It Is Orange Blossom Party Time

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

THE BRIDE-TO-BE is trying on her veil—orange blossoms nestling in a crown of gauzy tulle. Wedding bells will be ringing, come June, and it's time for friends of engaged couples to entertain them.

If the party is to be informal, hamburgers and frankfurters on toasted buns and rolls are fine—but serve them with some dash! Have an assortment of relishes with the hamburgers—everything from artichoke pickle to chutney—and don't forget the sweet onion rings. Choose glamorous Bahama-type mustards to accompany the frankfurters along with tomato wedges to eat out of hand.

If you are bent on more formal food, lobster salad, is still as delicious and appropriate as it was in the Gay Nineties, when it was standard fare for all bridal collations. Or how about cold ham and turkey with green beans vinaigrette and romaine? With either course, serve small buttered rolls—the kind that are topped with an egg wash to make them shiny and festive.

Whether your party is informal or formal, we suggest Orange-Strawberry Parfaits for dessert. This recipe is one you'll want to use year-round because it's made with always-available oranges and ice cream, and frozen strawberries may be used when fresh ones aren't in season.

ORANGE STRAWBERRY PARFAITS

Ingredients: 6 very large oranges, 1 1/4 cups sugar, 3/4 cup water, 2 pints fresh strawberries, 2 quarts vanilla ice cream, 16 whole strawberries.

Method: Peel oranges, slice and cut into bite-size wedges; there should be 4 cups. Place in container that has a cover; a glass casserole is fine. Cut most of the white membrane from some of the orange peel; then using a sharp paring knife or kitchen scissors, cut enough peel into very narrow strips to make 1/4 cup. The strips will be most attractive if you cut some long and some short. Put sugar, water and orange peel strips into a saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Increase heat and bring to a boil; boil gently 8 minutes. Pour hot syrup over orange wedges; cool; cover and refrigerate 1 to 2 days to mellow. Makes 1 quart. When you are ready to serve the parfaits, put some of the ice cream in the bottom of a parfait or other footed glass; arrange some of the orange wedges and syrup, and strawberries, over the ice cream. Fill glasses, alternating layers of fruit and ice cream. Garnish with whole strawberries. Serve at once. Makes 16 parfaits.

Note: If you are serving only 8, use 2 cups of the oranges with 1 pint strawberries and 1 quart vanilla ice cream. Keep the remaining 2 cups oranges in the refrigerator for another time—they are delicious over sponge cake with a topping of whipped cream; over vanilla pudding, tapioca cream or custard; or over sliced ripe bananas. Frozen strawberries may be used instead of fresh; use 2 packages for 16 parfaits, 1 package for 8.

LEFTOVER VEAL

When you have some veal roast leftover, dice it and mix with celery crescents and diced apples; if you use red apples, the peel may be left on. Either mayonnaise or French dressing may be used for this salad and it should be served on lettuce or other greens.
