.

The club celebrated its first birthday at the meeting. Outgoing president Childress reviewed the work of the club during the first year of its operation, calling attention to the club's work in Little

Beer Has Been Sold Here For 19 Years

After 19 years, the legal sale of beer and wine will end at midnight Monday in Haywood County.

This deadline is probably being anticipated in three different moods: some people don't care, some are very happy, and some are equally sad.

Haywood County voted out the sale of beer and wine Sept. 2. The law provides that dealers have 60 days in which to dispose of their stocks. Since the sixtieth day comes on Sunday, the period is extended 24 hours.

This will leave Buncombe as the sole county in western North Carolina where such beverages may be purchased legally.

Actually, however, only the sale of beer will be affected because there are few, if any, places in Haywood that sell wine.

Although the September election had been preceded by an energetic and somewhat bitter campaign, the dry voters had a better than three to one margin when the votes were counted.

May 1, 1933, the first day when beer and wine could be sold legally in the county, was much quieter than Sept. 2, 1952, when it was voted out. The May 4 issue of The Mountaineer carried a one-column headline that said, "The return of beer in Waynesville taken quietly," and a sub-head stated that a small crowd was on hand Monday at 12:01 to greet return of suds.

Only a few cases were sold that Monday morning, the article said, and only four permits had been issued in the county: two at Waynesville, one at Balsam, and one near Lake Junaluska.

Elections Board Has Issued 350 Absentee Ballots

Glenn W. Brown, chairman of the Haywood County Board of Elections, said today that the Board had mailed out more than 350 absentee ballots to be used in next week's elections.

The ballots were mostly to servicemen but during the past few days the recipients have been for the most part civilians.

Brown cautioned absentee voters that, in order for their ballots to be valid, they must be notarized or signed by an official of like capacity, or, if the voter is a serviceman or woman, the envelope which contains the ballot must be subscribed and sworn to before a commissioned officer.

There have been several instances where the Board has received ballots without seals or official signatures. In those cases the ballots have been returned to the voter with a note requesting them to have the ballots made official by conforming to the directions printed on the envelope.

Brown also said today that November 1 would be the last day that absentee voters could make application for ballots unless sickness kept them from the polls.

League baseball, Red Cross, the Polio drive, special services and gifts to underprivileged children at Christmas time, the organization of a new Boy Scout troop, and the gift of a new wheelchair to the Orthopedic Hospital at Asheville.
