

Easter Trio

OUR EASTER BONNET . . . Deborah Kerr, Broadway and movie star, does an Easter preview with her daughters, Francine, 2, and Jane, 6. All are wearing matching hats of immortal with red grosgrain and daisy trim. Miss Kerr with husband, Anthony Bartley, TV producer, and their children are guests of honor at the Savoy Plaza Easter promenade.

Waynesville Lions Mark Ladies Night, Hear Carl Wike

Gene Wike, manager of the Sports Mart in Asheville, was the principal speaker at a Waynesville Lions Club "Ladies Night" program at the Lake Junaluska School cafeteria, attended by 150 persons, including Lions members and their wives, and 12 special guests.

Mr. Wike, a well-known speaker in this area, kept his audience laughing with his repertoire and anecdotes.

Wives of the Lions members were presented nylon handbags, which were made by handicapped persons in this area, organized by the Waynesville "Hire the Handicapped" committee.

The meal was served by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Maple Grove Methodist Church.

Personal Items From Fines Creek

By MRS. SAM FERGUSON
Community Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Holbrook and family visited relatives in South Carolina over the weekend. They were accompanied by Mrs. T. H. Rogers, and Minnie Bell Hembree.

J. C. Rogers returned to his home in Montana this week after spending quite a while with his sister Mrs. R. A. Justice on Fines Creek.

Mrs. Mildred Ferguson Koch and small daughter, Paula, are now living in Allentown, Pa., since her husband, M-Sgt. Paul M. Koch has been sent to Japan. Mrs. Koch expects to join him there in the near future.

responsibilities, found it difficult to attend classes outside the home.

"The girls figure if we are reaching 1,000 people in Houston by TV in their homes, they are getting what it would require 66 instructors to give an equal number — broken into groups of 15—in the classroom," Miss Magnussen explained.

The program is on time allotted to the Houston University School of Nursing on Station KUHT's educational program. In order to gauge the effectiveness of TV nursing instruction to laymen, three different groups of 200 pupils were set up, each group taking the same tests to see how much they knew before and after their courses. One group receives TV instruction only. Another watches TV but also comes into the classroom for practice with instruction. A third group in Oklahoma City is taking regular class instruction. The Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N. J., made the tests.

"If the new method proves successful enough, we hope to get the program 'canned' and put it to use elsewhere in the country," Miss Magnussen said.

Here are some of the things taught on the TV series: how to take a temperature, how to give a bath and keep a patient clean and comfortable in bed, how to follow a doctor's orders on medication, how to change a bed with a patient in it.

Bright Colors Featured In Women's Spring Togs

If you've been leafing through the latest women's magazines or if you've made a trip into town recently, you have probably noticed the colors being featured this spring—the vermillions, flamingos, and other flame-colored shades.

You have probably been wondering, too, if you'll be able to wear some of these brighter colors effectively. Mary En Lee, State College extension clothing specialist, suggests choosing colors which relate to your own warmth or coolness of color.

If you have fairly warm coloring the warm shades will be good for you — the yellow-oranges, the red-oranges, the yellow-greens. If, on the other hand, you are cool-skinned, delicate, blue-eyed, you will find the soft blues and greys more suitable.

In choosing a hue, be certain to have a harmony of warmth or coolness between your own personal coloring and your costume.

Here's another color note to consider. Had you noticed how the blues and purple-blues always seem to be cool, but how there is a wide variety of warmth and coolness in reds? The red-oranges — like the new spring colors — are definitely warm; the blue-reds toward the cooler range? Greens can be either warm or cool depending upon the blue or yellow in the particular shade. The yellow makes a green warmer, a blue makes it cooler.

In Peru, fruits are made from the leg bones of llamas.
