County's Health Problems Can't Be Solved Quickly

BOB CONWAY
Mountaineer Staff Writer

County's three major health problems—medical care for rural areas, garbage disposal and stream pollution—will be with the county for some time to come.

The first field is any real progress being made, and corrections there are limited. The state's present program for medical care of children, Counties also get $1,000 for medical care of children. Counties also get $1,000 for medical care of children. Counties also get $1,000 for medical care of children.

As to the county's No. 2 health problem—garbage disposal in the rural areas—Health Department sanitarians report that they get complaints almost daily on people illegally dumping garbage on the highway or on other persons' property.

Sanitarian Jack Arrington asserted that the garbage disposal problem might be handled by:

- (1) Maintenance of community dumps, properly cared for, and
- (2) Burning inflammable trash and burying garbage.

Mr. Arrington also suggested that rural residents keep garbage cans clean to prevent flies from breeding, and to check gutters and other places where puddles of water offer a breeding place for mosquitoes.

The sanitarian added that CDP groups might find it advisable to adopt improved methods of garbage disposal as one of their community projects.

In the matter of stream and air pollution, the Health Department has already prosecuted persons for dumping sewage into streams and warned that other offenders who break this state law will be charged in court.

Towns in Haywood County have given increased emphasis to the stream pollution problem and are taking steps to overcome it — including the cleaning of sewer lines and the construction of new lines.

However, much of the success of these efforts depends on the accomplishments of the county's

Highway Patrol May Use Cameras Against Violators

If you are a chronic traffic law violator you may show up in the movies.

According to an announcement made last week by Motor Vehicles Commissioner Edward Scheidt highway patrol cars in the future may be equipped with 35mm cameras.

Through an arrangement with Market Service, Inc., a nationwide safety organization which is an affiliate of the nation's largest bus and truck insurer, two of the cameras will be loaned to the Highway Patrol for the next 90 days on an experimental basis.

Should the experiment prove successful the photographic equipment will be leased from Market at $60 per month per unit. Scheidt described the move as another measure to modernize and make more effective the use of up to the minute techniques in keeping the state's accident toll as low as possible.

The camera, which takes either still or motion pictures, is operated by a button on the steering wheel. It is bolted to the roof of the car and shoots through the windshield. Within the camera is a police-checked speedometer and a clock which is superimposed on each photograph. Film, on 100 foot rolls, is exposed at the rate of 16 frames per second. The scope of the camera is sufficiently wide to pick up road signs and general traffic conditions.

Scheidt predicted use of the cameras would have an "intense psychological" effect on violators as well as providing actual photographic evidence.

Two of the cameras are being installed in patrol cars this week.

FHA Aids County Farmers Gain Diversified Production

Farmers in all parts of Haywood County are turning to their Farmers Home Administration county office for credit that will help them take up better farm practices and make adjustments from cash-crop farming to diversified systems, Wallace G. Flynt, the agency's county supervisor, said this week.

Farmers who have depended almost wholly on cash crops in recent years are the ones most in need of farming adjustments, he said. They find they can set up a sound system of farming by switching to diversified production on their farms. Many are looking for credit necessary to put in livestock enterprises to go along with their crops and are expecting to develop good pastures for their livestock. This type of adjustment usually takes a few years for completion.

Many operators of cash-crop farms say they are held back from making the adjustments because of costs involved. If these costs cannot be handled by other local, private or cooperative credit, and if the proposed farming systems are sound, the Farmers Home Administration has funds for production of adjustment loans.

In addition, many farmers needing loans for only a year, or emergency loans in designated areas, are finding the credit they need at the Farmers Home Administration county office. Long-term loans for purchasing or developing family-type farms are also available, either as direct or insured farm ownership loans.

A special program of loans to stockmen hard hit by drought conditions is also administered by the agency. These loans are to help

Dellwood Church Being Remodeled

A building and remodeling program is now under way at the Dellwood Methodist Church — including the construction of a new sanctuary seating 240 — according to the pastor, the Rev. Grady Barringer.

The present building, which was once the Dellwood School, will be gabled at the front and a bell tower and steeple erected. When this remodeling is completed, groundbreaking ceremonies will be held and work will begin on the new auditorium in the rear of the older structure.

The Dellwood Methodist congregation bought the former Dellwood school building and 4 1/2 acres of land in June, 1948, and converted the building into a sanctuary and Sunday School rooms. The first worship services was held there

30 Initiated By Moose Lodge

A class of 30 candidates was initiated by the Loyal Order of Moose, Waynesville Lodge No. 1733, in ceremonies Monday night in the Waynesville High School auditorium, with a degree team from Asheville Lodge No. 781 in charge.

Members of Canton Lodge No. 515 attended as guests.

The next meeting of the Waynesville lodge will be at 8 p.m. Monday in the lodge hall in the old telephone building.

September 18, 1948.

Sam McCrary is chairman of the building committee, while Taylor Ferguson is chairman of the finance committee.

Marathon Cribbage Game

WHITINSVILLE, Mass. (AP) — George Williams, a machine shop foreman, retired nine years ago and has been playing cribbage with his wife ever since.

They have played 27,000 games, counting holes rather than games in scoring. The lead has shifted alternately from 700 to zero. The latest count gave Williams' only an 18 hole lead over his wife.
