Kurt Gans Adds Lenox Line Of China In Store

Kurt Gans, jeweler, is announcing today the addition of the renowned line of Lenox China, recognized as the finest china made in America.

The firm is among the few in the nation in a town this size that has been granted a dealership. Efforts to get the line began many months ago, and after consistent contacts, and letters from others here, including Jonathan Woody, president of the First National Bank, the store was granted the franchise. Gans is one of three firms in a wide area to carry the line.

Typical of the letters which were required to get the line, was one from Woody to the general manager of the manufacturer, which reads as follows:

"In my opinion you are not familiar with trade conditions in the Waynesville area. Waynesville is in Haywood County which is one of the most progressive counties in North Carolina. There are slightly over forty thousand people in the county, and this is the county seat and the center of the trade area for all these people and three other adjoining counties. There are approximately twenty thousand people who live within a radius of eight miles of Waynesville. The weekly payroll is in the neighborhood of $145,000.00, and we are also supported by a very rich agricultural section.

"During the summer season, since we are the nearest town to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, the town will grow to approximately fifteen thousand, and in addition Lake Junaluska, which is the Southern Assembly ground of the Methodist Church will have three thousand residents, and our corporate limits also join the town of Hazelwood.

"I am fully convinced if they established a connection that the Kurt Gans Jewelry firm, with Lenox, would be able to do an amazing business. They have an excellent store, it is most attractive."

The Firm is stocking many Lenox patterns.
