

Some teen-agers*enjoy the same slanguage their Moms used to tease grandma and grandpa, according to a survey made by the Atlanta Constitution. The patter listed most frequently as "new," today, includes "so long," "hey. "how's tricks," "long time no see" and "don't take any wooden nickles."

(Of course grandma would have been appalled if Mom had taken part in the slumber parties enjoyed by these same young people. But today these are chaperoned properly and spend-the-night parties are the rage in other cities besides Atlanta,)

So intrigued with old-time slang was Judith Kirk of Long Beach, Cal., that she wrote in the student weekly of Stephens Junior High School the following article found in the 1923 files of a local paper

SAUNOOK AND ALLENS CREKK Community Program organizations battled it out at Saunook School in a spelling bee last Friday night, which was won by Allens Creek. The two words that caused the most "casualties" were "annihilate" and "enumerate". Among Saunook contenders were (left to right) Mrs. Margie Hall, Mrs. Ellen Chambers, and Leona Davis, with Pronouncer Steve Cassell, assistant county agent, in the middle, flanked by Allens Creek representatives Mrs. Jean Craig, Mrs. Lucille Greene, and Mrs. Hiram McCracken, (Mountaineer Photo).

Secretaries Skillful At Politicking

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON - Capitol Hill ecretaries out-politicked their bosses in their campaign to elect a president for their up-and-coming Congressional Secretaries Club.

The organization of some 1.200 members, 80 per cent of them women, is made up of administrative assistants, secretaries and clerks to senators and congressmen and committees of Congress. The first two highest offices alternate each year between the major political parties. Outgoing president Walter Kennedy, secretary to Rep. Gordon Canfield (R.-N. J.), who was a president of the club himself one time, is a Republican.

Two Democrats were seeking the office-Bill Norman, secretary to Rep. Bennett (D.-Fla.), and Lud Andolsek, secretary to Rep. Blatnik (D.-Minn.)

"It was the greatest campaign I've ever seen in nine years," Marie Warme, secretary to Rep. Miller (R.-Neb.) and newly elected vice president (Republican), told me. "Supporters of the two candidates table hopped in the cafeteria, put out flyers and bulletins and electioneered right up to voting

The club's new second vice president is pert and pretty Republican Sally Bloom, secretary to Sen. Griswold (R.-Neb.). Blonde young Democratic Pat Morris, secretary te Rep. Chudoff (D.-Pa.), is the new secretary, and treasurer is Republican Macaulay Ward, secretary to Rep. Goodwin (R.-Miss.),
